CITY KEEPS ITS OWN.

Title to Bridgeport Pumping Works Site Confirmed.

IS AN INVOLVED CASE.

Judge Allen Decides Hiram C. Wheeler Has No Rights.

DECISION IS FAR REACHING.

Affects Ninety Feet Each Side of Illinois and Michigan Canal.

MAY APPEAL TO HIGHER COURTS.

Judge William J. Allen of Springfield, Ill., sitting in the United States Circuit Court in this city, handed down an important decision yesterday, which prevents the city from being ejected from its tenancy of the land occupied by the Bridgeport pumping works, insures a plentiful but somewhat tainted supply of water for the Illinois and Michigan Canal, and establishes the title to a ninety-foot strip of land each side the entire length of the canal.

The suit was begun three years ago by Hiram C. Wheeler of Iowa, who acquired title to the site of the pumping works through Patrick Welsh, who acquired it from the government. The city built a pumping works on the ground by authority of an act of the Legislature, with the consent of the Canal Commissioners, the double object in view being to cleanse the Chicago River and establish a feeder for the canal. When suit was begun the city notified the Canal Commissioners, and their attorneys, Duncan & Gilbert, were instructed to defend it. It was tried before Judge Allen without a jury, and he decided in favor of the defendant.

What the Litigation Means.

H. T. Gilbert of Duncan & Gilbert gave the following account of the case:

"The action was ejectment brought by Hiram C. Wheeler against the City of Chicago to recover the land upon which the Bridgeport pumping works are situated. The plaintiff claimed title under a patent granted by the United States in 1834, while the defendant claimed the property was a part of the ninety-foot strip along the Illinois and Michigan Canal, and that the title thereto was in the State of Illinois. In 1822 Congress passed an act authorizing the State to survey and mark through the public lands of the United States the route of the canal connecting the Illinois River with the southern bend of Lake Michigan, and providing that ninety feet on each side of said canal should be forever reserved from any sale by the United States and vesting the use thereof forever in the State for a canal and for no other purpose.

"The act declared, however, that unless a map of the canal was returned to the Treasury Department within three years, or if the canal should not be opened for navigation within twelve years, the grant should be void.

"No map was returned within the three years nor was the canal opened for navigation within the twelve years, but nevertheless Congress took no steps to declare any forfeiture. In 1827 Congress passed another act, not referring in terms to the act of 1822, granting to the State, for the purpose of aiding it in opening a canal to unite the waters of the Illinois River with those of Lake Michigan, a quantity of land equal to one-half of five sections in width on each side of said canal and reserving each alternate section to the United States. By this act the canal was required to be commenced within five years and completed within twenty years. The act further provided that as soon as the route of the canal was located it should be the duty of the Governor to ascertain the sections to which the State was entitled and report the same to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Canal Surveyed and Land Selected.

"In pursuance of this act the route of the canal was surveyed and the selection of lands was made and a map was filed in the Treasury Department, and the Governor in 1829 reported to the Secretary of the Treasury the sections of land to which the State was entitled. The canal was subsequently commenced and completed.

"The premises in controversy were in one of the sections of land which were reserved to the United States, but the State, which was the real defendant in the case, claimed it was a part of the ninety-foot strip mentioned in the act of 1822, and as such belonged to the State by the terms of that act. The plaintiff, on the contrary, claimed the State took nothing by the act of 1822, for the reason that the terms of that act were never complied with, and in support of this contention he relied upon the case of McGraw vs. City of Chicago (75 Ill., 566), in which it was so decided by the Supreme Court of Illinois, which held the act of 1822 had never been complied with, and therefore the State acquired no title under it.

"Judge Allen, however, held that, although the terms of the act of 1822 had not been complied with within the time therein specified, yet, inasmuch as Congress had never declared a forfeiture and the State had subsequently built the canal as the act provided, the act was operative and conferred upon the State the title to the ninety-foot strip on each side of the canal as well as the sections reserved to the United States as those granted to the State.

"The decision affects the title to the ninety-foot strip along the entire route of the canal, and is an important one to the State."

Judge Allen said last night the theory of the plaintiff was the conditions of the grant were precedent to the grant, and not having been complied with as to the commencement of the work, the land was forfeited and reverted to the government, as the government did in 1834 sell or patent the land where the pumps are now situated to Patrick Welsh, from whom Wheeler derives title. Judge Allen held the conditions were not precedent but subsequent to the grant; that the grants took effect at once, and that therefore in 1834 the government had no title to dispose of to Welsh or anybody else.

"Substantially," said Judge Allen, "the defendant recovered because of an outstanding paramount title in the State."

Mr. Gilbert said the case would be carried up to the Appellate Court and perhaps to the Supreme Court, but he had no doubt, if properly presented, it would in the end be decided in favor of the State.

POSTOR CAUSES A FATAL RUNAWAY.

Mrs. Straughn and Daughter Hurt in a Peculiar Accident at Kokomo, Ind.

Kokomo, Ind., May 28.—[Special.]—A distributer of circus dodgers attempted to throw a poster into a passing wagon today. The paper fell under the horses' feet, causing them to run away. James L. Straughn, wife, and daughter of Alto were thrown out and terribly crushed. Mrs. Straughn and daughter are believed to be fatally injured. Mr. Straughn will recover.

WILL NOW MAKE THIN STEEL PLATES.

The Corning Plant to Be Operated by the Illinois Steel Company.

The Illinois Steel company has leased for two years, with the option of purchase, the plant of the Corning Steel company at Hammond, Ind. The lease does not begin until June 1, but it took immediate possession, and will run the mills to their fullest capacity for the production of thin sheet steel.

F. T. Corning, Secretary and Treasurer of the Corning Steel company, told the story of the transfer last night. He said: "The mill was built in 1892. The grounds contain twenty acres, and the main building covers an area of 300x160 feet. There are on the premises, besides this, a boiler-house, pump-house, store-house, grease-house, blacksmith shop, electric light plant, office, and many other buildings. It is the third largest sheet mill plant in this country. The next larger is at Apollo, Pa., and the largest in the world is the Æna-Standard mills at Bridgeport, O. Our company was capitalized at $250,000, and the plant cost more than that. Its present value, I think, is no more nor less than when it was built. The capacity of the mills is different, according to the thickness of the sheets. If the sheets are from ten to twenty guage the capacity are from ten to twenty gauge the capacity twenty to thirty the capacity is from sixty to seventy-five tons a day. We shut down the mills July 1.

"We leased our plant to the Illinois Steel company for two years, with an option on the purchase at the end of that time. The rental was a percentage of the original cost of the plant, but beyond that the terms are private. The mill is exactly what the Illinois Steel company needs. It is unable now to produce a plate less than one-fourth of an inch thick, but with our plant it will be able to produce it of any thickness down to the thickness of tinplate. The company will put our plant in operation at the earliest moment and run it to its full capacity."

ATTEMPT TO BURN TOWN OF INDIANOLA.

Incendiaries Who Are Said to Want Revenge for the Danville Lynching.

Danville, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—Reports reach here tonight from Indianola that suspicious characters have been trying to fire the town. Six fires were started. A posse has started out in pursuit of the incendiaries, and the police here have been notified to watch for people coming in to South Danville. It is thought the work is being done by the south town gang in revenge for the lynching of Halls and Royce. At a revival meeting started in Danville Sunday it was reported members of the south town gang were manifesting a desire to be repentant by going forward to the altar.

At a meeting of citizens at the court-house mass-meeting of citizens at the court-house tonight a resolution was adopted declaring the late lynching was not brought about by want of confidence in Gov. Altgeld, but by the unusual enormity of the crime. Judge Bookwalter was the only one who opposed the adoption of the resolution, and he was in turn severely criticised by several preachers. Supt. Carter declared the responsibility must rest with Vermillon County, and that if the Angel Gabriel had been Governor the men would have been hanged just the same. There was no law upon the statute books to mete out a just punishment to them. The remarks of the speaker were cheered, as well as the announcement that Representative Bailey had introduced a bill making criminal assault punishable with death.

MAD DOG RULES ON THE WEST SIDE.

Bites Everything in Sight Until Stopped by a Policeman's Bullet.

A mad dog of large size did an unknown amount of mischief between 4 and 6 o'clock yesterday morning on the West Side in the district between the Eighteenth street bridge and the lumber yards. It was reported that a woman and child had been bitten, but no trace of the supposed victims could be found. Upwards of thirty dogs, however, are known to have been bitten badly, as the mad beast was of great strength. A cow was snapped at by the brute and bitten in the leg. Finally Sergt. Louis Benesh and Officer William Schroeder of the Twenty-second Precinct, with a number of citizens, joined in chase of the animal and pursued it for more than an hour. It was brought to bay in a lumber yard and shot in the neck by Officer Schroeder.

The dog was first seen shortly after 4 a. m. by the bridge tenders at the Eighteenth street bridge, coming from the South Side. When it got on Eighteenth street it started on a slow gallop in a straight line, biting everything it came near enough to attack. There were great numbers of dogs about, mostly in groups, and the mad dog attacked every group. For fully two hours the whole district was in terror.

HARD FIGHT WITH GANG OF THIEVES.

Fort Wayne Officers Have a Desperate and Fatal Revolver Duel.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 28.—[Special.]—A gang of seven thieves and tramps resisted arrest with revolvers at the east yards of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road this afternoon. Fourteen shots in all were fired and seven of them took effect. The gang opened fire by shooting Horatio S. Harrod, Chief Deputy Sheriff, through the left side. The shooter says he is John C. Stone of Chicago. Harrod fired a bullet into the stomach of William Walrath, also a thief, inflicting a fatal wound. The shooting then became general, and Harrod received two more bullets in falling, one in the left side and one in the hip. Stone fired two shots at close range at Policeman Tanner's head but missed him. Walrath received four wounds. He is dying tonight. Harrod's case is extremely critical. The men had a complete outfit of burglars' tools with them.

[No man named John C. Stone is known to the police of Chicago. No dispatch relating to the shooting at Fort Wayne had been received at detective headquarters at a late hour last night.]

INDIANA PREACHER IS ENTERPRISING.

Not Only Ties the Knot but Makes the Match as Well.

Logansport, Ind., May 28.—[Special.]—While the Rev. A. Hurges and wife of Idaville, Ind., were in Arkansas a year ago they met Miss Mildred A. Doss of Eureka Springs. The preacher told her he knew a man who wanted just such a woman for a wife. On his return he told W. H. Gibson of Miss Doss. A correspondence ensued which resulted in Miss Doss coming today to Cass County. The Rev. Mr. Hurges performed the ceremony. Miss Doss had never seen Mr. Gibson before.

POLICEMAN STOPS THE HORSES.

He Captures a Runaway Team in a Crowded Street but Receives Injuries.

Policeman William Stein of the West North Avenue Station received serious injuries while stopping a runaway team in West North avenue last night. The team, attached to an express wagon, was running at the top of its speed. The street was crowded with pedestrians and vehicles. Stein caught the animals but was dragged 100 feet before he succeeded in stopping them. His left side was bruised. He was taken to his home, No. 668 Dania avenue.

PERHAPS HE WANTED TO DROWN.

Late Lexington Deputy Was About $35,000 Short in Accounts.

Lexington, Ky., May 28.—[Special.]—City Collector S. G. Sharp has been found $19,253 short in his accounts. It is believed that the money was taken by W. P. Welsh, his old deputy, who was drowned last summer. Sharp's bondsmen are holding back his salary. Ex-Collector Davidson's books were found to be $16,000 short a few months ago. Welsh was also his deputy. The total shortage now foots up over $35,000.

BALKS A BOLD STEAL.

MAYOR SWIFT UNEARTHS A BARE-FACED BLACKMAIL.

Letters Signed "Kitt Gould" Are Sent to City Employes Demanding a Political Assessment on Pain of Instant Dismissal—Postoffice Inspector Stuart Is Set to Work on the Case to Try to Establish the Identity of the Actual Writer of the Letters.

If Inspector Stuart of the United States Postal Department can establish that certain letters which have been sent to city employés, demanding a political assessment in the name of Mayor Swift and signed "Kitt Gould," were mailed by the man whose signature they bear it is probable the ex-city committeeman will be missing in the Thirty-fourth Ward when primary day comes around.

CHICAGO'S REFORM MAYOR PROCEEDS TO TACKLE THE NEXT EVIL.

Mayor Swift was greatly surprised Monday evening when the following letter was shown him:

"Chicago, May 25, 1895.—J. L. Garrettson—Dear Sir: I have been appointed by Mayor Swift to assess and collect campaign funds. Your assessment will be $10. Please inclose and send to me at Pullman Postoffice without delay, and to guarantee good faith return this letter with your remittance. If this is not kept strictly confidential and letter returned in two days you will be discharged without ceremony, KITT GOULD."

Mayor Swift is unalterably opposed to the assessment of city employés for political purposes and he at once brought the matter to the attention of Corporation Counsel Beale. Three or four similar letters were handed to the Mayor yesterday and it was learned that some fifty of them had been received by city employés. They were all signed "Kitt Gould" and were worded exactly alike.

Mr. Beale and the Mayor had another conference about the matter and it was decided to ask Inspector Stuart of the Postoffice to investigate, on the ground that the mails were being used for fraudulent purposes.

Mr. Gould's bailiwick is the Thirty-fourth Ward, and it is understood that these letters are confined to city employés who reside in that section of the city. Gould for a great number of years was a member of the Republican City Central committee, representing the Thirty-fourth Ward. He was retired by the delegates elected at the city primary this spring. Since then his political star seems to have been on the wane. Up to the time of the primaries for the city convention he was looked upon by a certain faction of the party as an important factor, for the reason that he always "brought in" his delegates.

He has been in touch with those who controlled the organization until recently. This spring he got tangled up in a contest with County Committeeman "Jim" Irwin over who should have the naming of the Republican judges and clerks of election. It finally was decided that Irwin should name those for the north end of the ward and Gould the south end. Then Gould and Irwin, who wanted the Aldermanic nomination, undertook to down Ald. John O'Neill, Gould having a candidate of his own. O'Neill whipped both men and carried off the nomination.

Mr. Garrettson, who received the letter quoted, is Superintendent of Bridges and was appointed only a couple of weeks ago. The letter which Mayor Swift turned over to Inspector Stuart, was received by James T. Sterling a newly appointed building inspector, who resides in the Thirty-fourth Ward.

Those who are familiar with Mr. Gould's writing and who have examined some of the letters say the signature undoubtedly is Gould's. Mayor Swift had this to say regarding the matter:

"The boldness of the plan is what surprises me. I can hardly comprehend how any one would have the nerve to attempt such a scheme. I am informed that the signatures to all these letters bear a remarkable resemblance to that of the man named, and I have been informed that it is his signature, but of that personally I do not know."

"Was Gould authorized by you to collect assessments?" Mayor Swift was asked. To this he replied in positive terms, "No, he was not authorized by me to make, levy, or collect an assessment of any nature, nor was any other person. I am anxious that this man shall be caught and the guilty person brought to an account for his actions."

Inspector George M. Chrisman was detailed by Capt. Stuart to investigate the matter. No warrant has been taken out for Gould's arrest.

So far as is known Gould has not received any money except a marked $10 bill.

Call to a Chicago Pastor.

Aurora, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—The Presbyterian Church of Aurora has voted to call the Rev. Thomas Knox of Oakwoods Church, corner of Champlain and Sixty-fifth street, Chicago.

ENGLAND IS FIRMLY WEDDED TO GOLD.

Will Countenance No Attempt to Change Its Monetary System.

London, May 28.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has formally replied to the memorial forwarded by influential bankers and financiers in terms emphasizing his previous strong remarks in favor of the gold standard. His reply concludes thus:

You may rely upon it that her Majesty's government will give no countenance to any change in the fundamental principles of our monetary system, nor in any discussions in which it may be called upon to take part, nor will it admit any doubt as to its intention firmly to adhere to the single gold standard.

At a meeting of leading city bankers and merchants held at the banking house of Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co. today it was decided to form a gold standard defense association. The following address was then forwarded to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir William Vernon Harcourt:

We, merchants and bankers of this city, desire to address you with reference to the discussion which has taken place in Parliament on the questions of the currency. But we are constrained to state that we view with grave apprehensions any change in the system of currency which has prevailed without intermission in this country since 1816, we believe any serious attempt to modify it by the adoption of silver as a standard of value, either alone or concurrently with gold, will be followed by consequences dangerous to the trade and commerce of the country.

KNITTING FACTORY BURNED AT TOLEDO.

More than 400 Operatives Thrown Out of Employment.

Toledo, May 28.—Roth & Friedman's four-story knitting factory was destroyed by fire this evening. Several firemen were severely scorched. Loss on building, $40,000; insured. Loss on machinery and stock, $125,000; insured for $88,000. Four hundred and fifty people are thrown out of employment.

Cincinnati, O., May 29.—[Special.]—Rover & Allen's flour mill, a structure 150 feet front by 80 feet deep and three stories high, situated near Big Four elevator, is burning. At an early hour this morning the fire was still under way. The loss, which is likely to be total, will be $100,000.

RACE FOR A FEMALE THIEF.

She Is Overtaken Finally and Part of the Plunder Found.

Policeman John Wrenn of the Harrison Street Station had an exciting chase in a cab after a female thief last night. For nearly two miles he raced along State street to catch a cable car in which the woman was a passenger and finally overtook her at Thirtieth street and placed her under arrest. The woman's name is Dolly Farwell. She is one of a trio of colored women who are charged with stealing $604 from Louis Labanzo, an Italian who lives at No. 534 West Thirteenth street. When overhauled $258 was found in her possession. Malvina Johnson and Mary Lorenzen, colored, also were arrested.

JUDGE IS TOO DRUNK TO HOLD COURT.

Grand Jury of a North Carolina County Indicts Him for the Offense.

Lumberton, N. C., May 28.—Judge W. R. Norwood, one of the fusion "non-partisan" Judges of the Superior Court elected last November, has been indicted by the grand jury of this county for drunkenness. Last week was court week for this county, and Judge Norwood came here Monday morning under the influence of liquor and continued drinking until, at the hour when court should have been opened, he was too drunk to hold court and remained in his room all day at the hotel. He continued in that condition all week.

TOO BIG FOR THE COURT-HOUSE DOOR.

Mrs. Augustine Could Not Get In, So the Court Came Out.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Catherine Augustine, 55 years old, who lives with her son, Daniel J. Augustine, a clerk, was committed to the Commissioners of Charities and Correction by Justice Voorhis in the Tombs Police Court today for examination as to her sanity. Mrs. Augustine is so fleshy she has been unable to leave her room for over two years. It was on her son's complaint that she was arrested. She was so unwieldy that she could not be brought into the court, and Justice Voorhis conducted the examination on the sidewalk.

LIVELY TIMES IN THE SILVER CAMP.

The Springfield Managers Can't Fill Their Picnic Program.

Between the State convention next week and the summer picnic June 29 the Democratic machine and County Democracy are having a busy time. It was arranged yesterday for the marching club to meet at Battery D the morning they start for Springfield. Thence they will make a short street parade before going to the Illinois Central Depot. The Picnic committee has not heard from Senators Hill, Vest, Blackburn, and Voorhees, all of whom were invited several days ago to come and make speeches, so it is not sure whether it will be able to secure a drawing attraction.

IN PLACE OF SADLER.

NEW BRITISH CONSUL IS COMING TO CHICAGO.

William George Wagstaff, Hero of the Crimea, Is Appointed to Take the Place of Col. James Hayes Sadler, Whose Removal Is a Matter of Great Surprise to Englishmen in Chicago—Sketches of the Two Men—No Reason Given for the Change.

Col. James Hayes Sadler, who for many years was British Consul in Chicago, has been relieved from further duty here and his successor has been appointed in the person of the Crimean veteran, William George Wagstaff. Col. Sadler left Chicago May 7, as every one supposed, simply for the purpose of taking a vacation and revisiting his home in England. It now appears that his successor, Mr. Wagstaff, was appointed April 1, with instructions to take up his duties in Chicago the first week in July.

Englishmen resident in Chicago and who usually keep informed of all that affects their country and themselves were equally surprised with Col. Sadler's American friends yesterday, when they heard that the Consul was not to return to his post in this city. During a part of the time in which Col. Sadler held the Consulate in Chicago his son, James Hayes Sadler Jr., was the Vice-Consul. The son went to Bogota, Colombia, South America, a year ago and while there died suddenly. His loss was a severe blow to his parents, both of whom were in Chicago at the time.

Col. Sadler had become thoroughly in touch with Chicago life during his nine years' stay, and his departure will be felt particularly by the British-Americans here. To what Consulate Col. Sadler will be transferred has not been decided. Before coming to Chicago he had served for many years in other places. After graduating at Oxford he became a Captain in the Royal Sussex Artillery Oct. 4, 1858. He was made a Major April 30, 1879, honorary Lieutenant-Colonel July 30, 1879, and honorary Colonel Aug. 5, 1882. He was appointed Vice-Consul at Boulogne, France, Oct. 13, 1868, and was Acting Consul there from Sept. 6 to Oct. 25, 1871. From that time he was Vice-Consul at the same place until Aug. 16, 1873, when he was transferred to Caen. Shortly after his arrival there he was transferred to Rochelle, going from there to Panama as Consul June 10, 1874. Col. Sadler was transferred to Chicago June 1, 1886, and was appointed Consul for the States of Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Dakota, Montana, and Wyoming, with headquarters in this city.

William George Wagstaff, who will succeed Col. Sadler in Chicago, is a veteran of the Crimea. He has been doing duty in the Consular service for many years in other places. Mr. Wagstaff served on her Majesty's ship London at the first bombardment of Sebastopol. For conspicuous gallantry there he was given the Crimean medal, with clasps, and the Turkish medal as well. In 1861 he was clerk to the Consulate at Berdianisk. He went on special service to Rostoff in 1862 and then returned to his post at Berdianisk. Mr. Wagstaff remained there with few absences until 1876, when he was appointed Vice-Consul at Nicolaieff. He was on special service in 1882 and shortly after was made Consul for Stavropol, the Don Cossack country (including that portion of the Government of Ekalerinsvola formed by the governorship of Taganrog and the district of Rostov), and the Kuban and the Ter districts, to reside at Toganrog. Eventually he was transferred to Riga as Consul for the Province of Livonia and Couriand, and from there he will come to Chicago. Mr. Wagstaff will be accompanied to this country by his wife and three daughters.

Since Col. Sadler left Chicago the Acting Consul has been Frederick Lawrence Walsh, who will be Vice-Consul under Mr. Wagstaff.

DR. RIORDAN TALKS OF ROME'S RUINS.

His Lecture at Central Music Hall in Aid of Charity.

Father Riordan lectured to a large audience at Central Music Hall last night on Rome and its ancient ruins. His appearance was under the auspices and for the benefit of the Visitation and Aid Society, of which Timothy D. Hurley is President. The lecture was illustrated with a number of interesting views thrown upon canvas showing many of the most notable palaces, temples, monuments, and other structures of the Eternal City as they appear today.

WHEAT SHORTAGE IS ACCOUNTED FOR.

United Elevator Company of St. Louis Explains the Alleged Wholesale Stealing.

St. Louis, Mo., May 28.—[Special.]—President Web M. Samuel of the United Elevator company says the shortage of wheat in the company's elevators has been ascertained to be 166,666 bushels, on one-third of 1 per cent on the total of 50,000,000 bushels of grain handled in the last three years.

"This shrinkage," says Mr. Samuel, "is caused by repeated handling to preserve quality, and also to some extent, by small stealing. But there is no evidence of stealing by any of the present employés."

MRS. EDDINGTON IS MISSING FROM HOME.

Leaves a Letter Which Makes Her Friends Fear She Has Killed Herself.

Mrs. Walter J. Eddington, wife of the Superintendent of Machinery of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé road, left her home at No. 360 Sixtieth street last night and has not been seen since. Her family fear she has committed suicide. Mrs. Eddington left a letter declaring she was greatly worried over some private affairs. Her letter concluded with the words: "God knows what will become of me."

Shortly after 8 o'clock Mr. Eddington on his way home saw his wife on the Sixty-first street platform of the "L" road. He hailed her, but she did not pay any attention to him and boarded a north-bound train before he could get across to the platform. When he reached home he found the letter. Mrs. Eddington is Mr. Eddington's second wife. There are five children, two by the first marriage.

HER DEATH ONLY A MATTER OF HOURS.

Gail Hamilton Suffers Another Stroke of Apoplexy and Will Die.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—Gail Hamilton (Miss Abigail Dodge) suffered another stroke of apoplexy yesterday and her physicians entertain no hope of her recovery. She has been in a stupor all day, from which it seems impossible to rouse her, and it is believed that her death is only a question of a few hours.

Warm weather is proving beneficial to Representative Hitt and it is the intention of his physician to have him removed to another bedroom in his residence with a southern exposure.

It is quite likely that he will be taken away from Washington to a Northern resort about the middle of next month. Mr. Hitt is reported to be convalescing rapidly and gaining health and strength daily.

VITAL NEWS FOR SKY-SCRAPER OWNERS

Decision That Invalidates Building Permits of Late Years.

Regarding the validity of permits for buildings that were issued some four or five years ago Assistant Corporation Counsel Barton rendered an opinion yesterday that decides such permits void. The reason given is that they were issued before the passage of the new building ordinance, and that if the buildings were erected under the old permit and the old building ordinance some of the provisions of the new law might be violated. This decision may dispose of the permits issued to the Winnebago and McCormick Buildings, the latter being a contemplated sixteen-story structure at the southeast corner of Randolph and Dearborn streets.

STEAMER COLIMA REPORTED WRECKED

Fears That Loss of Life Attends an Ocean Disaster.

San Francisco, Cal., May 28.—A dispatch was received tonight by the father of one of the passengers on the Pacific mail steamship Colima from Manzanilla which read:

"Saved. Will wire particulars later."

The Colima sailed for Panama and way ports May 18, and this is the first news that anything has happened to her. Manzanilla is about half way between San Blas and Acuipo, Mexico. The vessel at this date would have been in the vicinity.

At Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Marion Curtin, supposed to have been insane, murdered her 14-year-old daughter Mamie by cutting her throat. She then committed suicide in a like manner.

Transfers of property from the Elyton Land company to the Elyton company of Birmingham, Ala., have been enjoined by the court. The transfers involved $2,000,000 worth of bonds.

The Knoxville (Tenn.) Tribune, the leading paper of Eastern Tennessee, has signed a ninety-nine year contract with The Associated Press, and has severed its relations with the Southern Associated Press.

Mrs. Florence Blythe Hinckley of San Francisco, who inherited the $4,000,000 estate of the late Thomas H. Blythe, has placed a lien on the Blythe estate to secure the fees of some of her attorneys, W. W. Foote and Garber, Boalt & Bishop, amounting under special agreement to $400,000.

LAST EDITION.

TO HONOR THE DEAD

Secretary Gresham's Funeral an Affair of State.

TO REST IN OAKWOODS.

President and the Cabinet Will Come to Chicago.

ARRANGEMENTS IN DETAIL.

Condolences by Hundreds Received by the Family.

DAY'S EVENTS AT THE CAPITAL.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—Every honor, civil and military, will be paid to the memory of Secretary of State Walter Q. Gresham. Services will be held at the White House tomorrow, the funeral procession to the depot will be escorted by the troops of the United States, and the President and his Cabinet will accompany the cold clay of their late associate to Chicago, where the final honors will be paid.

The remains of Secretary Gresham rested today in his rooms looking out on Lafayette Park, while the great men of the Nation and the representatives of other countries stepped softly in and out of his chamber to see him as he slumbered forever, unconscious of them and of the petty affairs of earthly states.

Though illness had lasted a month the great official world of Washington was unprepared for the announcement of death. So the calls at the old quarters in the historic old annex to the Arlington were hurried and spontaneous. For the most part the visitors left their cards and then drove quietly away.

Mrs. Gresham, worn out with the long night watch, as well as overburdened with her grief, was taken to more secluded apartments that she might be spared the sights and sounds of necessary preparations for the funeral. Otto Gresham, the son of the Secretary, who had sped all too slowly from Chicago in response to the first telegrams, arrived at 6:30 a. m., and was soon with his mother and sister.

Knew That Death Had Come.

He did not need to see the face of Assistant Postmaster-General Jones at the station to know that the end had come. The mother had in her privacy her two children, and for hours she was alone with them and her grief. On her decision rested the question of the disposition of the remains. Mrs. Gresham's love and her anxiety were touching in the extreme as she declared with considerable feeling that inasmuch as the Secretary had belonged to the public for over thirty years it was now time he should belong to her and the family. Accordingly she insisted for some time that the funeral arrangements should be of the simplest character, and that the services themselves should be in the presence only of the family and intimate friends. It was only when Otto Gresham had been convinced of the utter impossibility of carrying out such a plan and in turn presented the matter to his mother that the bereaved widow unwillingly consented to the arrangements for a public funeral, remarking that they were taking even her dead from her.

The casket was brought to the Arlington during the afternoon and the remains placed therein. It is plain and heavy, made of red cedar, with a metallic casing of copper, and the whole covered with black cloth, held by oxidized silver nails. The plate bears the inscription:

"Walter Quinton Gresham. Born March 17, 1833. Died May 28, 1895."

It was decided to have services at the White House at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when the East Room will be thrown open to 500 of the specially invited bureau chiefs, diplomats, and family friends. Immediately upon the conclusion of the service, which will be conducted by Bishop Hurst of the Methodist Church, the funeral procession, under the military escort of the regular cavalry and artillery and the Marine Corps, with the bands of the three branches of the service, will proceed to the Baltimore and Ohio depot.

Secretaries Herbert, Lamont, Smith, Morton, Attorney-General Olney, and Postmaster-General Wilson, and Acting Secretary of State Uhl, besides other attachés.

Chicago will be reached Decoration day, and the Secretary of State, whose proudest name was his well-earned title of General, will be accorded a military reception as the latest one of the heroic dead.

This outline of the funeral arrangements was hurriedly agreed upon after consultation with members of the family and submitted to the President when he arrived at the White House at 10:30 in the morning. Immediately afterward the President and Mrs. Cleveland drove across to the Arlington, in full sight of the White House. They were present in the rooms of the Secretary of State for half an hour, Mrs. Cleveland in particular appearing to be deeply affected.

On their return to the White House a crowd had collected about the side door of the hotel, and the spectators were audibly incensed at the action of a photographer who trained his lens on the door and caused the President and Mrs. Cleveland untold annoyance.

On his arrival at the White House President Cleveland gave his personal attention to all the details for the funeral arrangements. Secretary Lamont was given full charge, and under his orders Gen. Ruger was put in command of the military escort in Washington, while orders were sent to the troops at Fort Sheridan to be ready to receive the funeral party.

Meanwhile the President was busy with the acting head of the State Department, Assistant Secretary Uhl, preparing his formal proclamation of the death and ordering the public departments in Washington to be closed tomorrow.

President Returns to Woodley.

When the general program had been approved it was late in the afternoon and the President and Mrs. Cleveland returned to Woodley to make hurried preparations for the Chief Magistrate's official visit to Chicago.

By diligent use of the wires preliminary arrangements were made for the reception in Chicago. The escort there will be chiefly the regulars from Fort Sheridan and the Loyal Legion, of which Secretary Gresham was an active member. It was understood here that the Grand Army Posts whould generally be busy, with their regular arrangements for Decoration day, and hence could not well be asked to participate in the escort.

By Special Train to Chicago.

As soon after noon as possible a special train will start for Chicago, containing, besides the members of the family, President Cleveland, Secretaries Lamont, Carlisle, Herbert, Smith, Morton, Postmaster-General Wilson, Attorney-General Olney, and Acting Secretary of State Uhl, besides other attachés.

Chicago will be reached Decoration day, and the Secretary of State, whose proudest name was his well-earned title of General, will be accorded a military reception as the latest one of the heroic dead.

President Returns to Woodley.

When the general program had been approved it was late in the afternoon and the President and Mrs. Cleveland returned to Woodley to make hurried preparations for the Chief Magistrate's official visit to Chicago.

although of course all veteran and civic organizations will be welcomed in the parade. The details in Chicago were placed in the hands of O. S. A. Sprague, the only arrangement being that the burial shall take place at Oakwoods. The movements of the military and the direction of the escort will be under the personal supervision of Maj.-Gen. Wesley Merritt. Col. H. C. Corbin of the Adjutant-General's staff left on the late train tonight for Chicago, bearing orders for Gen. Merritt. Col. Corbin will make his headquarters at the Auditorium, where he will arrive Thursday morning, a few hours in advance of the funeral train, which is expected to reach Chicago at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. As the personal representative of the family, the President, and Secretary of War he will have general advisory control of the reception in Chicago.

It has been partially agreed to stop the special train bearing the remains of Secretary Gresham at Oakwoods Cemetery and not run into the city, although this arrangement may be abandoned. The military escort from Fort Sheridan will meet the funeral party at this point and the body will be taken to the cemetery and placed in the receiving vault for future disposition by the family. J. W. Doane of Chicago and ex-Postmaster General Bissell are expected to go to Chicago with the President and the members of his Cabinet.

EVENTS OF THE DAY AT THE CAPITAL.

Many Official Orders Promulgated, and Condolences Received.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—As soon as the funeral arrangements had been agreed upon Acting Secretary Uhl sent formal notice of the death, invitation to the funeral to all the legations, and a general cablegram to all United States embassies and legations abroad, with directions to place all flags at half mast for ten days, which order the Ministers were instructed to repeat to every United States Consulate in the world. Then Secretary Herbert provided for the due observance of the occasion by the navy through an official order. Secretary Lamont sent orders to all military points to place colors at half mast, and fire salutes during the funeral. The President today issued the following:

A Proclamation by the President—Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State of the United States, is dead. The President, in making this distressing announcement to his fellow-countrymen, speaks from the depths of a personal affliction to remind them that they, too, have lost a pure and able public servant, a wise and patriotic guardian of all their rights and interests, a manly and loyal American, and a generous and lovable man. As a suitable expression of national bereavement I direct that the diplomatic representatives of the United States in all foreign countries display the flags over their embassies and legations at half mast for ten days, that for a like period the flag of the United States be displayed at half mast at all forts and military posts, and at all naval stations and on all vessels of the United States.

I further order that on the day of the funeral the Executive Departments in the City of Washington be closed, and that on all public buildings throughout the United States the National flag be displayed at half mast.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

By EDWIN F. UHL, Acting-Secretary of State.

Among the countless number expressing sorrow and sympathy are: H. E. Studebaker, Judge A. M. Thayer, R. A. Alger, A. Hickenlooper, George Hoadly, E. G. Rathbone, Walter Evans, William Pepper, Provost University of Pennsylvania; B. H. Bristow, Oliver T. Morton, Oscar S. Straus, W. E. Chandler, O. H. Platte, George W. Steele, F. E. Milchrist, Frank B. Burke, Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Gov. Matthews of Indiana, D. W. Voorhees, A. Caminetti, Mrs. Isaac P. Gray, Marshall Field, ex-Senator John Patton Jr., Mrs. E. J. Murphy Jr., G. De Wickerlin, Baron Kettler, ex-Senator G. F. Edmunds, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bissell, Don M. Dickinson, Senator S. M. Cullom, Noble C. Butler, Richard S. Tuthill, Melville E. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cooper, John McNulta, Robert T. Lincoln, Franklin MacVeagh, George M. Pullman, William Everett, Consul-General Morss, Ambassadors Bayard, MacVeagh, Eustis, and Runyon, ex-President Harrison, Julia D. Grant, and Vice-President Stevenson.

Sculptor Dunbar went to the Arlington at 1 o'clock and made a plaster cast of Mr. Gresham's head. In giving directions for the inscription on the coffin plate Otto Gresham stated March 17, 1833, as the year of his father's birth, and it was so engraved, although the biographies of Mr. Gresham give the year of his birth as 1832.

ARRANGEMENTS IN THE EAST ROOM.

Col. Wilson Superintends and the President Approves the Plans.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—When the starry folds of "Old Glory" were unfurled at the Executive Mansion this morning early pedestrians understood by the national standard being at half mast that death had invaded the Cabinet circle and that Secretary Gresham had gone.

It was about 10 o'clock when Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland drove in from Woodley and, after spending a few minutes in his office, the President and his wife went over to the Arlington Hotel to pay a visit of condolence to Mrs. Gresham and other members of the family. This sad duty being ended both of them returned to the White House, where they personally superintended arrangements for preparing the historic old East Room for the funeral services over the dead Premier.

Col. Wilson, Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, was intrusted with the decoration of the apartments, and American flags, flowering shrubs, and palms were called into requisition for this work. All the windows and mirrors were draped with the national colors and the mantels were banked with large pots of maiden-hair ferns. Tall bamboo palms, rubber plants, and sago were disposed of to advantage in every nook and cranny of the East Room, and it was past 3 o'clock when the President and Mrs. Cleveland took a final survey of the apartment and expressed their satisfaction with its arrangement. It was decided that the casket should be placed at the south end of the room, forming a centerpiece of 500 seats arranged so that all who attended the funeral could have an unobstructed view of what transpired.

There are few Congressmen in Washington at present and instructions were given the doorkeepers not to prevent any of them from entering the White House after the remains of Secretary Gresham had been placed in the East Room tomorrow morning.

"With all these precautions," said Private Secretary Thurber, "it is quite likely that all the space in the East Room will be occupied. Naturally enough, there will be a large number of employés of the State Department who will want to attend the Secretary's funeral, and provision has been made for their accommodation too. But it would be the height of imprudence to attempt to admit the public on an occasion of this kind, for it would simply result in pain and discomfort to the members of the family and their friends. Consequently it has been determined to limit the number of admissions to 500 persons."

MANY CRITICISE THE PRESIDENT.

During All the Secretary's Illness He Failed to Call Upon Him.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—President Cleveland is coming in for a large amount of restrained but indignant criticism for his treatment of Secretary Gresham during his last and fatal illness. It was expected the President would appear at the deathbed, but he contented himself with telephone messages, and did not arrive at the Arlington until 11 o'clock this morning. As a matter of fact, although Secretary Gresham was ill for four weeks, and several times was known to be at death's door, the President never called upon him.

The Secretary saw the Chief Magistrate at the Cabinet meeting when he was taken ill. For nearly a full month the premier of the administration was within sight of the dark valley, and yet he was never cheered up by a personal call from his chief, the only member of the government who really outranked him. By 8 o'clock last night it was well known the end was near, and it was presumed by all the watchers that the President would hasten to the bedside of the chief of his advisers. Private Secretary Thurber telephoned to Woodley early in the evening and received a reply that the President would come into the city if he could be of use. The question of extending sympathy or saying good-by apparently did not enter into the question, and as the President could be of no possible assistance in any direction he remained quietly at Woodley.

His absence was excused last night by a story given out that the President had a bilious attack, and that Secretary Gresham's physicians did not think his presence advisable. The comment about the bedside was of course smothered, chiefly because the watchers in the reception-room were without exception government officials. Today, however, there has been general talk, and the President is being criticised on all sides. Intimate friends of the dead Secretary of State say it would have been the least thing the President could have done to have called personally after he knew death was inevitable. Chief Justice Fuller and the Cabinet officers were not in the death chamber itself, but in the reception-room, and the President could have joined them without any infraction of the dignity of his office.

President Cleveland's warmest admirers say that the President of the United States cannot call on a private citizen or a subordinate except in response to a formal invitation for a specified function. Yet this explanation does not satisfy the close friends of Secretary Gresham, and his army comrades especially are loud in their complaints against the President for his action for allowing a month to go by without so much as seeing the chief officer of his Cabinet and then failing to call personally during the eight hours when death was at hand.

TALKING ABOUT THE SUCCESSION.

Many Candidates for the Portfolio of State Are Put Forward.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—Technically the State Department was closed today, yet all the attachés were on hand to assist in the preparation of the usual notifications of the death of their late chief. The department was in charge of the Assistant Secretary of State, Edwin F. Uhl, who, as Acting Secretary, will remain in charge until a successor to Secretary Gresham is appointed. As is well known, President Cleveland is exceedingly averse even to hints as to filling an office until after a decent interval of time has elapsed, and so, while there is no basis for the rumors, the department officials and members of the diplomatic corps as well as the Cabinet-makers in other departments are busily engaged in selecting a new Premier for the administration. Acting Secretary Uhl would, under civil service theories, become the new Secretary of State, but that officer is the confidential adviser of the President and the most important personage in the administration next to the Chief Magistrate, so it is deemed probable some more widely known man than Mr. Uhl will be selected. Yet he is favorably known in Michigan politics, is an able speaker, and an accomplished diplomat. He will probably remain the working head of the department. The President's personal liking for Postmaster-General Wilson is so well known that his transfer to the portfolio of State seems more than likely.

Ambassador Bayard has been generally talked of for the position, but there is a general feeling he would hesitate about leaving England.

Ex-Secretary Whitney is without his consent being "mentioned." He is a candidate for the Presidency, and knows it would be anything but good politics to identify himself with an administration whose policy in foreign affairs is exceedingly unpopular, and whose fiasco over Hawaii has made it the laughing-stock of the country.

Ambassador Eustis at Paris has many friends here, but he has recently endangered even the position he now holds by strong American speeches, so it is presumed he is out of the question, one shrewd observer declaring that the appointment of Eustis would be immediately taken as indicating a decided change in the foreign policy of the United States, and a notice that Mr. Cleveland was trimming his sails for a third term.

Frederick R. Coudert, the lawyer, whose acquaintance with international law is beyond question, has already been put forward as a possibility. Under the law the President cannot make a temporary appointment to last more than thirty days, but he can continue Mr. Uhl as Acting Secretary indefinitely. The chances are the place will not be filled for some weeks.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW ON GRESHAM.

Admired Him in Many Ways, but Cannot Call Him a Diplomat.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Chauncey M. Depew said today, concerning Secretary Gresham:

"I knew him intimately, and in 1888, while at the Chicago convention, we dined almost every day together at the Union League club. He received about forty votes and I had ninety-nine in the convention for the Presidency. Illinois stood solid for Judge Gresham. He had a serene and most amiable disposition, and was a fine companion. As a lawyer he stood high, and justly so, his decisions standing the test of the higher courts. As a soldier he distinguished himself and was brave and chivalrous.

"But as a Secretary of State he was not trained for the diplomatic place. He was nothing of a diplomatist. Metternich said that a successful diplomatist was a successful liar. Now, Judge Gresham had to deliver judicial decisions and naturally he made them as clear as possible in order that Judges of higher courts would not misinterpret them. He dealt with the facts and the law and diplomacy is often a careful suppression of certain things."

Mr. Depew referred to the mistake made in the case of Mrs. Dominis, once Queen Liliuokalani. He attributed it to Mr. Gresham's legal training.

LEGISLATORS CEASE BUSINESS.

In Illinois and Tennessee They Adopt Resolutions of Regret.

Springfield, Ill., May 28.—The House and Senate both adopted resolutions on the death of Secretary Gresham today and condolence was sent to the family in Washington.

Nashville, Tenn., May 28.—The House and Senate adjourned for the day after adopting resolutions on the death of Secretary Gresham today.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—A number of citizens, in hopes that the remains of Secretary Gresham might lie in state here for one day, sent a telegraphic request to Otto Gresham this morning, but so far no answer has been received.

RECEPTION OF THE NEWS IN LONDON.

Flags Hung at Half-Mast in Honor of Gresham's Memory.

London, May 28.—The news of the death of Mr. Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State of the United States, was received with every mark of sympathy at the United States Embassy and at the British Foreign Office. Flags were at half-mast.

TAKING THE NEWS TO HIS MOTHER.

Messengers Have Not Yet Returned from Lanesville, Her Home.

New Albany, Ind., May 28.—Mrs. Sarah Rumley, Secretary Gresham's mother, lives at Lanesville, a little hamlet remote from any railroad. Messengers who have gone to notify her of her son's death have not yet returned.

ALDERMEN TO TAKE ACTION TODAY.

All the United States Courts in the City Adjourned for the Day.

A special meeting of the City Council will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock to take appropriate action upon the death of Secretary of State Walter Q. Gresham. The announcement in the press dispatches that the remains will arrive with escort in this city Thursday afternoon was the cause of the special call, which was filed in the City Clerk's office and signed by Ald. John J. Coughlin, J. L. Campbell, John J. Brennan, Conrad Kahler, A. H. Watson, Fred C. Engel, and J. R. Carter. Mayor Swift desired that the Council take the initiative in the matter and the customary arrangements will be made at the meeting this afternoon. The flag on the City Hall is at half-mast.

United States District Attorney Gen. John C. Black will invite all of the Federal Judges, the heads of all of the government offices, and Maj.-Gen. Merritt of the army to meet with him some day to arrange for participation in the funeral services and to receive the President and his Cabinet on their arrival in Chicago.

United States Marshal Arnold closed his office at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon out of respect for the dead Secretary of State. Before closing the office resolutions on the death of Mr. Gresham were adopted by the Marshal and his deputies.

All of the United States courts adjourned yesterday until this morning.

President Dent of the Bar Association has arranged for the calling of a special meeting of the bar to express its respect for the memory of Judge Gresham. The meeting will be presided over by Judge Blodgett. The time for the meeting has not yet been fixed. Should the funeral services be held Friday the meeting will probably occur Saturday afternoon. The meeting will be held in the room of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The call will be made today.

BUSHNELL WILL LEAD

CHOICE OF OHIO REPUBLICANS TO HEAD THEIR TICKET.

Victory on the Sixth Ballot After a Heated Factional Fight Between Sherman and Foraker Forces—Candidates Picked Off Till Nash and Bushnell Have the Battle Alone—Senator Sherman Delivers a Sound Money, High Tariff Address—Side Lights on the Contest—Resolutions.

Zanesville, O., May 28.—[Special.]—Gen. Asa Bushnell of Springfield, O., was nominated tonight as the Republican candidate for Governor of Ohio by the State convention on the sixth ballot. He received 509 votes out of 827 in the convention tonight at 12. Wild excitement prevailed when the final result was announced.

The crowded galleries added to the general confusion, and it was several minutes before the Chairman could restore order. Then the formalities of making the vote unanimous were performed. Bushnell gained from the first ballot. When at the end of the third Poe, who had 84 votes, and Nevins, who had 78, dropped out Bushnell's total jumped from 159 to 347. At the end of the fourth ballot Barger went out of the race and most of his 32 votes fell to Bushnell, although Nash made a slight gain.

Ex-Gov. Joseph B. Foraker expressed his views of Gen. Bushnell and his nomination to a representative of THE TRIBUNE immediately after the final ballot was announced. "Gen. Bushnell," he said, "is a fine, capable man, who commands my most sincere admiration. He is just the man to lead the Republicans of Ohio in the next election and his nomination is a source of great pleasure to me. I think it is the best thing the convention could accomplish and it did its work nobly."

"Does Gen. Bushnell's nomination mean any reflection on the present Governor's administration?"

"Not in the least, in my opinion. It means the Republicans of Ohio know whom they want for their Governor, and that they will not be prevented from making their wants known. It means that Gen. Bushnell is the most popular man all over the State that could be selected."

Sharp Factional Strife.

The tangle among the candidates is one of the most intricate in the history of conventions in the State. After a day spent in careful scoring for positions in the race which began tonight the outlook was still a matter of doubt to the most experienced. Shrewd politicians who are conducting Gen. Asa S. Bushnell's canvass, although he is not avowedly in the field, claim he will surely be the nominee.

Certain it is that the Bushnell cause has gained perceptibly during the day. He is a strong favorite with the banner (Hamilton) county and has a growing scattered following in the convention. His boom began in earnest at noon today with the arrival of the Hamilton County delegation, which was accompanied by ex-Gov. Foraker, and it is being vigorously pushed.

Gen. Bushnell's strongest opponent as the situation rests tonight is Judge George K. Nash of Columbus. His followers are the McKinley adherents, although he claims to be presenting his own campaign independent of the administration. He is popular in his own section of the State, and counts many scattering adherents throughout the county delegations. Moreover, he is a strong second choice among the James H. Hoyt and the few E. W. Poe men.

Hoyt comes from Cleveland and is in sympathy with the administration wing of the party. McKinley's sympathy is not so strong, however, as to prevent many of Hoyt's votes going to Bushnell in case the former is crowded out of the race, and, as Nash is also a strong second among many Hoyt men, the Cleveland candidate may hold the key to the situation. But there is little use speculating on the outcome. The tangle is intricate and it stubbornly refuses tonight to unravel itself.

At the Governor's headquarters at the Clarendon Hotel comes the feeling that Bushnell and Nash are the leaders. It is certain that these two candidates are watching each other's movements closely. It is the side fight between the Bushnell men and the supporters of the candidacy of Gen. J. Warren Keifer that most complicates matters. Keifer and Bushnell both live in Springfield, Clark County, and, according to the Keifer crowd, they got together with Gov. Foraker some time ago and decided that Gen. Keifer should be the candidate.

Bonner Opens the Ball.

The convention was called to order promptly at 4 p. m. today by Col. Joseph C. Bonner, Chairman of the State committee. A half-hour previous the hall was packed to its full capacity of 5,000, and a larger number was unable to gain admittance. Sherman was given a stirring ovation when he was escorted into the hall at 3:50 by Congressman Van Voorhis and Judge Granger. Ex-Secretary Foster, members of Congress, several candidates, and others were cheered as they entered, so that Chairman Bonner had to rap hard for order previous to the prayer of the Rev. Samuel G. Addison of Toledo. Among the working delegates were Herman G. Dennison, son of the war Governor, and Harry Garfield, son of the martyred President. On the platform were Judges West, Lawrence, Baldwin, and a large number of leading Republicans. When Judge West, who was the Republican candidate for Governor in 1877, was escorted to the platform Senator Sherman came down to greet him, and the scene occasioned a marked demonstration. While Chairman Bonner, who is a member of McKinley's staff, was eloquently congratulating the Republicans on the result of the last Ohio election and forecasting another triumph for next November in a well set introductory speech, ex-Gov. Foraker entered the hall and a very boisterous demonstration followed his appearance. After Chairman Bonner had made repeated efforts to secure order and proceed with his introductory remarks, ex-Gov. Foraker came to the front of the platform and said:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I hope you will not any longer disturb the deliberations of the convention. There will be time for us all to be heard before we leave Zanesville. [More shouting than previously.] It is a good town to stay over night in, and we will stay just as long as our business may require. At the proper time, when it will be in order, I will be very glad indeed to exchange greetings with you, but I beg for the present that you let the Chairman of the Central committee proceed with his speech, in order to expedite the business of the convention. [Great applause.]

Senator Sherman's Speech.

Even after this appeal it was with great difficulty that Col. Bonner introduced Senator Sherman as the Temporary Chairman. Mr. Sherman met the demonstration at first with the remark that he hoped to see the Republicans of Ohio keep such a pitch of enthusiasm till the next November election. He soon commanded the closest attention and spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I thank you for the honor you have conferred on me in selecting me to preside over this great convention. You have met to designate the next Governor of the State of Ohio. You have a good many candidates before you, but each is worthy of the highest honor you can confer. You have also to select several of the chief executive officers of the State. You have still higher duties, to announce the principles and policy of the Republican party in the State of Ohio and in the United States. We have a common faith and creed. We act together on great matters on principle, on small matters for discipline. The Republicans of Ohio are national; this is our corner-stone, planted in the first Republican convention in Ohio in 1855. We stood by it in the storm of war. The soldiers of Ohio carried our flag in every great battle for the preservation of the Union. When Grant was in the Wilderness and Sherman was before Atlanta a great party declared the war a failure. Ours made it a success. When the war was over we did not treat our enemies as conquered subjects but as erring brethren. We now meet them and greet them as friends, turning our backs on dead issues.

When the war was over the Republican party developed its civil policy. First of all it declared its purpose to pay every debtor obligation contracted during or since the war, that the public faith should be unblemished. This promise has been performed. We have discharged every obligation contracted during the war, especially the sacred debt to the surviving soldiers of the war, their widows, and orphans.

We are in favor of a protective tariff. We had such a tariff. While it was in force we had prosperity, good times, and money plenty. We had so diversified our domestic industries that American labor and American capital supplied nearly all the wants of the American people. We prefer to tax foreign products rather than our own. We believe that the policy of protection should be extended to all impartially.

We are opposed to the Democratic policy of protecting woolen manufacturers, and admitting wool free of duty. We denounce a scheme of taxation which annually increases the public debt more than $50,000,000. This is the result of Democratic ascendency. The tariff law of the last Congress is partly a copy of the McKinley law. All the productions of the South are carefully protected, while the duties on the great staple industries of the North are largely reduced, and on some articles entirely repealed. We demand a reform in the tariff, not to promote sectional interests, but to secure ample revenue and impartial protection to domestic industries.

We are in favor of a sound national currency always redeemable in coin. For fourteen years after the resumption of specie payments we had such a currency. We had gold, silver, and paper, all bearing the stamp and sanction of the United States, of unquestioned credit and of equal value, passing current in all parts of the commercial world. Both gold and silver are indispensable for use in the varied wants of mankind. Gold is now and has been for ages the chief measure of value in international commerce and the larger transactions of domestic exchanges. Silver, from its bulk and weight, is not available for large payments either at home or abroad, but is indispensable in the minor wants of mankind. Gold, from its greatly superior value, cannot be utilized for such purposes. Therefore it is that both metals have been coined into money at a fixed ratio. The enormous increase of the production of silver in the United States, Mexico, and Australasia has disturbed this ratio and lowered the market value of silver precisely as a like increase of production has lowered the prices of other commodities. It is a universal law that price or value is measured by quantity. Under these conditions the rational and proper course would be a change of ratio, but this can only be effective as to these two metals by a concert of action among commercial nations. Until this can be accomplished the only logical way is for each nation to coin both metals and maintain the coinage of the cheaper metal at par by limitation of amount. Such is now the policy of the United States, and of every great commercial nation, including every country in Europe. The policy now urged by the producers of silver and by men who wish to pay their debts in cheaper money than they proposed to pay, is the free coinage of silver. This means the single standard of silver and the demonetization of gold. This is the only monometallic system. It is the degradation of our dollar to 50 cents. If applied to our national bonds it is a repudiation of one-half of public debt. It is the repudiation of one-half of all debts. It confers no favors on productions of any kind, whether of the farm, the workshop, or the mine, for if they get nominally more dollars for their productions their additional dollars would have only one-half the purchasing power of the gold dollars. The great hardship of this policy would fall upon workingmen, skilled and unskilled, whose daily wage, measured by the present standard, is higher than in any country in the world.

The Republican party in its national platform of 1892 demanded good money of equal purchasing power, whether coined of silver or gold, or composed of United States notes and national bank notes, based upon the credit of the United States maintained at par with coin. This is the bimetallic policy. There we stand today, maintaining the parity of gold and silver coined.

In all the great issues made in the last ten years the Republican party of Ohio has had the courage to propose and to do what is right. Let us follow in the same pathway, and we will not only elect a Republican Governor and State officers, but also another Republican Senator and, I hope, a President of the United States from the State of Ohio.

Hoyt in the Lead.

At the conclusion of the Senator's speech the twenty-one Congressional districts were called for members of the committees and other positions when it was found that there were bitter contests for seats, especially in the Toledo and Springfield districts. The following Committee on Resolutions was appointed and afterward organized with ex-Senator Charles Foster as Chairman: T. W. Grandon, J. H. Bromwell, R. M. Nevin, D. L. Gaskill, R. B. Heller, George W. Hulick, George C. Rawlins, J. L. Conover, J. K. Richards, Charles H. Grosvenor, Henry C. Taylor, W. S. Kerr, H. C. Van Voorhis, Lorenzo Danford, A. S. McClure, R. W. Taylor, S. A. Northway, J. B. Burrows, and H. G. Wilder, with C. P. Griffin's place contested by J. M. Ashley. On motion of Gen. A. C. Hurst the convention adjourned to 8 p. m.

On reassembling the temporary organization was made permanent. The contested delegations from the Toledo and Springfield districts were not unseated. With a corresponding number of speeches the following names were presented to the convention for the nomination for Governor: J. W. Barger, J. Warren Keifer, J. H. Hoyt, George K. Nash, Robert M. Nevin, A. L. Harris, and E. W. Poe. Gen. Bushnell's name was not presented by any speaker. There were 827 delegates in the convention, 414 being necessary for a choice. The first ballot resulted as follows:

Bushnell, 58; Barger, 86; Harris, 56; Hoyt, 176½; Keifer, 74; Nash, 168; Nevin, 60; Poe, 146½.

Senator Sherman announced no choice and ordered balloting to proceed.

Second ballot—Bushnell, 83; Barger, 83; Harris, 44; Hoyt, 169½; Keifer, 63; Nash, 169½; Nevin, 83; Poe, 133.

Third ballot—Bushnell, 159; Barger, 86; Harris, 27; Hoyt, 165; Keifer, 40½; Nash, 190½; Nevin, 78; Poe, 84. Poe's name was withdrawn.

Fourth ballot—Bushnell, 347; Barger, 32; Harris, 23; Hoyt, 148; Keifer, 16; Nash, 257.

Fifth ballot—Bushnell, 410; Harris, 5; Hoyt, 120; Keifer, 12; Nash, 279. Only 414 necessary for a choice.

The Resolutions.

When the excitement over Bushnell's nomination had subsided ex-Gov. Charles Foster mounted the stage to read the resolutions, but the convention was tired out and gave him leave to print. The platform denounced the Democracy for the distress caused by its free trade policy; for its deplorable incompetency in handling the national finances, borrowing $162,000,000 in two years, selling in secret to favored foreign syndicates the bonds of the government at prices far below their actual value; charges the administration with weakness in Hawaii and Nicaragua; denounces free wool, and demands justice for the veteran pensioners; pronounces for government aid to the Nicaragua canal project; indorses Joseph B. Foraker for next United States Senator from Ohio; places McKinley before the next national convention as Ohio's unanimous Republican choice for President, and extends the sympathy and condolence of the convention to the family of the dead Secretary of State, Walter Q. Gresham. The planks on tariff and the money question are as follows:

We reaffirm our adherence to the principles of the Republican party as defined by the national convention in 1892, chief among which are:

A protective tariff, which, restoring American wages and American products, shall prove the highest interests of American laborers and American development while providing adequate revenue for the uses of the government; reciprocity, which, while seeking and gaining the world's market for our surplus products, shall not lower or destroy American wages nor surrender our own markets to foreign commodities which can be produced at home. Fair elections, based upon a free ballot and an honest count, the safeguard of American institutions, the true source of public authority, honest money, consisting of gold, silver, and paper, every dollar as good as any other dollar, and all backed by the national faith and honor. We favor bimetallism and demand the use of both gold and silver as standard money, either in accordance with a ratio to be fixed by an international agreement if that can be obtained, or under such restrictions and such provisions, to be determined by legislation, as will secure maintenance of the parity of values of the two metals, so that the purchasing and debt-paying power of the dollar, whether of silver, gold, or paper, shall be at all times equal.

The convention adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow.

Sketch of the Winner's Career.

Gen. Asa A. Bushnell is about 53 years of age and one of the old residents of Springfield, O.; financially he is well off. He is a member of the firm of Warder, Bushnell & Glessner, manufacturers of farming implements, and his connection with this industry is one of the causes of his wide acquaintance throughout the rural districts of the State. He is an unassuming business-man, not a good public speaker, but affable and genial. He has never held political office of any kind. He received his title as General by serving on Gov. Foraker's staff. In 1885 he was Chairman of the Republican State Executive committee and managed the Foraker campaign. He has always been a liberal contributor to Republican funds and financially and by personal activity has been a strong factor in Republican victories in Ohio. He has not been present in Zanesville during the convention and received the news of his nomination in Springfield. Tonight his friends in Zanesville are celebrating his nomination in a way which shakes the foundations of the houses. Bands are playing, fireworks are snapping, and there is general rejoicing.

The Candidate Hears the News.

Springfield, O., May 28.—Gen. Bushnell, on receiving the news that he was nominated, said:

I appreciate the honor and will do all in my power to bring the ticket through triumphantly in November. The honor is doubly appreciated, as it comes unsought. I have been consistent in the declaration that I was not a candidate. I may go to Zanesville Wednesday.

UNITE FOR THE RIGHT

PHILADELPHIANS FORM A STRONG SOUND MONEY LEAGUE.

Solid Business-Men and the Home Owners of the "City of Homes" Opposed to the Fallacies of the Free Silverites—Democrats and Republicans Side by Side on the Platform—Altgeld's Minions in the County Conventions—Pennsylvania Railroad President's Strong Speech.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 28.—[Special.]—The "City of Homes" lifted its voice in behalf of all the homes of the land at the Academy of Music tonight. The gathering was a distinctively representative assembly and included, as the proper demonstration of the vital issue called for, all the elements of the community, from the wealthiest taxpayer to the smallest householder. The question of sound money is a problem which, in the words of Bacon, comes home to every one's bosom. The gathering was irrespective of politics, and was remarkable on that account. Side by side sat John Wanamaker and Thomas Dolan with Postmaster Carr and National Democratic Chairman Harrity. So it went all down the line. George B. Roberts, President of the Pennsylvania railroad company, presided and C. Stuart Patterson read the resolution. It declared as follows:

"The queston for the determination of the country at this time is not that of bimetallism under international agreement, but it is that of silver monometallism, to be brought about by the independent action of the United States. The free coinage of silver is as unnecessary in policy as it is unsound in principle. It is not needed to relieve a contraction of the currency, for there is now nearly as much money per capita in circulation in this country as there has ever been in periods of the greatest prosperity. In the face of these facts, and in the face of the further fact the market ratio of silver as compared with gold is more than thirty to one, it is now proposed to admit silver to free and unlimited coinage at the arbitrary ratio of sixteen to one.

"The adoption of such a policy will not only result in vast inflation, but it will also be a debasement of the national currency, which must degrade this country to the level of the silver standard countries. The intelligence and the sound sense of the American people must be aroused, for when aroused they can be relied upon to take such action as will avert the threatened calamity; therefore,

"Resolved, That a sound money league be organized in the City of Philadelphia for the purpose of assisting the development of an intelligent public opinion on the question of the currency, and that all citizens be invited to become members of the league upon the basis of the principles herein set forth."

Mr. Patterson's resolution was adopted without opposition and the proposed league was organized by the election of these officers: President, John H. Converse; Vice-Presidents, William Wood, Samuel B. Shipley, and William D. Windsor; Treasurer, George C. Thomas; Secretary, William R. Tucker; Executive committee, C. Stuart Patterson, Chairman; John P. Green, James Weston, N. Parker Shortridge, Charles H. Banes, Eugene Delano, Joseph Wharton, William Potter, William M. Singerly, Chas. Emory Smith, and Pemberton S. Hutchinson.

President Roberts' Telling Address.

After the resolutions had been adopted President Roberts made a brief address in which he said: "It is certainly a sad thing to think that a country—a country like ours—which has always stood up and claimed the position of one of the nations of the highest moral integrity, should have to resort to calling public meetings throughout this land to teach the people the fact of moral integrity in their coin. Something seems to have been ingrafted in the people from the remotest times to the present that whenever they desired to do that which was unfair or endeavored to do that which was not just to others they immediately endeavored to recompense them with that which only represented one-half of what they were indebted to them. It is this subject that brings me here tonight. If we admit for one moment that anything else than a dollar, representing 100 cents of our gold, is to be that coin with which we are to reimburse the laborer whom we have agreed to pay a dollar for his day's labor—if we for one moment forget that and endeavor to hand out to him a piece of white metal which is merely a token and represents but one-half of the value, then so soon do we forget that which is right between man and man.

"Though this subject is so plain to us all that have had the opportunity to be brought in connection with it during our lives we may be pardoned if we feel that it may not be plain to others, but I tell you, fellow-laborers in this country, when we come to the point of finding that the dollar or dollar and a half which you receive for your day's labor, or, if you are a mechanic, a skilled laborer, the three, five, or ten dollars which you may receive will buy you but one-half the amount of flour, or one-half the amount of wheat, or one-half the amount of beef, then will you begin to ask what does all this mean? Money—money, plenty, truly, but where is its value? It is gone. The object of this meeting, I may say here tonight, if not known to all of you, is for the purpose of endeavoring to educate those who have not had the opportunity of looking into this subject so well as some others in the great necessity of adhering strictly to strong moral integrity in everything that relates to finances, especially of your country. Sacrific yourself, but your country never. I now have the pleasure of introducing to you Senator Edmunds as the first speaker of the evening—Senator Edmunds from Vermont. It will not be necessary for me to say that he is a man of sound money. He comes from a State founded upon a solid rock."

Senator Edmunds for Sound Money.

In the beginning, Mr. Edmunds said that the sound-money question must be decided by political action, not party action, but that kind of action the Romans used to speak of when no man was for party, but all for the State. Quoting Thomas Jefferson's words that "The whole art of government consists in the art of being honest," he said:

"That phrase is worthy to be written in letters of gold and placed in front of every public edifice in every hamlet on the continent. In a careful report prepared for the benefit of the first Congress Jefferson said that the question of difference between the values of gold and silver as money was purely a commercial question that did not depend on legislation or the fancy and taste of man, but on commerce, which regulates the price of commodities."

The speaker then discussed the variation in value of the two metals. He said: "If any faith can be put in human experience it ought to teach us that we cannot make a given amount of silver worth any more when it is printed at the mint with the stamp of the United States than it was before. When the act of 1873 was passed to stop silver coinage all the principle countries of Europe were coming to have a single standard—gold. If the last Congress had passed March 3, the last day of its session, what is now demanded by the free coinage people every owner and producer of silver bullion would take his ounce of silver to the mint—worth 63 48-100 cents and get $1.29 29-100—and having got more than two silver dollars for his ounce of silver he would come to the workingman to whom he owes for labor and say: 'If I brought it in metal it would have taken ten pounds; but I have taken it to a beneficent United States office and had it stamped and you must take five pounds of it.'"

Trenholm's Forcible Speech.

After the applause which testified the appreciation of the venerable ex-Senator's vigorous speech had subsided Chairman Roberts introduced ex-Controller of the Currency William L. Trenholm as a man so well known that he hardly needed an introduction. Mr. Trenholm forcibly but dispassionately discussed the subject, and said:

"We are here tonight because we recognize the gravity of the situation and appreciate the importance of doing all we can towards bringing about a right solution of the free silver coinage question. By general admission the gold idea and the silver idea are irreconcilable. A decision as to which is the right one can only be reached by reasoning predicated upon the facts and guided by logic. It will be found that the issue now confronting us has become serious only because the two great political parties have at one time or another and on one place and another courted the support of those who entertained or affected to entertain the idea that the coinage of silver dollars is so essential to the welfare and happiness of the people of the United States that all other political questions should be subordinate to it. Upon the law of 1873, making the dollar of 25 8-10 grains of gold 900 fine the monetary unit of our coinage system, rests all that is solid and prospectively permanent in our entire monetary system. The principle of a definite and unchangeable monetary unit guided us to resumption in 1879, and since then it has secured for us ultimate safety in all the vicissitudes of business and all the commercial and financial panics that have swept over our country."

The other speakers were ex-Congressman Michael D. Harter of Ohio, Joseph Wharton, and Charles Emory Smith. At the conclusion of Mr. Smith's address the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

ALTGELD'S MINIONS IN THE FIGHT.

They Take a Hand in County Conventions to Swing Them His Way.

Dixon, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—A call is out for all Democrats who favor the free coinage of silver to meet in a mass county convention in this city June 1. At a meeting of the Lee County committee a few days ago it was resolved not to call a convention or to send delegates to Springfield. Last week Col. Hugh Boyle, Assistant Adjutant General, was here presumably to inspect Company G, but really for the purpose of inspecting the political situation in this county. Since that time the free silver people say they will not only have a county convention but will also elect a new County Central committee and remove Col. Hanlon because of his refusal to call a convention and his stand for honest money.

Champaign, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—Seventeen out of twenty-eight townships were represented in the county silver convention at Urbana today. The free silver faction succeeded in gaining control and continued to maintain it until the convention closed. Col. W. H. Purcell of Gov. Altgeld's staff, who is a pronounced silver man, was made Chairman, and he refused to entertain motions made by the sound currency faction, whereupon they withdrew and the convention ended in a row. A resolution was adopted favoring the use and coinage of silver and gold, without discrimination against silver, at a ratio of 16 to 1. A solid delegation of free silver men was chosen. It is believed a large majority of Democrats in this county are opposed to the silver movement.

Gov. Hastings a Candidate.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 27.—[Special.]—There is no longer any secrecy about Gov. Hastings' candidacy for President next year. Everything is being shaped to that end. An effort will be made to hold the next national Republican convention in Philadelphia. Such influential and wealthy Republicans as ex-Postmaster-General John Wanamaker and Thomas Dolan, backed by the Union League, are said to favor the Philadelphia plan.

Political Notes.

The Texas Democratic State Executive committee has decided to refer the financial question to a separate State convention, to be called not later than 1896.

Dr. George A. Zeller of Peoria, Ill., is a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer.

Speaker Crisp of the National House of Representatives has issued a signed card in which he says he is a believer in the full and unlimited coinage of silver.

The dinner to be given Thursday evening to Gov. McKinley of Ohio at the Montauk club, Brooklyn, N. Y., will be one of the most elaborate events ever given in that city.

HONORS ACCORDED CHICAGO WOMEN.

Three of Them Chosen Chief Officers of the Baptist Home Mission Society.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 28.—[Special.]—The Women's Baptist Home Mission Society today concluded its annual session after electing the following: President, Mrs. J. N. Crouse, Chicago; Corresponding Secretary, Miss M. G. Burdett, Chicago; Treasurer, Mrs. A. H. Barber, Chicago; Recording Secretary, Mrs. W. E. Wainsley, Brooklyn; also the following Vice-Presidents for Western States: Illinois—Mrs. W. B. Mason, Chicago, and Mrs. F. K. Hopkins, Alton; Indiana—Mrs. R. Jeffrey, Indianapolis; Iowa—Mrs. S. E. Nesbitt, Des Moines; Kansas—Mrs. L. D. Newell, Manhattan; Minnesota—Mrs. H. D. Gates, St. Paul, and Miss A. C. Morford, Owatonna; Nebraska, Mrs. W. Wakelin and Miss Van Ness, Omaha; North Dakota, Mrs. E. Baker, Wahpeton; Ohio, Mrs. S. M. Fulton, Elyria; South Dakota, Mrs. Walter Ross, Centerville; Wisconsin, Mrs. L. Smith, Milwaukee. The American Baptist Missionary Union, the Rev. Dr. Augustus H. Strong of Rochester Theological Seminary, President, began its eighty-first anniversary here today. The leading feature was the voluminous report of the Committee on the Relations of Women's Societies to the Missionary Union. It was decided that in the revised constitution there be added a clause that not less than one fifth of the Board of Managers shall be women.

REOPEN SILBERHORN PACKING PLANT.

Chicago Packing Company to Take Possession of a Sioux City, Ia., House.

Sioux City, Ia., May 28.—[Special.]—William J. Dee of Chicago, President of the Chicago Packing and Provision company, is in the city with his head carpenter and chief engineer to make an examination of the Silberhorn packing plant, which the company has leased and soon will reopen. The building, shed, and yards of the Silberhorn plant cover over five acres of ground. The slaughtering, cold storage, and rendering houses are 133x144 feet and five stories high. There are ten smoke-houses and warehouses. The ground floor space of the fertilizing building covers about seven acres. The beef-house is 64x160 feet and four stories. There are five ice-houses, with a capacity of 175,000 tons. The operations of slaughtering cattle and sheep are carried on, the capacity being 500 cattle and 300 sheep. The hog killing capacity is 4,000 per day.

PRINCETON ALUMNI CHOOSE OFFICERS

D. B. Jones Elected President for the Ensuing Year.

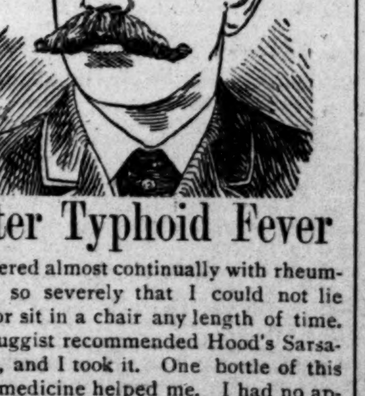

The local association of Princeton College graduates held its annual meeting at the University club last night and elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: D. B. Jones, President; James S. Harlan, J. B. Miller Jr., First and Second Vice-Presidents; A. C. McCord, Secretary and Treasurer; P. V. Cary, Assistant Secretary and Treasurer; Executive committee, C. H. McCormick, Chairman; J. D. Jones, S. R. Taber, S. H. Curran, J. W. Harvey Jr., John C. Mathis, W. H. Forsythe.

Samuel Baker, W. B. McIlvain, and R. D. Small were selected as delegates to attend the National Alumni Association at Princeton June 11.

OFFERS HIM $5,000 TO COMMIT MURDER.

Sensational Testimony in the Trial of Mrs. Pope at Detroit, Mich.

Detroit, Mich., May 28.—A sensational feature of today's session of the Pope murder trial was the statement of David Wright, a paperhanger, who declared Mrs. Pope once offered him $5,000 of her husband's insurance money if he would get Pope out of the way. He said he and the woman had been drinking. To appease her he said he would do the deed, but never attempted it.

After Typhoid Fever

"I suffered almost continually with rheumatism, so severely that I could not lie down or sit in a chair any length of time. My druggist recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I took it. One bottle of this grand medicine helped me. I had no appetite at first, and had fallen off in weight. I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now have used twelve bottles. I am free from all pain, having gained in flesh, and have good appetite."—John J. Dueer, 111 Pearl-st., Dayton, O.

CYCLISTS IN A ROW.

ROAD RACE PROGRAM PRIVILEGE STARTS A LIVELY FIGHT.

The Associated Clubs Give the Printing Contract to One Concern, While Another Firm Secures the Exclusive Right of Sale in Lincoln Park from Supt. Alexander, Who Refuses to Revoke His Order—President Fanning Threatens to Begin Legal Proceedings.

There are indications of a good lively fight between the Associated Cycling clubs of Chicago and McAssey & Kossuth, the publishers of an unofficial program for Thursday's race. This firm has procured from Supt. Alexander a permit to sell programs of the race in Lincoln Park Decoration day, claiming, it is said by members of the associated clubs, to be the official publishers of the program. This the President of the associated clubs says is not true, and further says that the firm will be unable to procure the numbers by which the riders in the race are to be designated. The publishers of the program have also, through their agents, agreed to deliver the programs this afternoon, which the members of the Entry committee say is impossible, as the riders will not be given their numbers by that time. The association has given the printing of the programs to another firm, but has no permit from the Lincoln Park authorities to sell the programs in the grounds.

Yesterday F. J. Fanning, the President of the Associated Cycling clubs, called on Supt. Alexander and laid the matter before him and asked for a revocation of the permit to McAssey & Kossuth. The Superintendent could not give him any satisfaction as he had been directed to issue the permit by Mr. Crawford of the Board of Park Commissioners, who is out of the city.

President Fanning said that when Mr. Crawford returned to the city today he would lay the matter before him, and hints were thrown out that if the revocation was denied injunction proceedings might follow. In speaking of the matter, he said:

"McAssey printed the program for the clubs last year and was authorized to do it.

TURN AT LAKE VIEW AND BELMONT AVENUES.

This year, however, we gave the printing to another firm. It will be impossible for McAssey to procure the numbers given the different riders, and at most all he could cover in his so-called program would be what was printed in THE TRIBUNE Sunday—namely: the list of starters and handicaps. This would be an imposition on the public, it being really no program at all."

Getting the Roads in Shape.

Along the line of the course over which the race will be run men were busy yesterday filling up the holes in the cedar pavement. At the sand patch a steam roller was on the ground and tomorrow that part will be rolled from early morning until the time of the commencement of the race. A judges' stand was built in the park yesterday opposite the Grant monument. No work was done on the roads under the jurisdiction of the Park Commissioners. Eight o'clock Thursday morning they will be sprinkled and the route in the park and leading out to Evanston avenue will be roped off. Fifty assistants will help the starter to get the men off, and 200 of the city policemen, with a sergeant for each squad of twenty-five, will assist the twenty-five park officers in preserving order.

At the judges' stand the Monarch Cycling Band, composed of the employés of the Monarch Cycling company, will furnish the music. The first rider will leave the scratch at 10 o'clock and the others will follow according to the time of their handicaps.

The contestants in the race will have, as a whole, as pretty a road on which to race as can be found in most any city in the United States. The start will be at Grant monument on the inner Lake-Shore drive, on a smooth, level macadam roadbed. The northern terminus will be at Chicago avenue and Main street in Evanston, and between the two points fully three-fourths of the roadway will be either macadam or asphalt pavement.

The macadam roadway of the inner Lake-Shore drive is level for nearly a half mile from the starting point of the race. Then it is broken by a slight rise at the northern end of Lincoln Park. This is followed by a gradual decline until Lake View avenue is reached. Here the roadway continues of macadam pavement, as is Belmont avenue, the next street of the race course. The rise here is so slight as to be hardly perceptible. After leaving Belmont avenue the racers will come in contact with the electric street car line on North Halsted street. The pavement here is of cedar block badly worn in places, but near the curbing a fairly good road will be found. The same is true of Evanston avenue, where electric cars are constantly in motion. Sheffield avenue will afford the wheelmen a splendid chance to make time. Then there is a turn west of one block, when Kenmore avenue, the entrance to Edgewater, is reached. Here is a level run on fine macadam road of ten blocks, through the heart of that pretty suburb. When Grand avenue is reached the tracks of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad company will have to be crossed, and a sharp turn brings the rider to Evanston avenue, where two blocks of street car tracks must be followed. The best road here will be found between the rails on the cedar pavement. Then comes the unimproved part of Sheridan drive, and for a mile and a half a thick, sandy roadbed will have to be overcome. There is a small, well-beaten path along one side of the road which no novice should tackle. It is a bad place for headers, and at places must be ridden slowly and carefully. Here many of the men will undoubtedly come to grief.

After leaving the sand road a slight rise brings the rider near the lake, still on the Sheridan drive. The road here is a little sandy, but fast time can be made on it. Then one block west and the Sheridan drive will be followed again for a quarter of a mile, when Main street will be reached. This will be the last street south of the north terminus, and the six blocks remaining to Chicago avenue will be a splendid road for a spurt to the northern end of the run. The riders will then start on the return to Chicago, following the cedar pavement of Chicago avenue for a mile and a half to Grand avenue, where a run of six blocks will bring the racers to Kenmore avenue, and the balance of the road will be the same as that taken north.

Out at the course yesterday many of the contestants in tomorrow's event were working hard. A. E. Lumsden, who said Monday he would not start, went over the course with W. A. Thompson, another of the contestants. Pressure has been brought to bear on Lumsden to go into the race, and he said yesterday if the conditions were favorable for a fast run, he would be in the race.

Little Walter Simkin, the 14-year-old rider, was out with Lumsden and Thompson and made the run, although puncturing his tire. When he began training for the race last week he rode the course in 1:05, and it is said that he rides much faster now. He has an eight-minute handicap, and indications are that he will be near the first riders at the finish.

Early in the morning Joseph F. Gunther took a fast turn over the road. He has been prevailed upon by his friends to start, although for some time he has given out that probably he would not be with the contestants. If it should be a bad day and heavy roads Gunther would stand a good show to win. He has a 2:30 handicap.

Y. M. C. A. CLUBS DID NOT APPEAR.

Officers of the Association Deny the Story of the Sunday Parade.

The complication arising from the alleged representation of Y. M. C. A. clubs in the parade Sunday seems to have little foundation. At the office of the association the whole story is generally discredited. So far no action has been taken. George W. Ehler, Physical Director, said that the only information which the association had of the matter had been gained from the accounts published in the daily papers and that they had no official notification or knowledge of any such breach of their rules. Secretary Messer, who is out of the city, will return tomorrow and the matter will then be thoroughly investigated, and, should the occasion warrant such action, a meeting of the committee of the association having jurisdiction in matters of such nature would be called. Assistant-Secretary W. T. Hart gave most emphatic denial in regard to the Ravenswood club and also said that he was positive that no Y. M. C. A. organization was represented as a body. The opinion among the members of the association seemed to be that a confusion had resulted from the fact that quite a number of members of the different cycling clubs were also members of the Y. M. C. A. In the case of Noble of the Sterling club it is certain that he rode as a member of that club. He thinks that the matter is of small importance, but may lead to an effort by the Y. M. C. A. to regulate Sunday riding among its members.

CUTTING HOLDS THE RECORD.

Has Made the Elgin-Aurora Course in Six Hours and Forty-five Minutes.

The following letter in regard to the century record over the Elgin-Aurora course explains itself:

CHICAGO, May 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your Sunday's paper I see you credit Mr. Joseph Gunther with holding the record for the Elgin-Aurora century course. I wish you would kindly correct this mistake, as I have held same since Aug. 12, 1894. Prior to Mr. Gunther's getting it last Aug. 5 in 6 hours and 50 minutes I held it for two years, time 7 hours. The Sunday following Mr. Gunther's successful attempt at bringing it down to 6 hours 50 minutes I went for it again, and succeeded in placing the record at 6 hours 45 minutes 45 seconds, and hold it to the present day, and have a certificate from Mr. Percy Walden, Chairman of the Century Road club, to that effect.

I have heard so much in regard to Mr. Gunther's claiming this record that I feel justified in making this statement. Also at any time Mr. Gunther would like to satisfy himself as to who is the better man over the course I am at his service.

CHARLES D. CUTTING.

Entries for the Century Road Race.

More than sixty wheelmen have signified their intention to start in the Elgin-Aurora road race June 12. It is expected that by the time the entries close this number will be increased to over 100.

TO DELVE DEEP INTO WHISKY AFFAIRS.

Mysterious Order Granted May 21 Is Filed—What It Directs.

The whisky trust Reorganization committee and Receiver McNulta are going to dive deeply into the affairs of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding company. The mysterious order heretofore referred to as having been granted May 21 and kept off the records was yesterday placed on file. It directs all the officers, clerks, and employés of the old trust who were in charge of the property prior to Jan. 21 last to appear before Master in Chancery Booth and answer such questions as may be propounded to them. The receiver and the Reorganization committee are accorded the right to be represented at the hearing by counsel. The object of the suppression of the order was to secure service upon the parties. Ex-President Greenhut is in New York. It is not known whether he has been served, but it is said to be the purpose of the committee to place him on the stand. Others of the former ruling men in the trust will also be made witnesses.

Edwin Walker will file a memoranda probably today in the Central Trust company's suit for a receiver and injunction to restrain the transfer of the property. If the demurrer to the Central Trust company's bill is sustained and the latter's suit thus knocked out, it is said an immediate appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals will be taken, and friends of the new management say the prayer of an appeal will in nowise operate as a legal stay to the purpose to pass the assets over to the new company.

THINK THEY HAVE YERKES BEATEN.

Fifth Avenue Property-Owners Are Still Fighting the Loop.

George S. Eddy, Secretary of the committee of Fifth avenue property-owners who protest against the building of the elevated road on that street, said yesterday he did not know when the latter's protest would be formulated against the ordinance introduced in the Council Monday night. It was first announced that the committee would call on the Commissioner of Public Works yesterday. Mr. Eddy intimated that the property-owners might delay, but he said they were confident that the Yerkes interest did not represent a majority of the frontage. People in a position to speak for the railroad interest said the frontage question was all right. That the consents to granting the right of way had been thoroughly examined before drafting the ordinance and every legal requirment had been met. It is said if the ordinance passes the line will be built inside of a year. Harrison street, it is understood, is being considered as the southern side of the loop. Wabash avenue is still desired for the route of the eastern side of the loop.

SANTA FE TO DECIDE.

FATE OF WESTERN POOL RESTS WITH RECEIVER WALKER.

If He Grants Percentage Demands of the Gould Roads the Association May Live, Otherwise It Will Go to Smash—John M. Egan Receiver of Oregon Short Line—Bad Blow to Union Pacific—Shorn of 7,000 Miles of System It Once Controlled.

A determined effort was made yesterday by the executive officers of the roads between Chicago, St. Louis, and the Missouri River to bring about a reorganization of the Western division of the traffic pool, admitted to be in bad shape. The Missouri Pacific is mainly responsible for the trouble. By persistent cutting of rates it has managed to carry much more than its allotted percentage, and, although its percentage was increased about two months ago, it still clamors for more. It has given notice of the withdrawal of the Iron Mountain and Southern and still demands an increase over the percentage it had for both its Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain and Southern lines. A collapse of the pool could not be averted unless the Missouri Pacific demands were complied with, but none of the other lines will have their percentages reduced. The Wabash gave notice yesterday that it would under no circumstances stand a reduction. The Burlington has carried more than its proportion and still wants an increase. The Rock Island people say they get no more than their share. The Milwaukee and St. Paul and Northwestern make the same claim. The Santa Fé would have to give up a large proportion of its present percentage if the Missouri Pacific's appetite for more business is to be appeased. It depends, therefore, upon the Santa Fé principally whether the pool is to continued. Receiver Walker has made so many concessions to competing roads in the interest of peace and harmony that there is no telling what he may do. After considerable discussion yesterday the whole matter was referred to a committee of seven, consisting of Receiver Walker of the Santa Fé, Vice-President Ripley of the Milwaukee and St. Paul, General Manager Hayes of the Wabash, Vice-President Chappell of the Alton, Vice-President Harris of the Burlington, Vice-President Warner of the Missouri Pacific, and Vice-President Newman of the Northwestern. This committee will submit a report on pooling to the general meeting at 10:30 this morning.

JOHN M. EGAN MADE RECEIVER.

Decision in the Short Line Case as Predicted in "The Tribune."

John M. Egan was appointed receiver of the Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern in the United States Court at St. Paul yesterday, and as predicted in THE TRIBUNE last Monday, the second mortgage bondholders agreed to pay at once the interest due on the first mortgage bonds which became due Feb. 1, 1895, and interest on that interest. The decision is a hard blow for the Union Pacific and leaves it only with a mileage of about 1,700, while previous to its going into the hands of receivers it controlled nearly 8,000 miles of road and many important steamship lines, including a trans-Pacific line. The Burlington, Rock Island, and other trans-Missouri roads will be greatly benefited by the change, as they will now find an outlet to the North Pacific coast in the Oregon Short Line on the same terms as the Union Pacific.

St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—The Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern railway or such portion of that system as lies within the jurisdiction of the Eighth Circuit of the United States court will be made over by the receivers of the Union Pacific to J. M. Egan, the receiver named by Judge Gilbert of the Ninth Circuit some time ago. The transfer will be made with some limitations and conditions named by Judge Sanborn today.

Judge Sanborn declines to make any provision in the order other than that contained in Judge Gilbert's order with reference to the issuance of receivers' certificates. The amount of interest due Feb. 1 was $447,000. Similar applications will be made in San Francisco and Portland for the portions of the road in the other circuits.

FAILED TO EARN EXPENSES.

Burlington Statement for April Shows a Material Deficit.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Burlington about a week ago declared a quarterly dividen of 1 per cent, there is no indication of the company earning enough to pay the dividend. It did not come within $19,707 of earning operating expenses and charges in April. The deficit since Jan. 1, 1895, now amounts to $280,273, which sum will have to be made good before there is any surplus for dividends. Unless business materially improves at once and there is a good crop year there is no prospect of the Burlington paying any more dividends for some time to come. There is a net decrease for April of $62,781. The loss is all on freight traffic. The passenger business appears to be picking up. The following is a detailed statement of gross earnings, expenses, and net earnings of the entire Burlington system of railroads, including the Burlington and Missouri River railroad in Nebraska, for the month of April, 1895, and the four months ending April 30, compared with the corresponding periods last year.

NO LAW AND NO DISCRIMINATION.

Important Decision Rendered by Iowa Supreme Court.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 28.—[Special.]—In the Supreme Court, in the case of Isaac Gatton vs. The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, a decision was rendered today affecting the right to recover for freight discrimination previous to the passage of the inter-State commerce law. It was held that there is no national common law, and that nothing but an act of Congress could prevent discrimination. The plaintiff was a shipper of stock, and he alleged he paid full rates on all his shipment, while, during the same time, other shippers had the benefit of rebates amounting to $17 a car. He asked for judgment in $10,000. The railroad company pleaded the statute of limitation, inter-State commerce, and finally that as there was no law of Congress on the subject there could be no discrimination. The case has attracted wide attention in Iowa and if it had succeeded many similar actions would have been commenced and old-time shippers might have wrecked the road.

Colorado and Midland Appointments.

Receiver Ristine of the Colorado Midland railroad has appointed W. F. Bailey of the Chicago and Erie railway General Passenger Agent of the Colorado Midland. Mr. Bailey has been with the Erie at Chicago for many years, and is considered an able and efficient passenger official. It is understood that General Agent Tanner of the Santa Fé at Denver will be appointed General Freight Agent of the Colorado Midland.

To Restore Southeastern Rates.

Chairman Midgley has called a meeting for tomorrow in Chicago of the representatives of the interested lines north of the Ohio River and west of the Mississippi to consider the restoration of the proportional rates on Class B freight to Ohio and Lower Mississippi River crossings when destined to southern and southeastern territory.

Railway News Notes.

The Wabash road announces that a $4 rate from Chicago to East St. Louis will be in effect until June 3, inclusive. The same rate will be made in the opposite direction.

E. E. Calvin has been appointed General Superintendent of the International and Great Northern railroad company, with headquarters at Palestine, Tex., to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of T. G. Golden. Mr. Calvin will have immediate charge of maintenance of way, the transportation, mechanical, and telegraph departments.

Chairman Caldwell has proposed a meeting of Western General Passenger Agents for June 3 in this city to consider the proposed agreement and rules for a new Trancontinental Passenger Association.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas management has awarded a contract to the Pencoyd iron works of Philadelphia for the completion of the seven-span iron and steel bridge across the Missouri River at Booneville.

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern, held at Cedar Rapids yesterday, 34,113 out of 55,000 shares stock were voted. President C. J. Ives and other officers were reelected.

Officials of the Queen and Crescent railroad have consented to allow milling in transit privileges to the Chattanooga mill-owners. It will give millers such reductions in rates as will enable them to better compete with mills in other places.

The resignation of Col. Charles A. Owens as Traffic Manager of the Plant system goes into effect June 1. He will probably be succeeded by Assistant Traffic Manager Papy, with Mr. Mondel of the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West railroad as assistant.

The Central Traffic Association Committee on Relations with Western Roads and representatives of transcontinental lines held a meeting in Chairman Blanchard's office yesterday, and considered rates and divisions on through transcontinental business.

For some time past the Western Association roads have refused to honor tickets of the Pittsburg, Akron and Western railroad because it has persistantly been cutting rates and violating agreements. The road now asks Chairman Caldwell to be placed in good standing again.

EPISCOPAL CLERGYMEN IN SESSION.

Chicago Diocesan Convention Begun in the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul.

Clergymen from all over Northern Illinois, the greater portion of which is included within the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, met in annual session yesterday in the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul, Washington boulevard and Peoria streets. The convention will continue today. The morning session yesterday was given up to devotional exercises. The charge was delivered by Bishop McLaren. The officers of the convention were reelected, the presiding officer being Bishop McLaren.

In the afternoon Bishop McLaren presented his twentieth annual address. It said that despite the stringency of the times the diocese had just completed one of the most prosperous years in its history. Among the most notable facts mentioned in bearing out this the Bishop referred to the consecration of the Church of the Epiphany, the opening of St. Peter's Church last Easter, which had been erected at a cost of $40,000, the erection of Trinity parish house at an outlay of $30,000, and the erection of the Rockford parish house at an outlay of $35,000.

Today the delegates to the general convention to be held in October in Minneapolis, Minn., will be elected. It is expected, too, that a change in the canons may be the source of some discussion.

DROWNED IN THE DEVIL'S RIVER FLOOD

Many Persons Lose Their Lives—Property Destroyed by the Torrent.

San Antonio, Tex., May 28.—Terrible floods occurred in the Devil's River country last Thursday. Four persons were drowned near Ozona. Two others belonging to the same family were drowned, but their bodies have not been recovered. The victims were George Volasco's wife and the latter's two brothers and three sisters. They lived on the bank of Devil's River, which rose thirty feet within thirty minutes. All the houses in the Prosser ranch between Juno and Comstock were swept away and several families, numbering in all about twenty persons, are believed to have been drowned. The Devil's River and its tributary branches are still out of their banks.

FASHIONABLE EFFECT IN BOX PLEATS.

A Tissue Paper Pattern of This Garment May Be Obtained by Filling the Certificate Below and Mailing, with Twenty Cents, to Pattern Department of "The Tribune."

NOS. 7581 AND 7582—LADIES' GOWN.

This costume contains two patterns; either one can be obtained for a coupon and 10 cents, or both for 20 cents.

The waist pattern shown here is especially adapted to making handsome waist costumes, or separate waist, because the box-plaits are separate and can thus be made of a different material from the body. For a gown of green taffetas, black chiffon for the body will be found a stylish contrast, making the box-plaits and sleeves of the silk to match the skirt.

A gown of crépon is pretty made with a top of lace put on under the box-plaits, as shown here. Or the body may be of linen, either plain or embroidered, for either a silk or crépon gown.

Ginghams make up prettily after this model, using white linen or embroidery for the body. Or the gown may be made of gingham throughout with the box-plaits replaced by bands of lace, embroidered insertion, or hemstitched bands of ecru linen.

A dress of dark blue crépon with the box-plaits replaced by bands of linen hemstitched on both edges is exceedingly stylish.

For extra waists to wear with black skirts, any color is pretty with black chiffon for the body.

The skirt pattern is suitable for separate skirts as well as for costumes of one material. It is made with a circular front and three godet folds in the back.

The skirt is cut sizes 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, and 32 inches waist measure. A medium size requires 3½ yards of 42-inch material.

The waist is cut in sizes 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. A medium size requires about 5 yards of silk, or 2½ of 42-inch goods.

Remember this costume shows two patterns. If only one is desired be sure to state which one. If both are wanted 20 cents must be sent with the coupon.

You must use the certificate printed below (which is our order on the publishers), otherwise the pattern will cost you 25 cents.

Always give bust measure for waist, basques, coats, and jackets. For skirts give waist measure. For children's patterns it is advisable to give the age.

THIRTY-EIGHT NEW MEN FOR THE CHICAGO POSTOFFICE.

Postmaster Hesing Has Been Notified of Changes to Be Made That Will Result in a Much Needed Increase—Real Effect of the Berliner Patent Decision Is Still Uncertain in Some Points—Failure to Establish a Permanent Danger Signal in the Atlantic.

WASHINGTON, D. D., May 28.—[Special.]—The Postoffice Department has notified the Chicago Postmaster of an important change in the clerical force of his office by which twenty-six new clerks will be added to his force and twelve more, now engaged in what is known as the "finer distribution" on the railroads entering Chicago, will be called in for work in the home office. This change will be accomplished by the transfer of twenty-six clerks from the roster of the Chicago office to that of the Second Assistant Postmaster-General, and they hereafter will be borne on the rolls of the railway mail service. For some time there have been thirty-eight clerks detailed from the Chicago office for work in postal cars entering Chicago to distribute the mail for the Chicago office so that it could be at once sent to the branch stations. It has now been decided to transfer twenty-six of these to the railway mail service permanently, the other twelve returning to the office. As there will be twenty-six new clerks appointed in lieu of those transferred it practically increases the force of the Chicago Postoffice thirty-eight men. The same arrangements have been made in New York, where seventeen men were so transferred, and in St. Louis, Providence, Boston, and other cities.

The real effect of the Berliner Telephone decision is still a matter of some doubt because of the many questions which are yet capable of being raised, and officials of the Patent Office refuse to express any opinion whether the life of the patent is really prolonged until 1908, or whether the patents are such as interfere with those of rival companies. There is still doubt whether foreign patents have not been granted for the Berliner devices which will terminate the life of the American patent within a much shorter period than the seventeen years allowed by American law where no foreign pateut has been granted. The lower courts rebuked in an emphatic manner the action of the telephone people as well as of the Patent Office for the long delay on the Berliner devices. It is thought not impossible that the Supreme Court will sustain the action of the telephone people as being within the extreme limits of their legal rights and will limit their condemnation to the former administration of the Patent Office for its long failure to act.

Information was received at the Light-House Board this afternoon of another disaster to the experimental beacon at Outer Diamond Shoals off Cape Hatteras. Ever since the conqueror of the Merrimac went down off its treacherous shores just after the war efforts have been made to mark this dangerous spot with a signal. Borings have been made to a depth of 100 feet, but no solid foundation could be reached beneath the shifting sands. Finally a four-posted iron beacon was made comparatively stationary and secure. This feat was accomplished about a year ago and the beacon has been in position until this month, when the sands have again proven victorious. It seems that nothing of a permanent nature can be established on these shoals. Inasmuch as the beacon which is just reported unsafe has been in position for nearly a year it was thought at last the problem had been solved and a light would soon have been displayed. But this idea has been abandoned and Outer Diamond Shoals will continue to be dreaded by all navigators.

WHEAT ADVANCES IN FACE OF HEAVY PROFESSIONAL SELLING.

Weather Conditions Favor the Long Side of the Grain Markets—Plenty of Reports of Damage to Wheat and Oats—Shorts in Oats Are Frightened—Receipts of Corn Continue Heavy—Cables Indicated Easy Foreign Markets—Street Produce and Other Market Quotations.

Between frosts, insects, and dry, hot winds the wheat bear, and in fact the bear on grain of any kind, does not fare well. Yesterday was a day of heavy selling both of long wheat by people with profits and of short wheat by professionals, but with all this the market closed at a net advance for the day of over 2c and well up toward the best price so far reached on the present upturn. There was much less rain yesterday than was promised by the weather map of the day before. Hot weather and scorching winds were reported from Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa. This was the reason of the strong opening in wheat. July wheat had worked up on the curb to 79¾c as compared with the official close the previous night 1c lower. It opened at that figure on the board and sold up to 80⅝c. The summary of a Toledo circular making the outlook for winter wheat anything but cheerful, which was telegraphed to THE TRIBUNE, contributed to the early strength. The price looked high to the local professionals and the St. Louis crowd, and they sold freely. The market was extremely nervous and worked back and forth between 80⅜@80⅝c and 79¼c. Another weather market feature, was developed on the forecast for frost in the Northwest and West. Hot winds and frost might be expected to neutralize each other to some extent at least, but an upturn followed the frost forecast. The unsettled condition of the market was illustrated by the way in which Bradstreet's estimate on stocks was received. It showed a decrease of 2,647,000 bu east of the Rocky Mountains, 181,000 bu on the Pacific coast, and 40,000 bu in and afloat for Europe. The total, 2,868,000 bu, was disappointing in view of the big decrease the previous week. July, however, worked up ⅝c on the report, but broke to 79c, the low point of the day, soon after. The trading feature was the upturn near the close. Some of the private wire houses reported weakness in granger railway stocks, and this set shorts to covering. Many of the people who have been skeptical regarding crop damage reports have pinned their faith to the action of these railway securities. They claimed that if the grain crops of the country were ruined and the roads would in consequence have no traffic their securities would not be strong and advancing. An intimation that a turn had come was sufficient to advance July wheat from 79½c to a top price, at 81⅛c.

Confirmation of Damage Reports.

The close was strong at 80⅞c bid. Crop damage reports continue to pour in, but the attention of the crop-killers is about evenly divided between wheat and oats. There was little in the way of statistics to warrant the advance in wheat, however, and the volume of outside trade is much lighter than it was a week ago. Primary receipts were 293,000 bu, shipments 315,000 bu, and clearances in wheat and flour 297,000 bu. Northwestern receipts were 382 cars, as against 192 the same day last year. European imports of wheat for the week were heavy at 7,328,000 bu, exclusive of American shipments. Cables were all easy. Spot wheat in Liverpool was dull and in poor demand, No. 2 spring being 2½d lower and other varieties 1d lower. Futures were ½@1¼d lower. Antwerp was ⅝c lower, Paris from 3⅜@1⅞c lower, and Berlin ½c lower on spot wheat and 1⅝c on September deliveries. Local wheat receipts were 116 cars and 8,000 bu by canal, as against 147,000 bu inspected out of store. There was considerable cash wheat wanted, although the nervous condition of the market for futures interferes with the trade with millers. A cargo of wheat was wanted to go to Toledo, but vessel room could not be secured. Bartlett-Frazier sold a number of small lots aggregating 65,000 bu of No. 2 red to millers. Congdon & Co. sold 5,000 bu No. 2 hard wheat at 87c at Topeka.

Conditions in the corn market show but little change. Although a decrease in local receipts has been confidently predicted, the arrivals yesterday were heavy at 1,025 cars and 26,000 bu by canal, against withdrawals from store of 328,000 bu, and 800 cars are expected today. The fluctuations are largely controlled and decided by wheat, while corn on its own account is inclined to be heavy. Crop reports which are radical regarding wheat and oats do not express much concern as yet for corn. Clearances were liberal at 152,000 bu, as against primary receipts of 701,000 bu and shipments of 236,000 bu. In the local market the demand for cash corn was a little better, and several round lots for shipment were reported. A price of ½c under July was quoted on 160,000 bu of No. 2 yellow. It is intimated that a number of elevator concerns are forcing out corn to provide storage room. Samples were in good demand. On track and free on board No. 4 sold at 50@51¼c, No. 3 at 52@52½c, No. 3 yellow at 52½@53c, No. 2 at 53¼@53⅝c, No. 2 yellow at 53½c, No. 3 white at 52½@53c, No. 2 white at 52⅞@53½c, and ears at 51c. Billed through No. 3 yellow sold at 50½c, No. 2 at 50¼@51c, and No. 2 yellow at 51@51½c.

July corn opened at 53@53⅜c, sold up to 54¼c, and closed with 53⅞c bid. Liverpool was ½d lower on spot corn and 1@1½d lower on futures.

Oats Advance Sharply on a Crop Scare.

The oats market was altogether too lively for the comfort of shorts. Towards the close the feeling among the latter class of talent became a trifle panicky when prices were mounting upward along with the final bulge in wheat. The dawn of the morning brought in decidedly bullish crop news from nearly all the oats territory, especially the West and Northwest, where hot, dry winds were said to be adding rapidly to conditions that were unfavorable to start with. For the first time this season Iowa contributed its quota of oats crop killers. Nebraska dispatches were in some cases worse. Farmers on the floor who had just arrived from various parts of Illinois were telling all sorts of hard-luck stories. They reported that a louse was at work at the roots of the plant, in addition to the chinch bug, while the drought alone was bad enough. The market opened all the way from ⅝@¾c higher than the weak close of Monday and advanced steadily, with an occasional slight reaction, till it assumed the proportions of a flurry. Every time wheat shot up it served to strengthen the position of the bulls and scare shorts. Considering the influences at work it is surprising that the market did not shoot away from its former bearings to a greater extent than it did. However, the unanimity of the hard luck stories created an incredulous smile on the countenances of some of the bears and made it difficult to "rattle" them. Receipts for two days were fair at 510 cars, with 285 cars expected today. By canal 31,500 bu came in. Withdrawals from private elevators were 141,000 bu. September opened all the way from 29⅝c to 29⅞c, soon advanced to 30½c, declined to 30c, and then was bid up quickly toward the close to 31⅛c, closing at 31c sellers, a net gain of a cent. September soon got onto a parity with July, and was ⅛c above at one time. The latter ranged at 29⅞@31c, closing at 31c sellers, a net gain of ⅝c. May, 1896, sold at 33¾@34¼c, closing at 34⅛c. While the support rendered came chiefly from shorts, the country was a liberal buyer, while some new short lines were projected around top prices by traders who believe that good, soaking rains would knock present prices into a cocked hat. On the other hand, if the damage reports continue to come in today there are old hands at the business who consider that 35c would be cheap for September oats. The cash market ruled ½c higher, and closed easy at that. No. 2 white in store ranged at 32¼@32⅝c. Sales on track and f. o. b. included No. 3 white at 32@32½c, No. 2 at 29⅜@30c, and do white at 32¼@32¾c.

Provisions were a little irregular, but with trade light. Hog receipts here were 11,000 less than figured on and this with the strength in wheat opened products at a material advance all the way around. The market eased off later, but toward the close rallied to about the best figures of the day. Stocks of lard are expected to show a big increase for the month. Mess pork stocks will decrease, of course, but a fair increase will be shown in ribs.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

The provision warehousemen have all filed applications to be made regular for the coming year, but the Board of Directors did not act on them yesterday owing to the absence of Michael Cudahy, Chairman of the Provision Inspection committee. A special meeting of the directors will be held at 2 p. m. Friday, to act in the matter.

James L. Clarke of Omaha, Neb., goes on to discredit the damage bulletins recently received and says:

"Reports are being sent in from the West and Northwest which are absurd and false, reporting killing frost in Nebraska and Iowa. Both States never had a finer prospect for corn, oats, and rye, and but a few fields cut by frost and plenty of time to replant. Oats and wheat needed cool weather. They were growing too fast and would have run to straw. There will be old corn to ship from both States to Chicago."

A cable from Geddes in Liverpool to his house here has the following regarding foreign crop prospects:

"Outlook for the continent generally poor, with the exception of France, where it is favorable, and Russia, where it is doubtful."

Soon after the close July wheat sold up to 81⅜c on the curb, and from that down to 81c later in the day. Hot, devastating winds were still reported to be blowing over the West and Northwest and constituted the bullish factor. A few puts sold early as low as 77½c, but the majority of sales were from 78c up to 79c, with 78⅝c paid at the close. Calls went from 85c to 84⅛c, and up to 85¼c late in the day. Puts on July corn ranged at 53@53⅜c, and calls at 55⅜@55⅞c.

Lake freight rates were firm at 1¼c for corn and 1¼c for oats to Buffalo. Charters were made for 300,000 bu corn.

Board of Trade memberships sold yesterday at $850.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 42 cars; corn, 800 cars; oats, 285 cars; hogs, 30,000.

OTHER FARM PRODUCE.

Produce Exchange to Close Decoration Day —Berry Trade Slow.

The Produce Exchange will not hold any session May 30, and business will be suspended generally on the street in honor of the day. A few houses will remain open till noon, but there will be not much of any market for stuff. Receipts of strawberries were again heavy. Early in the day the demand was fairly active, but it was soon filled, and a slow market ensued. Michigan berries were quite plentiful, there being fully 1,500 cases in yesterday. There were some nice Ohio berries in, which sold as high as $3.50@3.75 per case. Plenty of cherries were on sale, but only choice were in good demand. All kinds of vegetables were in ample supply.

The following quotations are for round lots of merchantable quality and usually from first hands:

Butter—Creamery: Extra separator, 17½c; firsts, 16@17c; seconds, 13@14½c; thirds, 10@12c. Dairies: Fancy [Cooley's], 16c; firsts, 13@14c; seconds, 9@10c; packing stocks, 6@8c.

Berries—Strawberries: Illinois, $1.50@2.50 per 24-qt case; Indiana, $3.00@3.50 per 24-qt case; Michigan, $1.50@2.00 per 24-qt case.

Cheese—Fall makes: Young Americas, 8½c; twins, 8c; flats, 8¼c; cheddars, 8½c. New makes: Young Americas, 7½c; twins, 7c; Swiss cheese, 8@11c; Limburger, 7@8c; brick, fall make, 10@10½c; brick, new, 7½@8c.

Eggs—Choice, recandled, new cases included, 11½c; strictly fresh-laid, loss off, cases returned, 11½c; Southern, 10@11c.

Green Fruits—Apples, good to choice, $2.00@4.50 per brl; bananas, common to fair, 75c@$1.00; good to choice, $1.25@1.50; lemons, common to choice, $2.75@4.50 per box; Cherries, $1.50@2.50 per 24-qt case; California oranges, seedlings, $1.75@2.00 per box; navels, $2.50@3.50.

Potatoes—On track: Burbanks, 48@55c per bu; Hebrons, 45@50c; Peerless, 45@50c; Empire State, 45@52c; white stock, 48@57c; Western Rose, 45@52c. Less than carlots from store 10c higher than above quotations.

Whisky—Steady on the basis of $1.24 for highwines; high proof spirits, $1.26½.

PRODUCE MARKETS EAST AND WEST.

Grain, Cotton, and Provision Movements, with Closing Quotations.

NEW YORK, May 28.—[Special.]—Grain—Wheat—The market for wheat futures opened feverish and higher and continued strong all day, the final prices being the highest and 1½@1⅞c over yesterday's close. The buoyancy was largely in sympathy with a rapid rise in Western markets, where shorts and country traders are free buyers, prompted mainly by further reports of crop damage. Conservative traders are skeptical and inclined to think that the damage has been greatly exaggerated. At 1 o'clock there was a temporary pause and a slight recession, as the reduction in the world's visible supply—namely: 2,868,000 bu—was less than was expected. Exports, 32,424 bu; receipts, 198,025 bu. Spot quiet but held higher; No. 2 red, f. o. b., afloat, at July price to ½c over; No. 1 hard, 5⅞c over. The exports of wheat today from the four chief Atlantic ports were 65,506 bu, against 186,045 bu a year ago. Corn—Exports, 58,030 bu; receipts, 51,025 bu. Spot quiet but firmly held, exporters taking 10,000 bu No. 2 at ¾c under July in elevator; 5,000 bu do afloat, ½c over July; 1,300 bu yellow at 57½c; 32,000 bu steamer do at 56½c; steamer mixed, f. o. b., afloat, 1⅜c over July. Futures higher. Oats—Exports, 1,354 bu; receipts, 122,400 bu. Spot salable at firmer figures. Sales: 10,000 bu No. 2 white at 36¼@37¼c; May do, 37c; 12,000 bu No. 2 mixed at 32¾@33¼c; 14,000 bu ungraded at 36¼@43½c for white and 32@34c for mixed. Futures firmer and in fair demand. Butter—In fancy fresh creamery there is an unsettled tone with a light jobbing demand; receipts larger; creamery, Elgin, and other Western extras, 19c; do Western, seconds to firsts, 15@18c; Western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 10@15c; Western dairy firsts, 12@18c; do, thirds to seconds, 8@10c; Western factory, tubs, firsts, 10@11c; do, seconds, 8½@9½c; do, thirds, 7@8c.

Cheese—State, full cream, large size, white, choice, 7c.

Eggs—Although the receipts are still heavy, the market shows a more settled and stronger tone; Western, northerly sections, prime to fancy, 13@13½c.

Sugars—Raws were quiet at unchanged prices; centrifugal, 96 test, at 3⅜c; muscovado, 89 test, at 3c; and molasses sugar, 89 test, at 2 11-16c; refined steady but quiet.

Cotton—The first transactions were made at a decline of 2 to 5 points, which was subsequently recovered, and the market closed quiet at generally unchanged quotations from yesterday's final figures. The early depression was in answer to a decline of 1-32d in spot cotton at Liverpool, in which the market sales amounted to only 7,000 bales, with the tone easy and the future market 3-64@4-64d lower, closing quiet but steady at a net decline of about 2-64d from last night's prices. During the afternoon the market recovered the early decline, but there was very little legitimate commission business done. A large business done in Liverpool spot. Middling uplands, 3 27-32d. Futures opened quiet and unchanged; closed quiet at 1½@2 points decline. Manchester—Yarns quiet but steady. Sales of 827 bales for consumption, 1,148 for export, and 800 on contract. Middling uplands quoted at 7 5-16c and do gulf at 7 9-16c. Today's sales:

Coffee—At the outset the contract market was quiet at 5 points decline. Trading was slow and featureless. During the afternoon September and October advanced 10 points, while the rest of the list ruled steady. Havre opened ¼f lower, later in the day recovered the loss again, and closed steady at last evening's final figures. Hamburg was steady to ¼pfg lower. Receipts at Brazilian ports were 14,000 bags [two days]. The Rio market was firm at 50 reis decline and Santos firm at 100 reis advance. Rate of exchange at Rio was quoted at 9 3-16d. American warehouse deliveries yesterday were 27,831 bags. American visible supply, 569,202 bags. Today's sales:

Dry goods—Agents have advanced the price of Fitchville 36-inch bleached cottons to 5¾c and golden chain and Southern silk plaids ¼c each. Printing cloths in better demand than sales, and only 10,000 pieces 64 squares, spots and Junes, sold at 2 13-16c. Denims and other colored cottons in better demand and sales. Bleached cottons have attracted more attention. Export controls a large proportion of cotton goods, especially drills, up to September. The tone of the market for all kinds of staple goods is steady to firm.

Cottonseed oil—Slow, but sellers indifferent; exporters' bids lower; small local demand met at quotations.

No ocean grain freight engagements reported.

BOSTON, Mass., May 28.—The wool market here remains unchanged, with lighter sales of anything, prices remaining nominally the same, although dealers are loath to miss a sale. It is the general impression here that an advance in prices will shortly make its advent, but many cannot see upon what to make its basis. New crops are coming but not to any great extent. Indiana wools are in the market but are not selling freely. Territory wools in the market do not seem to move as prices are too high. The sales of Australian wools have been remarkably quiet this week, but prices are still firm. The following are the prices for leading descriptions: Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces, XX and above, 16@16½c; X and above, 15@15½c; No. 1 combing, 20c; No. 2 combing, 19@20c; unwashed, 11@12c; X Michigan, 14@14½c; No. 1 Michigan, 17½@18c; Michigan unwashed, 10@10½c; X New York, New Hampshire, and Vermont, 17@17½c; Kentucky and Minnesota quarter-blood combings, 16½@17c; Indiana and Missouri quarter-blood combing, 16@17c; George and Lake, 16½c; Texas spring, fine scoured, 30@31c; Northern spring California, 10@11c; Northern spring California scoured, 28@30c; Australian combing, superfine, 41@42c; Australian combing, good, 38@40c; Queensland clothing and combing, 32@38c; no Illinois wool on the market.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 28.—Damage reports about wheat, corn, and oats came in early today, and some of them were from the Northwest. The hot wind reported from South Dakota yesterday reached here today, and made traders more responsive to news that came from Nebraska and Iowa, where hot winds were claimed to be doing great damage. In the face of these reports wheat held easy and fairly steady until within an hour of the close, when Ring reports gave the market a new start. July opened 1¼c higher than the close yesterday, at 80⅛c. For two hours there was a constant fluctuation between 79½c and 80⅛c. The last few minutes developed a stronger market, and July closed at 81c. The trade in futures was fair, not heavy. Receipts of wheat, 151 cars.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 28.—Wheat extremely nervous and unsettled, opening ¾c higher, ran up ⅝c more, declined 1⅜c, and recovered most of this loss, but again relapsed; late turned strong, advancing 2c, closing 1⅜@1⅞c above yesterday; No. 2 red cash, 82½c; May, 82½c bid; July, 82@82¼c; August, 80⅞c; September, 80⅞c. Corn firm, closing at 1¼c above yesterday; No. 2 mixed, cash, 51¼c; May, 52c asked; July, 53⅜c asked; September, 54⅞c. Oats advanced on reports of damage to crops, closing strong, 1¼@1⅜c higher than yesterday; spot steady; No. 2 cash, 29c asked; May, 29⅜c asked; June, 29½c bid; July, 30⅛c; September, 30⅞c asked. FINANCIAL DOINGS IN LONDON.

Stock Markets Dull and Idle, Mining Shares Flat, Americans Lower.

LONDON, May 28.—The local stock markets were idle and dull today. Mining shares were flat on Paris sales. Americans were generally lower. The financial press is advancing sales on the view that the past improvement was mainly due to the bond syndicate's protection and operations, but the best opinions look for no severe reaction.

SOLD BONDS ABROAD.

SALE OF $1,200,000 WATER BONDS TO ENGLISH INVESTORS.

Municipal Investment Company Has Sold Nearly $1,500,000 Bonds in Great Britain —Bull Market Continues in Local Stocks —Broad and Active Trading and Sharply Advancing Quotations—Public Is Beginning to Take Hold of the Market in Earnest.

The Municipal Investment company has just completed the sale in England of $1,200,000 5 per cent bonds of a single issue. They are the bonds of the Consolidated Water company of San Diego. The Municipal Investment company recently purchased the San Diego Flume company and the San Diego Water company. Those two corporations were a few days ago consolidated under the title of the Consolidated Water Company of San Diego. The capital of the new company is $2,000,000, and an issue of $2,000,000 5 per cent bonds has been made. Of those bonds a single block of $800,000 was placed in England immediately after the consolidation of the two companies, ten days ago, and now $400,000 more have been sold, making a total of $1,200,000, which go into the strong boxes of the British investors.

As illustrating the changed attitude of English capital towards American investments it is interesting to note the following list of bonds which have been sold abroad within the last few weeks by the Municipal Investment company:

Consolidated Water Co. San Diego 5s	$1,200,000
Cochise Co., Ari., 7s	10,000
Fresno Water Co. Calif. 6s	7,000
Chicago Gas Co. 5s	5,000
Chicago Railway Terminal Elevator Co. 6s	40,000
Santa Fé Water and Improvement 6s	16,000
Stockton Water Co. Calif. 6s	28,000
Santa Fé Gas and Electric Co. 6s	21,000
Terre Haute Water Co. 6s	20,000
Marshall, Mo., Water Co. 6s	2,000
Pekin, Ill., Water Co. 6s	2,000
Street's Stable Car Line 7s	14,000
Cicero, Ill., assessment vouchers	10,000
Western Gas Co.	5,000
Metropolitan Ferry Co. 5s	50,000
City of Vancouver 6s	15,000
American Dock and Improvement Co. 5s	27,000
Total	$1,472,000

The bull market continues. Opening prices were at a sharp advance, and the advance was more than maintained. The market was again broad and active. Public interest is steadily increasing. Stocks are being bought, paid for, and taken out of the market. The elements of the genuine bull campaign seem to be in the situation.

West Chicago closed Monday at 132 for the second account. It opened at 133 regular yesterday, with the second account at 133¾. The June account touched 134, and there was active trading in that option at 133⅝, many hundred shares being sold at that price. The stock closed at 133⅝ for the second account, and the tone of the market was firm.

There are people who are satisfied with the profit they have made and are willing some one else shall make the further rise. There are a few actual holders who carried the stocks down from high prices to the bottom, and now that they can see daylight are ready to realize. The exceedingly small number of actual transfers of certificates indicates that there is no general letting go of investment holdings, however. There are a few adventuresome bears who think a reaction is due after so sharp an advance, but the short interest is not important. As against those sellers there are a lot of buyers who have made up their minds that the market offers possibilities of much higher prices. Comparisons with old-time figures are beginning to be heard. One is told that in May, 1892, when the company was paying only 7 per cent dividends the stock sold at 151; in June it sold at 169; in July at 194, and in August, with the dividend still at 7 per cent, West Chicago stock sold at 232¼. With figures like those dancing before the eyes of the new bulls, with all the indefinite but glittering promises of improvement from the electric roads, and with the certainty that elevated competition is to cut a small figure, present quotations look exceedingly low to some of the people who are now coming into the market. It is not surprising that after an advance so sharp as the present there are a good many traders ready to take profits, but there is unquestionably a rapidly growing bull party that has got some exceedingly exalted ideas as to the possibilities of the market, and it will not be surprising to see them run away with it.

North Side continues dull, but does not fail to make its daily advance. The quotation touched 295 yesterday. The closing price was 294¼.

The general market had a number of advances to show. The industrials continue to develop strength. The boasts of the Diamond Match bulls that the stock is to be put to 140 this week were in a measure realized, a quotation of 137 being made. The stock closed at 136⅛ for the second account and 135 regular. Strawboard is decidedly strong. It got up to 45⅝ for the June account and closed at the top, with the price for regular following close after the account. New York Biscuit again advanced sharply, and the advance brought out only a few scattering shares. The stock sold up to 73½, and, like many others, closed at the top.

Throughout all the activity and strength in the general market the elevated stocks passed unnoticed. Transactions were few and quotations heavy. There was little demand for Metropolitan bonds, and considerable quiet bull talk is beginning to be heard on Metropolitan securities generally. The friends of those securities argue that the present quotation for the stock is really on a basis as low as if default had been made on the interest, while as a matter of fact the traffic is steadily increasing, and, considering the small portion of the system as yet in operation, is entirely satisfactory.

Members of the State Bankers' Association have been asked to canvass the views of their clients on the silver question and be prepared to give an idea of the silver sentiment of the State at the Rock Island convention next Tuesday.

The sterling market was unchanged and without feature.

It will probably be some days before any statement of the affairs of Crawford & Valentine is made public. The receiver is unable to come to any satisfactory understanding of the New York account, and until that can be untangled no statement will be made. The amount involved in the failure does not appear to decrease as the investigation proceeds.

The current issue of the New York Financial Chronicle is accompanied with the street railway supplement, which contains complete information regarding every street railway corporation in the country. The present number contains several interesting articles bearing on street railway investments in addition to the statistics.

DECLINE NOTED IN GRANGER STOCKS.

Unfavorable Crop Reports from the West Tend to Depress Shares.

NEW YORK, May 28.—[Special.]—Interest in stock circles today turned chiefly on reports from the West in regard to the condition of winter wheat. Chicago sent numerous telegrams of damage by hot and dry winds, and a grain firm at Toledo gave out a synopsis of returns from 4,500 dealers which indicated about half a crop in six winter wheat States. This was sufficient to revive the bull element in wheat and to start a selling movement in the granger stocks that resulted in a decline of about 1½ in Rock Island, St. Paul, and Burlington and Quincy before the end of the day. Holders of railway shares, of course, do not believe that the wheat crop is damaged to anything like the extent that Chicago grain speculators give out, or the decline today would have been of a much more pronounced character. London contributed to the weaker feeling here by sending lower quotations for Americans. While the grangers were the most active features of the railways, the declines were more pronounced in some other stocks. The sharp decline in sugar was almost wholly due to efforts to liquidate by outside speculators. The decline in leather stock was presumably caused by inside selling. Renewed selling of Susquehanna and Western stock was accompanied by reports that the company had found its new guarantees burdensome, and it was also freely reported that the present President will soon retire from the management of the company. Brokers usually regarded as bear traders were the principal sellers of Manhattan. There was no news in regard to the property, and the selling was believed to be liquidation for the account of a professional operator who was active recently in advancing the price of the stock.

Money on call easy at 1@1½ per cent; last loan, 1½; closed, 1½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 2½@3½ per cent. INSURANCE AFFAIRS.

NEW CONDITIONS A FEATURE OF ONE OF LLOYDS' POLICIES.

Suits Against the Attorneys and Managers to Be Accepted by Subscribers as Fixing Their Individual Responsibility—Many Lloyds Now Pay Commissions—New York Companies Watching the Bowery-Palatine Tangle—Testimony in the Pope Murder Case at Detroit.

One of the fire Lloyds of New York has adopted a new feature in its policies which overcomes one of the principal objections heretofore raised against Lloyds. Under the terms of their policies suit against the attorneys is the same as if brought against each underwriter separately, and each underwriter agrees to abide the result of any suit so brought, as fixing his individual responsibility thereunder. There is no reason why such conditions should not apply in all Lloyds policies. Trouble has been experienced in the past where there has been a dispute over a loss, in that suit would have to be brought against every subscriber to the Lloyds.

There was a sample of this difficulty in a recent dispute over a loss in which a Lloyds was interested. Suit was brought against one of the subscribers and judgment rendered for the assured. The amount of the claim was $1,000 and there were 100 subscribers. The court held the individual subscriber was liable only for his proportion of the loss, which was $10. In order to obtain the full amount of the loss it would have been necessary for the policy-holder to have sued each subscriber individually, and the result was the policy-holder became disgusted and would have dropped the matter had the Lloyds not offered to compromise. Another feature of the new policy is the stipulation that in the event of loss the company will accept and pay on the adjustment accepted by the majority of companies interested and having authorized agencies in the State in which the loss occurs.

Many of the Lloyds are making offers of commissions for business written. Commissions to agents is the great bugaboo on which many of the Lloyds have secured business. Where commissions are offered by these associations there is not much left on which to base an argument in their favor.

WILL HAVE TO KEEP ITS AGREEMENT.

New York Companies Interested in the Palatine-Bowery Tangle.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—All the companies are interestedly awaiting the outcome of the Palatine-Bowery tangle, but nothing officially in regard to the matter is reported. It is now firmly believed the Palatine will have to adhere to the terms of its reinsurance and carry the Bowery business.

The recent changes in two of the fire insurance companies here have led to a recapitulation among insurance circles of the companies that have reinsured and retired during the last year. It is computed that of the companies engaged in fire, life, and casualty insurance there have been four stock, three mutuals, and four Lloyds which have dissolved.

Manager Mullinghouse of the Mannheim is expected here from Europe this week.

SWINDLER HOLMES PLEADS GUILTY.

Man Who Palmed Off a Bogus Corpse Admits It in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 28.—The trial of Herman Mudgett, alias H. P. Holmes, alias Howard, on the charge of conspiring to defraud the Fidelity Mutual Life Association out of $10,000 by the imposition of a corpse as that of Benjamin F. Pietzel, was brought to an abrupt ending today when the prisoner pleaded guilty. Sentence was deferred.

Testimony in the Pope Murder Case.

Detroit, Mich., May 28.—Insurance agents representing various life concerns took the witness state in Mrs. Pope's murder trial today. They testified to a number of policies taken out by Mrs. Pope upon her husband's life. In one or two instances it was shown the policies were canceled because the insurance men believed Mrs. Pope had designs upon her husband's life.

Spaulding's Jewelry Store Fire.

The fire in Spaulding & Co.'s jewelry store caused damage of from $2,500 to $3,000, principally confined to the stationery department. There was a total of $425,500 insurance on the stock of Spaulding & Co., $35,000 on the furniture and fixtures of the firm, and $70,000 on the building, which is owned by Levi Z. Leiter. The damage to the building was slight.

Insurance Notes.

Dyer & Rassman have been appointed agents at Indianapolis for the Phenix of Brooklyn, succeeding Zenas & Co.

The Niagara has now withdrawn entirely from the Pacific coast and it will write no more business there until affairs become more settled.

A fear was entertained by some of the insurance men in San Francisco that the troubles there might cause a suspension of the patrol service. It will be continued as before.

State Superintendent of Insurance Durfee has granted a permit to the Mercantile Mutual Accident Association of Boston, Mass., to transact an accident insurance in this State under the assessment plan, with headquarters in Chicago.

Crop-killing Hot Winds.

It looks as if everything was conspiring to kill off this wheat crop. When it isn't the chinch-bug or Hessian fly it's the rust or the spring drought. When it isn't the frost it's the hot, dry winds.

Rains which were promised did not materialize anywhere, but everywhere over the West and the Northwest there are terrible hot winds, which are fast drying up the little moisture left. Throughout Iowa and Kansas the temperature is above 90 in many cases and a red-hot south wind is blowing 40 miles an hour, with no prospects of rain.

A general hot wind-storm seems to be prevailing throughout the Mississippi Valley and West as far as the Missouri River, and should it continue tomorrow it will do far more damage to the already drought-stricken winter wheat fields than frosts or insects have done.

If we should have hot weather with no rains today and also Thursday, which is a holiday, the excitement bottled up that day because of no session of the Board ought to break loose in a big advance of 2c or 3c on the opening Friday morning.

WE LOOK FOR AN ADVANCE TODAY TO THE HIGHEST POINT ON THIS CROP. Nothing but general rains can prevent it, and if you find it bright and hot this morning YOU WILL DO WELL TO TELEGRAPH US AN ORDER TO BUY WHEAT and transfer us a 3c or 4c margin by wire.

Nothing will so surely set the country to buying again in large chunks as hot weather and high winds. We advise getting in now on liberal margins and holding for a 5c advance. WE BELIEVE WHEAT WILL GO TO 90C ON THIS SPURT.

INFAMY IN THEIR ACT

DEMOCRATS UNITE TO DEFEAT THE FRONTAGE CONSENT BILL.

The Measure Is Laid on the Table in the Senate—Well-Defined Story That They Are Willing to Trade It for the Humphrey Racing Bill—Littler's Revenue Measure Defeated—To Prevent a Repetition of the Danville Tragedy—General News of the Assembly.

Springfield, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—The general situation down here is mixed, and it is pretty hard to tell the exact conditions of affairs. It seems as if the House had fallen out with the Senate, and as if the Governor was not in accord with the Legislature in the main. The session is pretty well along toward the finish. The House has about eight or nine working days at the outside in which to wind up its business, and the indications are tonight that outside of the appropriations but few Senate bills will pass the House, and but a dozen or so of the House bills will get through the Senate.

The House appears to be moving along peacefully enough and today transacted an unusual amount of important business. The Senate was lively enough from start to finish. It led off with killing Mr. Littler's revenue bill, a measure for which the gentleman has faithfully worked ever since the session began. Next came Lowenthal's bill, requiring gas and electric companies to secure consent of the owners of a majority of the frontage of each mile or fraction of a mile before permission could be obtained from a City Council to lay gas pipes or string electric wires. At last night's session Mr. Littler, who was in the chair, received this bill with favorable report from the committee. Senator Mahoney objected because no quorum was present. To day the matter was brought up on the floor and the result of it all was the bill was practically laid on the table, the Senate refusing to concur in the report of the committee. This action was considerable of a surprise and has been the sensation of today. The roll-call which tabled the bill was the climax of the proceedings. The Democrats lined up in favor of the proposition to table and some Republicans went with them. The question was: "Shall the Senate concur in the report of the committee?" The votes in the affirmative were therefore in favor of the bill and those in the negative against it. Anthony, Canan, Kingsbury, McCloud, Munroe, and Willoughby, Republicans, voted with the Democrats on this proposition.

Bogardus Loses His Voice.

Senator Bogardus was out of the chamber when the roll was being called. As the verification was being made he came down to his seat. He was importuned by some of his Republican brethren to vote and uphold the report of the committee. Not a moment was to be lost as it was a question of seconds. Senator Mahoney and O'Brien ran over to where Bogardus was sitting endeavoring to keep him from voting at all. In this work they were assisted by Senator Anthony, who sits next to Senator Bogardus. But the Senator from Ford couldn't be made to understand what was going on. He seemed not to grasp the situation. His vote would probably have saved the frontage bill on this occasion, but he lost his voice and up it went to Lieut.-Gov. Gill, a tie at 23 votes on each side. Mr. Gill hesitated a second, and by virtue of his prerogative as Lieutenant-Governor voted in the negative and the battle was over.

All of this has made bad blood and ill feeling. Some of the Republicans think that Bogardus lost a chance to be Lieut.-Governor when he lost his voice and the affair has shaken up the Senate. The fact that all the Democrats lined up against the measure is proof positive to many that Gov. Altgeld's hand is in the fight. He vetoed the other frontage bill and probably would just as soon this would not come to him, thus relieving him of any embarrassment. If the bill had gotten to the Governor tomorrow a few days would have been left in which the Legislature might have tried to pass it over his veto if he killed it. If it goes to him any day after this week he can hold it until the session shall have adjourned and then do as he pleased with it without any fear of retaliation. That is one phase of the situation.

Soon after the Senate met this morning it was understood in some quarters that the frontage bill, which is a House measure, might get the worst of it at the hands of some of the Democratic Senators unless assurance were given that the House would pass the Humphrey pool bill. This came from the Democratic side of the chamber and from men who worked for and voted for the Humphrey bill. The offer of reciprocity was indignantly refused.

It May Have Much to Do with It.

This well-defined story may have some bearing on the situation. Whether or not anything will be done with the frontage bill now remains to be seen. It is not in good shape tonight and its temporary defeat may, in addition to the reasons above given, be ascribed to some of the Chicago Aldermen and some Chicago officeholders who have been knifing this bill and the Crawford bills at every opportunity.

E. H. Pitkin, Samuel W. Packard, Edward Payson, O. W. Herrick, and J. M. Allen, gentlemen doing business in Chicago and residing in Oak Park, are here fighting the Humphrey race track bill. They say the Humphrey bill is dead, and base their belief on careful polls made of the House. They fear, however, that the bill will be amended by the elimination of the foreign book clause and a reduction from ninety to thirty days in the period in which racing is allowed on each track. They seem to think that an effort will be made to force a bill of this character through the Legislature as a compromise measure. The better opinion seems to be that the Legislature will not pass a racing bill of any description. The bill is in the Committee on Live Stock and Dairying, of which William Thiemann is Chairman. It will not be smuggled out of the committee when that body meets to discuss it. An opportunity will be given to the parties in interest to make addresses, and the fight, if one comes at all, will, according to assurances of some of the best men in the General Assembly, occur in open committee meeting and on the floor of the House.

County Civil Service Announced.

It begins to look as if the Cook County Board was going to have a civil service shop of its own. The board itself is much divided on the proposition. Commissioners Struckman, Kunstman, and others do not want the bill. President Healy and some of his friends do. The bill as drawn gives the President of the board a vast deal of power, and would be of considerable moment to the incumbent of the office. County Treasurer Kochersperger, Congressman Lorimer, T. N. Jamieson, and two or three others are here looking after the measure. This afternoon the bill was advanced to third reading in the House after a sharp fight, led by Lowenthal. The bill was called up by Mr. Cochran, Chairman of the Committee on Civil Service, who wanted a suspension of the rules to bring about its consideration on second reading. Mr. Lowenthal objected and with the assistance of his friends got a roll-call. Seventy-four votes were recorded in the affirmative and twelve in the negative. This brought the bill before the House and Lowenthal led off with an amendment making the bill apply to the employés of the Sheriff, County Treasurer, County Clerk, Clerks of courts, and reporters. Lowenthal did his best in favor of this amendment and was followed by Miller of Cook, who was opposed to the changes suggested by Mr. Lowenthal. Mr. Miller advanced the idea that the amendment was unconstitutional and had been so declared by Judge Tuley. He made a motion that the amendment be laid on the table, and the House—by a vote of yeas 52, nays 31—so ordered. The bill was then advanced to third reading, and it will be put upon its passage in a day or two. The County Board of Cook, in the main, seems to be behind it and is bringing all the pressure possible to bear in its behalf.

To Make the Punishment Death.

The frightful tragedy, if it may be so termed, at Danville early Saturday morning brought forth fruit in the House today. No sooner had the journal been read than Representative Bailey, who comes from the Danville district, offered, by unanimous consent, a bill amending the criminal code so as to make the crime of rape punishable by death. The presentation of the bill created a decided sensation in the House, and the utmost silence prevailed while it was being read. Mr. Bailey asked that the rules be suspended and the bill made a special order for tomorrow morning on second reading. To this Representative Perry of Brown made an objection. This gentleman is opposed to any additions to the list of criminal offenses punishable by death, and on that account made a vigorous fight the other day in opposition to the Bogardus train robbery bill. Mr. Bailey, however, was pertinacious, and on his motion the rules were suspended and the bill made a special order for tomorrow morning immediately after the reading of the journal. It will probably pass the House.

Gov. Altgeld makes the assertion that he has pardoned a smaller percentage of criminals than any of his predecessors. This is merely an adroit form of special pleading. Leaving out all question of veracity in the Governor's statement, his defense is weak and puerile. Enormity of offense is of more importance than mere numbers in the exercise of the pardoning power, and no Executive has ever approached John Pardon Altgeld in the reckless use of the Gubernatorial prerogative in turning loose upon the community men convicted of serious and heinous crimes.

Important Commercial Bills Pass.

Two exceedingly important measures in the shape of Senate bills were passed by the House today. They are of particular interest to the commercial world, and to some extent make the laws of various States uniform on the topics embraced in the bills. One measure abolishes days of grace on notes. The other provides in effect that an indorser of a promissory note is jointly liable with the maker, and may be sued when default is made in payment. The bills are short and easily comprehended. Representative Schwab of Cook did much to secure their passage by the House.

Senator Crawford's elevated railroad and street railway bills, which were a special order on the question of concurring in the Governor's veto message thereon, were postponed in the Senate until tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Senator Mahoney's motion to reconsider the vote by which Senator Crawford's dog license bill was defeated last week was a special order and prevailed by a vote of yeas, 31; nays, 3. On Senator Crawford's motion the bill was placed on second reading and made a special order for tomorrow immediately after the reading of the journal.

Senator Aspinwall called up the oleomargarine bill reported by a message from the House and obtained a suspension of the rules to have the bill read a first time. Senator Crawford's motion to have the bill referred to the Committee on Agriculture was defeated.

Senator Hamer's bill to limit the right to license dramshops, providing that no license shall be issued within four miles of State institutions, was amended by Senator Green to except all State institutions except Champaign University. The bill was advanced to third reading.

In the House Mr. Callahan called up his bill revising the election law. All the committee amendments, about forty in number, were adopted. Most of them were of small importance. Mr. Kitzmiller offered an amendment, which was adopted, providing that it shall not be necessary to publish the ballot in any newspaper for any town or municipal election. Mr. Stoskopf offered an amendment providing for the selection of judges of election by the County Board, three for each precinct, not more than two of them to be of the same political party. The amendment was voted down. The bill was then ordered to third reading.

The following appropriation bills were called up by Mr. Needles and passed:

The committee bill appropriating $404,000 to the University of Illinois.

Ingersoll's bill, appropriating $180,000 per annum for two years to provide for the ordinary and contingent expenses of the Illinois National Guard and providing that "one battalion of four companies of infantry shall be mustered into service of the Illinois National Guard to be enlisted from colored citizens."

The committee bill making an appropriation of $55,000 for the Illinois Industrial Home for the Blind at Chicago.

Calls Needles a Liar.

Mr. Needles from the Committee on Appropriations made an adverse report on the Senate bill making an appropriation for the erection of a monument to the memory of James Marquette, the explorer. Mr. Needles defended the action of the Appropriation committee in making an unfavorable report on the bill. He said the committee had taken a business view of the matter; it was decided that this was not the proper time to go into the monument business. "There are thousands of men," he declared, "who deserve a monument more than Marquette—such men as Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett and hundreds of others."

In the course of his remarks Mr. Needles repeatedly alluded to Marquette as "Father Marquette." This was objected to by Mr. Hogan. "It is not Father Marquette," he indignantly protested, "it is Pierre Marquette."

"It is Father Marquette," retorted Mr. Needles.

"You lie," shouted Mr. Hogan, bringing down his fist on his desk. "I say it is Pierre Marquette."

"Be careful," Mr. Needles admonished Mr. Hogan, "or you may find you have wakened up the wrong passenger."

Continuing his speech, Mr. Needles said he held in his hand historical testimony that Marquette was not the head of the expedition; that Joliet was the leader, and that Marquette was merely a follower. If there was any monument to be erected it should be to Joliet.

Mr. Revell's motion to non-concur in the report of the committee was then put and declared lost. Hogan and two or three others then demanded the yeas and nays, but the call came too late, as the decision had already been announced.

Mr. Hogan was at once surrounded by a number of members, who wanted to know why he had used such language in his dialogue with Mr. Needles. He said Mr. Needles by referring to Marquette as "Father" Marquette was trying to appeal to the prejudices of the A. P. A. members of the House, and it was for that reason that he objected.

The House Committee on Judiciary this afternoon ordered favorable report on a Senate bill prohibiting owners of elevators from dealing in receipts for grain stored in their own houses. This bill was amended when on second reading in the Senate by a clause which it is alleged by the friends of the bill virtually killed it. The House committee this afternoon eliminated the clause in question and ordered the bill sent to the House with amendment.

The House Committee on Appropriations ordered a favorable report on the Senate bill appropriating $25,000 for the erection at Alton of a monument to the memory of Elijah P. Lovejoy, and the Senate bill appropriating $20,000 for the erection of a soldiers' widows' home.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS.

Reduced Passenger Rates, Hanging Bill, and Woman Suffrage Defeated.

Lansing, Mich., May 28.—[Special.]—The Senate today tabled for the session the Robinson bill reducing passenger rates on the Upper Peninsula railroads from four to three cents per mile by a vote of 17 to 9. Both Houses passed the general budget bill providing for the general expenses of the State government, appropriating $1,900,000 for 1895 and $1,171,000 for 1896. This will make the total tax levy for the two years approximate $4,500,000. Another attempt was made in the House to pass the hanging bill, but it failed by a vote of 47 to 47. A similar fate befell the resolution submitting the question of woman's suffrage to the people, the resolution coming within three votes of passing. The Congressional reapportionment bill, which passed the House Wednesday, died in the Senate committee.

The Senate confirmed the following nominations of the Governor:

Member of State Live Stock Sanitary Commission—H. H. Hinds of Stanton.

Members of the State Board of Health—Aaron V. McAlvay of Manistee and Delos Fall of Albion.

Members of State Mining School Board—John M. Longyear and Alfred Kidder of Marquette.

Members of Board of Control of the School for the Deaf and Dumb—Charles S. Brown of Flint and W. S. Spear of Vassar.

Guardian of Industrial Home for Girls—Frank W. Waite of Sturgis.

Both Houses adjourned for the session at midnight.

Reunion of "The Logan 103."

Springfield, Ill., May 28.—"The Logan 103" held its biennial reunion tonight. A reception and a business meeting were held in the parlors of the Leland Hotel from 7 to 8 o'clock. At the business meeting the following officers were elected: President, William E. Mason, Chicago; Vice-President, T. S. Chapman, Jerseyville; Secretary and Treasurer, W. F. Calhoun, Decatur; Necrologist, T. C. MacMillan, Chicago; Chaplain, the Rev. A. G. Goodspeed, Minonk. At 8 o'clock exercises were held in Representative Hall at the State House, Senator Charles Bogardus of Paxton, the retiring President, presiding, at which addresses were made by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Ingles, ex-Senator George E. Bacon of Aurora, T. C. MacMillan of Chicago, M. F. Calhoun of Decatur, William E. Mason of Chicago, and others.

LONGSTREET IS HERE.

FAMOUS OLD CONFEDERATE GENERAL REACHES CHICAGO.

Accompanied by His Two Daughters He Comes to Attend the Decoration Day Ceremonies, Which Include the Dedication of the Confederate Monument in Oakwoods—Carloads of Beautiful Southern Flowers Is Received—Various Arrangements for the Day Are Made.

Lieut.-Gen. James Longstreet and his two daughters, Mrs. Sanders and Miss Longstreet, arrived in Chicago at 5 o'clock last night to attend the dedication of the Confederate monument, and later in the evening several other Southerners registered at the various hotels. Gen. Longstreet and his party were taken to the Palmer House, and owing to the fact that the veteran was considerably worn out and fatigued from his long trip from Gainesville, Ga., he immediately retired to his apartments for a rest. His welcome was a pathetic one, as he was met at the depot by a number of men who had fought under his leadership during the dark days of the rebellion. Among the other guests who arrived in the city yesterday was Mrs. Katie Cabell Currie of Texas, daughter of Gen. Cabell, and Col. R. Sheridan, Harbormaster of Mobile, Ala., who is a delegate from Admiral Semmes Camp of the United Confederate Veterans. He is a guest of Kirk Eastman.

Headquarters United Confederate Veterans,
Chicago, Ills. May 15, 1895.

The pleasure of your presence is requested at the Dedication of the Confederate Monument in Oakwoods Cemetery, Chicago: the morning of May 30, 1895.

Jno. C. Underwood,
Major General Commanding.

INVITATION TO DEDICATION OF CONFEDERATE MONUMENT IN OAKWOODS.

The only new feature that developed yesterday regarding the program of tomorrow's exercises was the invitation extended to George S. Knapp to have the Columbian Liberty Bell participate in the exercises. As a result it was arranged that the Liberty Bell will be placed on the Lake-Front before 8 o'clock tomorrow morning and will ring as the guests leave the Palmer House on their way to Oakwoods Cemetery. The sounding the bell will be the signal for Battery D, under command of Capt. Russell, to fire its salute in honor of the day and occasion.

Lieut.-Gens. John B. Gordon, Wade Hampton, and Fitzhugh Lee will arrived today, as will also a special car from Washington over the Baltimore and Ohio road bearing the following guests:

Gens. Eppa Hunton, Butler, Heth and wife, Conrad and wife, French, Lomax and wife, Wright and wife, H. Kyd Douglas, Mrs. Akers, Capt. Littlepage and wife, Col. Irwin, Maj. Hunten, Miss Armstrong, Miss Eliza Washington, Miss Cox, the Misses Mitchell, and others.

Two carloads of flowers from the South, to decorate the graves of the Union and Confederate dead at Oakwoods, have already arrived. One of these came in yesterday over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad and consisted of every variety of flower that grows in the South at this season of the year. This car came from Atlanta.

The committee having the banquet at Kinsley's tonight in charge reports that there will be a large attendance and wishes it understood no applications for tickets will be honored after 12 o'clock today. All applications today must be tendered to Col. Henry L. Turner, No. 90 Dearborn street.

The Knights of Pythias Decoration day will honor the memories of the heroes of the cold storage fire who are buried in Oakwoods Cemetery. Hyde Park Lodge, No. 379, of which Burton E. Page and James A. Garvey, two of the firemen, were members, last year inaugurated the practice of commemorating Decoration day by strewing flowers on the graves of its dead. A parade, headed by a company of police and two companies of firemen, will leave the castle hall of Hyde Park Lodge, Fifty-third street and Jefferson avenue, at 10 a. m. and proceed to Oakwoods, where the ceremonies will begin at 10:30.

The following Memorial day proclamation was issued by Mayor Swift yesterday:

"Whereas, the 30th inst. will be observed as Memorial day throughout the United States, therefore, I, George B. Swift, Mayor, do hereby proclaim said day a holiday in and for the City of Chicago. All departments of the city government will be closed on that day, with the exception of the Police, Fire, and Health Departments, which will remain open for the transaction of all necessary and unavoidable business."

The final committee meetings on Decoration day exercises were held yesterday morning and afternoon in Col. Henry L. Turner's office to complete the details of the arrangements in connection with the ceremonies pertaining to the dedication of the Confederate monument. The following committees were appointed.

Reception—Ferdinand W. Peck, Chairman; Malcom McNeill, R. L. Henry, R. A. Waller, Gilbert B. Shaw.

Arrangements—R. A. Waller, Gen. John C. Underwood, Henry L. Turner.

Banquet—Alexander H. Revell, W. D. Kerfoot, Gilbert B. Shaw.

The Reception committee will meet the train load of visitors from Washington and other cities at the Union Depot at 11 a. m. today and escort them to the Palmer House, where a reception will be given the visitors by the Committee of 150 at 5:30 p. m. In the evening they will attend the banquet at Kinsley's. The Arrangement committee will manage the ceremonies at Oakwoods Cemetery. The work of distributing and arranging the several carloads of flowers sent from the Southern cities has already commenced. The Committee on Arrangements will also attend to the management of the reception to Union and Confederate soldiers Thursday evening at the First Regiment Armory.

Lyon Post, G. A. R., will decorate Lincoln's monument in Lincoln Park at 11 o'clock. Col. W. G. Bentley will deliver the address.

WHERE IS NELLIE STAMBOUGH?

Police Are Interested in a Suspected Quack Doctor.

Nellie Stambough, or Stanhup, a domestic employed by Mrs. Benjamin Lloyd, Seventy-fifth street and Madison avenue, disappeared Saturday morning, and the police have not succeeded in finding any trace of her. They are also looking for a quack doctor who was in South Chicago three weeks ago, and with whom the girl is thought to have run away under promise of a position. She is 15 years of age, five feet six inches tall, and weighs about 140 pounds. She is dark in complexion, blue eyes, short brown curly hair, and wore a gray suit, red felt hat, and lace shoes. She is an orphan and came from Terre Haute a year ago.

SOCIETY.

Mrs. J. G. Coleman, No. 18 Ritchie place, gave a dinner last evening for the Misses Stevenson of Philadelphia. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cobb, Frank Stevenson, and William Farquhar.

Miss Bessie Chase, No. 3401 Michigan avenue, gave a luncheon yesterday for her bridesmaids. Miss Fargo, No. 2247 Michigan avenue, will give a luncheon today for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Skinner Lansing gave a musical soirée last evening at Kimball Hall. They were assisted by Miss Catherine Wells, a pupil of Miss Anna Morgan.

A card party was given last evening at the Carleton club.

Miss Ida Kranz, daughter of Mrs. John Kranz, will give a luncheon Saturday for the graduates of the Kirkland school and their ushers.

Mrs. E. F. Lawrence, No. 56 Lake Shore drive, will give a dinner Friday evening.

Mrs. Paget, daughter of Mrs. Paran Stevens, will return to Europe today. Mrs. Paget, after receiving news of her mother's illness, was unable to reach this country in time to be at the deathbed of her mother. She has remained here until the present in order to settle up the estate. She has arranged for the sale of the contents of the Victoria Hotel and of the personal effects of Mrs. Stevens here and in Newport. Mrs. Paget will probably reside abroad permanently. A board sign at the house at Fifth avenue and Fifty-seventh street, which for three years was the home of Mrs. Paran Stevens, announces that the residence is for rent.

A lovely evening dress shown recently has a shirt and corsage princesse of amber satin, or peau de soie, cut out in similar fashion to the cloth capes so popular of late and adapted upon a foundation of white satin, the design outlined entirely with minute golden spangles. The very full sleeves, to the elbow, are of amber chiffon, and on the left side of the squarely-cut décolletage a posy of deep pink pavots or poppies, with black velvet centers, sets its note of elegant originality. Another pretty gown is of pearl-white satin, with trimmings of white tulle and shaded cornflowers about the corsage.

Mrs. George Sturges will entertain the Erskine-Evans bridal party at Lake Forest today. They will continue her guests until Saturday. A dance will be given Friday evening and a series of luncheons and dinners during the week.

The marriage of Miss Marie Isabelle Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Brown, No. 3965 Lake avenue, to Orville Platt Curran Jr. of Pittsburg will be celebrated this evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents.

Notes of Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyllested are in Paris, at the Continental.

Miss Lillian Drake will spend the summer in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Marks Cummings are at the Chicago Beach Hotel.

Walter L. Milliken of the Windermere has returned from Boston.

Baron and Baroness von Biedenfeld have taken a house at Elmhurst for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bush, No. 606 North State street, sailed on the Augusta Victoria, intending to spend the summer on the continent.

The second annual opening of the Paul Boyton Chute company will be held this afternoon and evening from 2 to 11 o'clock at Sixty-third street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The Evanston King's Daughters will open their fresh air home with an informal reception Saturday from 2 to 6 o'clock. The home has been established for the benefit of the working girls of Chicago, and is located at Lincoln street and Prairie avenue, North Evanston.

AMUSEMENTS.

Friday evening a musical and dramatic recital will be given for the benefit of and in the Central Christian Church, near the corner of Indiana avenue and Thirty-seventh street. Miss Anna Morgan of the Chicago Conservatory and Henry B. Roney, organist and preceptor of Grace Church, have the matter in hand. This is the program:

Voluntary.....
H. B. Roney.

The annual concert of E. A. Weiss' Violin School took place at the Auditorium last evening, Frederic A. Dunster, organist, and Mme. Furst, pianist, assisting. The program comprised ensemble and solo numbers, both vocal and instrumental, and competition for medals, participated in by the students.

Miss Bertha Orlean Lyon, assisted by Miss Pearl Harford, Prof. Kaufman, and the Armour Serenade club, gave a dramatic and musical recital in Soper Hall last evening. A large audience was present. Miss Lyon, who is a well-known elocutionist, added considerably to her reputation.

Vesta Tilley, the young woman who has lately been exciting interest in New York by means of her songs and her masculine attire, will add her specialties next week to "Aladdin Jr.," at the Chicago Opera-House. Her engagement is for a fortnight.

Paul Boyton's "chutes," which afforded so much exhilarating pleasure to Chicago people last summer, will be informally opened today at Sixty-third street and Cottage Grove avenue. Tomorrow the grounds will be thrown open to the public and thereafter the "chutes" will be in operation every day from 2 o'clock in the afternoon to 11 o'clock in the evening, Sundays included. Many improvements are said to have been made in the plant.

ROACH CHARGES SHOOTING TO CAREY.

Second Confession Made in the Duddles Murder Case.

The Duddles murder trial, on hearing yesterday before Judge Burke, duplicated the opening day's sensation. William Roach, one of the defendants, made a confession to the State's Attorney during the progress of the hearing, in which he said the fatal shot was fired by John Carey, who, in a confession made Monday, was as positive Roach did the shooting.

John Carey, who pleaded guilty to murder the day before, had a lively fight for a few minutes in the County Jail shortly before the court opened yesterday. When he was let out of his cell for exercise Carey stepped up to John Burke, who is under sentence for murder, and asked him what he meant by calling him names during the night. Burke denied this and Carey struck Burke in the face. Burke struck back at Carey and they clinched. They were trying to throw each other over the railing from the second balcony when half a dozen guards rushed up to the corridor and separated the men.

When Judge Burke began later the examination of veniremen to hear the charges against Roach and Magee, the prisoner Roach held a whispered consultation with Enoch Harpole, his attorney, who asked the indulgence of the court, and the lawyer and his client went to the private office of the State's Attorney. Inspector Schaack, Detective Bock, and a few policemen were called in. Then Roach, under direction of his attorney, entered upon a statement of his connection with the murder of Policeman Duddles. He was emphatic in the declaration that John Carey, who pleaded guilty, is the man who fired the shot that killed Duddles. Monday Carey was just as positive Roach fired the shot.

When he had finished his recital Roach went before Judge Burke and pleaded guilty after being told that the court could inflict either the death penalty or life imprisonment under the plea. Roach left the court-room smiling. Magee's attorney asked for the latter's discharge on the ground that two men had already pleaded guilty to the murder. The motion was denied and the trial of Magee proceeded.

Dr. Mitchell, the Coroner's physician, was the first witness yesterday in the trial of Leo V. Roeder, charged with the murder of Claude L. Waller, before Judge Tuthill. He described the wound produced by Roeder's revolver. Henry Press, the man whose business affairs caused the dispute which resulted in the shooting of Waller, told the jury about his experience with Roeder.

The way it happened was this: Along in the 14th century a monk starting out on a pilgrimage placed some carded wool in his shoes. The wool "felted," forming a solid, light, compact substance by the interlocking of the minute serrations which cover wool fibres. That is said to be the way the felting property of wool was discovered, and to this day in some parts of Europe the hat makers celebrate the 23d of November as St. Clements day in honor of the discoverer. A later discovery is that the finest felts, trimmed with best materials, dyed black, brown, otter, pearl and all shades with best alizarine fast colors are sold by Browning, King & Co. for $2.50. It's the hatter's $5 grade, latest shapes in both stiff and soft.

Next week some of the contractors on the drainage channel will begin dumping clay in the shallow waters in the outer harbor between the shore and the government dock line. That will be the first step towards gaining eighty-five acres of land which will be a part of what will be in the future one of the most attractive of the city parks.

The tenth anniversary edition of the American Economist notes that the American product of beet sugar in 1890 was six million pounds, in 1891 ten, in 1892 eighteen, in 1893 forty-three, and in 1894 sixty million pounds. The factory at Norfolk, Neb., alone expends among the farmers and wage-earners of its locality more than $400,000 a year.

Unfavorable crop reports made the New York stock market waver yesterday. The bull campaign is now under full headway at the Chicago Stock Exchange. Trading is broad and active and about everything is advancing. Sterling rates were unchanged. New York exchange sold at 60 cents premium.—Leading speculative grain markets were irregular, but advanced on unfavorable weather. As compared with the latest prices of Monday July wheat closed 2⅛ cents higher, corn 1¼ cents higher, oats 1⅜ cents higher, cash rye ½ cent higher, barley steady, flaxseed 1@1½ cents higher, pork 17½ cents higher, lard 7½ cents higher, and ribs 5 cents higher.

The House passed with hardly a dissenting vote the bill putting it out of the power of the Council to grant a gas or electric light franchise unless a majority of the property-owners on each mile of each street petition therefor. The Aldermanic boodlers, who are opposed to this measure, seem to have a good many friends in the Senate. The Chairman of the committee to which it had been referred endeavored to report it back. Twenty-three Senators voted to allow him to do so. Twenty-three and the Lieutenant-Governor voted in the negative. This is a singular way to deal with a measure which every Chicago property-owner favors and which is opposed only by corrupt Aldermen and the men through whom they negotiate the sale of franchises.

The men in the Pennsylvania steel mills have had their wages advanced 10 per cent. The employés of the Illinois Steel company have asked for a similar increase. The company has made an offer to them which they have accepted. It is that each department elect four or five representatives to be sent at the company's expense to investigate the wage question at the Eastern mills and find out from the men employed there what they are paid, how much work they do for their wages, and, generally, what the conditions of employment are. Having obtained what information they can they are to return and report to their trade organizations. Then the company and its men will proceed to discuss the question of wages intelligently. For the Pennsylvania mills and the Illinois Steel company are competitors, and the latter cannot afford to pay more for the manufacture of its product than they do. This is a business-like way of dealing with the matter. If the men find the company cannot pay more they will not ask for more. If the company can pay more it will do so.

Some of the commercial correspondents in New York City write as if they were laboring under the impression that grain operators in Chicago have "gotten up a crop scare" in wheat for the purpose of gain, "as is usual at this time of year." If they do entertain any such notion they are greatly mistaken. The "scare," if it be one, originated in the rural districts, not in this city, and especially not on our Board of Trade. The members of that organization generally were indisposed to accept the news as genuine, and fought against it, to their own loss. Even those of them who are known as "constitutional bulls" failed to catch the spirit of the movement till after the greater part of the advance had been accomplished. It was country buying that sent up prices for wheat here and in other cities. The farmers and interior merchants in the winter wheat areas believed that the crop would be a very short one, sent or brought orders to buy, and gave their reasons for the unwonted expression of confidence in the future of prices. It may remain to be seen whether they were right or not, but no one need dispute the fact that the farmer is in a much better position to judge the crop conditions of his immediate surroundings than is any speculator in the cities, the principal danger of error being in his supposing that conditions which are only local are general.

The fellows who are trying to get up a free silverite convention in Memphis in the hope it will offset the effect produced by the speech of Secretary Carlisle in that city have the impudence to style their combination the "Central Bimetallic League." This is a fraudulent claim, and so transparently false that it would be laughable if it were not so wicked. They are fighting for silver monometallism, and the idea that under free coinage 50 cents' worth of silver would buy as much in the market as can be purchased with 100 cents' worth of gold is absurd. Their claim to be bimetallists is based on the theory that the people of Tennessee and of some of the other States are so stolid, so impregnable in their ignorance that the great mass of the voters to whom they address themselves cannot perceive the stultification and impossibility of the proposition that free coinage would give us two dollars for general use, one of them admitted to be intrinsically worth twice as much as the other, and that these two would circulate side by side. They count upon the people not taking heed to the experience of the United States during some eighty years, in which bimetallism was found to be impossible, though the intrinsic values of the gold and silver coins differed by only about 3 per cent. If they are asked the question how they are going to make the dearer metal circulate alongside of the cheaper under free coinage they have no answer to make unless hard pressed. When forced to respond they coolly propose, as "Coin" does, to cut the gold coins in two, making each of them to contain only half the present weight of the precious metal per dollar. That is their idea of "bimetallism," to give the silver money only half its present buying power, and reduce the gold coins to correspond if gold is to circulate at all. A pretty kind of "currency reform," truly. It is a wonder that even a thoroughgoing rogue can have the cheek to openly advocate such a monstrous steal.

WALTER QUINTON GRESHAM.

The Premier of the national administration, gallant soldier, upright Judge, and patriotic statesman, has passed away in the prime of his life and intellectual power. The Tribune has already dwelt exhaustively upon every phase of his career, in the field, upon the bench, and in the Cabinet, and it now only remains to touch upon some of his most conspicuous traits of character to complete the record of his honorable and useful life—his really great career.

One of the strongest characteristics of Judge Gresham was his plainness of expression and simplicity of speech and directness of thought. In all the relations of life he was absolutely unsecretive. He did not believe in the diplomatic maxim that language was invented to conceal thought or purpose. He always believed what he said and said what he believed. He held back little if anything. He never had the diplomatic method in action or expression. The conviction which he held he was sure to express in the bluntest and most direct style of expression. If he had dislikes or prejudices or suspicions they came out in the same way. He was not a hypocrite or a trimmer. Whether his ideas were popular or unpopular he gave expression to them openly and courageously. He had less of concealment than any man of his generation who has held as high political positions; and it will be remembered that he was not alone the Premier of the Cleveland administration but had held two Cabinet positions in the Arthur administration, and was twice appointed a United States Judge and was a Major-General in the civil war.

It was this fearlessness as to the expression of his convictions, combined with unflinching uprightness of purpose and high sense of justice, that gave him such an enviable reputation as a jurist. These qualities were specially illustrated in his decision in the famous Wabash case, when he squelched Jay Gould's monstrous scheme of diverting the earnings of the system of roads and its heavily mortgaged branches into the pockets of Gould and his gang, after having placed a 50 million mortgage on the system and stocked it 50 million more, while thousands of unpaid employés suffered. Judge Gresham not only removed the receivers appointed by the Kansas court, who had proved themselves heartless and unworthy stewards, and selected honest receivers in their places, but he ordered the earnings of the roads to be first paid to the workmen of the "system," to whom it was in arrears, until their lawful claims were satisfied, and then to other creditors who had next just demands. He did this purely from a sense of justice and equity, because he believed it was strictly legal and morally right. He knew well enough that Gould and his railroad monopolists, who believed they had the first lien on the money, would be enraged with him; but it did not swerve him one whit from the true and just path. He did not hesitate an instant. He simply decided his course was lawful and right and followed it, and this was the standard which he applied to all his actions.

He defended his course in voting for Mr. Cleveland by the same rule. Unquestionably he did not like Mr. Harrison personally for causes unnecessary to state, and he liked the McKinley bill still less. He contended that the Republican party platform of 1888 had advocated a revision of the tariff and not a general increase of duties, and it had not been done. He was a moderate protectionist in Arthur's Cabinet, as Arthur was himself, and as far as is known he died with the same convictions in regard to the tariff, believing that the Wilson bill was as far below the proper average for protection as the McKinley bill was above it.

As to the foreign policy of Cleveland being also that of Gresham there is good reason for the belief that Cleveland in his imperious manner dictated the policy and Judge Gresham was left with the alternative of carrying it out or of resigning the Premiership. For various reasons he did not think it proper to resign. If he had been given a free rein in the matter of foreign policy he unquestionably would have inaugurated a more vigorous one, for he was a stalwart American to the marrow in his bones.

In his financial convictions he was neither an ultra "gold bug" nor a follower of the crazy 16 to 1 silver delusion. He believed in a bimetallism where silver dollars would have equal purchasing power with gold. He indorsed the platforms of both the great parties as laid down in 1892, because he was convinced it was for the best interests of the American people and their government, and especially for the best interests of the industrial classes and wageworkers.

Physically as well as intellectually Judge Gresham was a fearless man. There was no braver officer in the Union army. He never asked his men to go where he would not lead them and he received his almost mortal wound, which was the indirect cause of his premature death, by riding in front of his line before Atlanta to examine the ground over which he was to lead a desperate charge against the enemy.

He was a companionable man and truly and sincerely devoted to his friends. No man ever regretted it who attached himself to him as a friend. He wore his heart upon his sleeve. His communication was "Yea, yea," and "nay, nay." He could not play double. He was not a hesitating friend any more than he was a genuflecting politician. In the midst of plotting, scheming, tergiversating, cunning men he stands out conspicuous by his simplicity of life, his honesty of purpose, his fearlessness of speech, his conviction that he must do a thing because it was right and because it was a duty. It is hard to lose such men in the midst of their usefulness and in their intellectual prime.

WHY GRESHAM VOTED FOR CLEVELAND.

Just prior to the election of 1892 the following personal letter from Judge Gresham was made public:

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 27.—Bluford Wilson, Springfield, Ill.—Dear Major: I have your letter of the 21st inst. I did tell you at Springfield that, after mature reflection, I had determined to vote for Mr. Cleveland this fall, because I agreed in the main with his views on the tariff and did not believe in the principles embodied in the McKinley bill. I adhere to that determination and have said nothing indicating a change of purpose.

Republicans were pledged to a reduction of the war tariff long before 1888, and during the campaign of that year the pledge was renewed with emphasis again and again. Instead of keeping that promise the McKinley bill was passed, imposing still higher duties. It was passed in the interest of favored classes, and not for the benefit of the whole people. It neither enhanced the price of farm products nor benefited labor. Wages are and ever will be regulated by supply and demand. Duties were imposed upon some articles so high as to destroy competition and foster trusts and monopolies. I think you will agree with me that this was an abandonment of the doctrine of moderate incidental protection.

It is not true that, with my knowledge or consent, the President was asked to appoint me to any office.

It is not true that I requested any one to say or do anything to obtain the Republican nomination this year.

It is not true that I voted for Mr. Cleveland in 1888. I voted the Republican ticket at every election since the party was organized, except in 1864, when I was not able to go to the polls.

The tariff is now the most important question before the people, and whatever others may do I shall exercise the right of individual judgment and vote according to my convictions. I think with you that a Republican can vote for Mr. Cleveland without joining the Democratic party. How I shall vote in the future will depend upon the questions at issue. Yours very truly,
W. Q. Gresham.

The McKinley law was not the sole reason for the preference of Cleveland to Harrison. Judge Gresham believed that the men who were his friends had been "turned down" by Harrison simply because they were his friends, although in Indiana and other States they did all in their power for the election of Gen. Harrison. Without the cordial coöperation of the Gresham cohorts Indiana could not have been carried for Harrison, nor could Illinois. It is believed Judge Gresham voted all the Republican ticket in 1892 except for President.

While Judge Gresham was opposed to the McKinley law, he was not in favor of the subsequent Wilson bill. One was too high and the other too low. He always was a moderate protectionist, who wished to keep in the middle of the road on that question. He was not the friend of excessive tariff duties, which breed monopolies and trusts, and which lessen the revenues of the government by prohibiting imports. Nor was he the friend of reduced duties, which lower the wage scale of wageworkers, and force them to work harder for smaller pay. He favored a tariff that would produce sufficient revenue and adequate protection to the industrial classes. He looked with equal disfavor on prohibitory protection and on free trade. He often declared that he was for a tariff which gave adequate protection and furnished a sufficient revenue.

DEBS IS BLUE.

The President of the American Railway Union talks very gloomily about the decision of the Supreme Court in his case and seems to think that the republic has gone to smash because he is going to jail. It is natural that he should take a pessimistic view of things, because his occupation and that of other men of the same class is gone. They have lost their bread and butter. They can no longer stir up dupes to insurrection and be paid by those dupes for leading them astray and getting them into trouble. It has been decided that the judge is mightier than the anarchistic walking delegate. Naturally this is not pleasant news for the latter.

But when the revolutionists of last July say that the effect of this decision is to put a quietus on strikes, meaning thereby that they have been declared unlawful, they say what is not true. When they defined a strike last year they said it was a concerted, peaceful cessation of labor to make an employer grant better wages or better conditions of labor. Such a strike was not unlawful then, nor is it now. There is nothing in this latest decision which makes it impossible for a railroad man to quit work when dissatisfied with the terms of employment. If he has made a contract to work for a certain length of time and breaks it he can be sued for damages, and if he has any property may be made to pay damages. But he cannot be prosecuted criminally, nor can he be made to work against his will.

If, however, Debs and Howard mean by a "peaceful strike" one where men who do not wish to work take up stones, coupling-pins, and other weapons and drive from their engines men who do wish to work, then the Supreme Court has said such a strike is unlawful. It never was otherwise, but the Debsites did not appreciate that fact a year ago as they do now. Last year's strike was a sympathetic, causeless, and violent one, which extended from here to San Francisco, and was marked by lawless features from one end of the route to the other. The Supreme Court has said that kind of a strike must not be tolerated. That is no new deliverance. That has been the law always. Unfortunately the law has not always been as well enforced as it was last summer.

Debs says "State rights are practically eliminated." Not at all. They are the same they were last July, but national rights have been upheld. "Every Federal Judge" has not been made "a Czar," but the power of a Federal Judge to punish for contempt lawbreakers who will not heed his warnings and drop their weapons has been vindicated. Men who obey injunctions will not suffer. The right of a citizen to a trial by his peers is not broken down, and the "death knell of the wage system" has not been rung. Everything will go on just as before, with the slight difference that Debs, Howard, etc., will be in jail for a few months.

That may seem an important matter to them, and possibly is the reason why they think republican institutions have been upset, and a tyranny substituted for them. When they are released from imprisonment they will find the country free and happy, getting along very well without its Debs, its Howards, and other anarchistically inclined individuals who have been earning a living by stirring up strife and dissension.

DISMEMBERMENT OF UNION PACIFIC.

The first step in the dismemberment of the once great and famous Union Pacific railway system has been taken. The application of the Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern for separate receivership is granted. The arrangement includes the payment of overdue interest coupons on prior liens. When the change is made there will remain to the Union Pacific system only about 1,700 miles of road out of the more than 7,600 miles of land line and many thousands of miles of water lines, including a trans-Pacific fleet, which was controlled by the giant monopoly in the days of its greatest power. The auxiliaries originally were built up partly by the misdirected earnings of the Union Pacific proper, and then with money obtained by the issue of bonds. They have broken down one after another and passed into the hands of receivers, the courts allowing the second mortgage bondholders to foreclose, subject, of course, to the rights of parties holding prior liens.

This is a disruption of the terrible monopoly that held in its octopus-like grasp the whole region included in a breadth of two States extending all the way from the Missouri River to the Pacific Ocean, and sucked the life blood out of the people of ten States and Territories by its extortions in connection with the Central Pacific. Its colossal power of nearly thirty years' duration is broken. The separation of the Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf railway, the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, the Oregon Short Line, and the Utah Northern railways, practically establishing these old auxiliaries as independent railroad systems, has changed the entire face of the railroad situation in the Far West. It has killed off a vast interior monopoly in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, and Oregon and opened up the way for other great lines to compete for the business.

As the final outcome to this separation the main trunk line soon must be turned over to the United States, to protect its second mortgage lien, or be abandoned by the government to the first mortgage holders, their claims aggregating some 37 million dollars. The latter horn of the dilemma hardly will be adopted. If the first be taken hold of what will the government do with its 1,060 miles of single, naked track, beginning on the western bank of the Missouri, opposite Council Bluffs, and ending at Ogden? The line as it stands is almost useless, having only dubious terminals and no lateral connections to help it compete with other important lines at every principal point in its whole extent. After paying off the 37 millions of first mortgage indebtedness, money which was absorbed by the conspirators who built the line with the proceeds of bonds obtained from the United States, it might be deemed necessary to do the same thing with the 883 miles west of Ogden which run through the rich valleys of the Pacific slope and down to the seaboard. But even then the line would have no outlet to the ocean, except as terms therefor could be made with the "Big Four" interests, which robbed the people through the National Treasury and then acted the part of robber barons on them at their homes. It perhaps might be thought most advisable to construct an independent line over the 800 miles of stretch between Colfax and the ocean, as otherwise the present main line hardly could be expected to earn more than its operating expenses.

So the situation is in bad shape—for the government. Whatever course it may adopt it will have to assume a vast responsibility laid upon it by the scoundrelly action of the conspirators, who deliberately set to work to loot the National Treasury for their own enormous profit and then used the lines as means for monstrous oppression of the people. But the culmination of the steal is not without its cheering aspect. It breaks up an infernal monopoly, at least as far west as Ogden, and though the Central Pacific still holds its grip on the broad and fertile areas on the west side of the Sierra Nevadas all east of that is open to a new and previously unheard of development. The mining, agricultural, and other resources of the region between the Missouri and the Sierras doubtless will be developed at a rapid rate. Old lines of railroad will push out extensions into those areas and new ones rush to occupy portions of it. One of the most cheering statements made in connection with the subject is that it seems to be a settled policy that the men who managed the old Union Pacific and helped to steer it to its ruin, though only as subordinates, are to be compelled to stand aside in favor of a new, practical, and progressive régime.

SHERMAN FOR HONEST MONEY.

Senator Sherman's speech was a prominent feature of the Ohio Republican State convention yesterday. He spoke of the tariff and the free silver delusion. In regard to the latter he held that both gold and silver are indispensable to the wants of mankind, but the great bulk of silver renders it not available for large payments, either at home or abroad, while the superior value of gold makes it inapplicable for use in the minor wants of men. He said some other nations have adopted the silver standard alone, not from choice but from poverty; and stated his belief that the policy of the United States, adopted in 1853, of coining fractional silver coins in limited quantities from silver bullion purchased at market price and making them legal tender for small sums is the only way to preserve the parity of gold and silver coins at a fixed ratio. This is properly called "bimetallic money," and he hoped the common interest of the commercial nations will lead them either to adopt a new ratio based on the market value of the metals or to coin them and maintain them at their present ratio.

The Senator said the free coinage of silver is urged by the producers of the white metal and by men who wish to pay their debts in cheaper money than they promised to pay. This means the single standard of silver and the demonetization of gold. It is the degradation of our dollar to 50 cents and the repudiation of one-half of all debts, public and private. It confers no favors on producers of any kind, whether of the farm, the workshop, or the mine, for if they got nominally more dollars for their productions their additional dollars would have only one-half the purchasing power of the dollar in gold. The great hardship of this policy would fall upon workmen, skilled and unskilled, whose daily wage, measured by the present standard, is higher than in any other country of the world. Their wages will purchase more of the necessaries of life than the wages paid for similar labor anywhere outside the United States. It is false pretense that the cheapening of money would be beneficial to them,

The Republican party, in its platform of 1892, said the Senator, demanded good money of equal purchasing power, whether coined of silver or gold, or composed of United States notes and bank notes based upon the credit of the United States maintained at par with coin. On this true bimetallic policy the party stands today. "We will seek the coöperation of all nations and all parties in maintaining the parity of gold and silver coined. If they will not coöperate with us in this policy the Republican party can, and I hope will, do it alone. Good money and plenty of it is as important to all our people as equality of rights and privileges."

Failed to Change Lincoln's Question to Douglas.

Editor Atkins in the Freeport (Ill.) Journal: We recently printed an article by Joseph Medill [Editor Chicago Tribune] containing his recollections of the joint debate between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas in Freeport, Aug. 27, 1858. We were present in a room in the Brewster House on that day when Elihu B. Washburne and Norman B. Judd endeavored to dissuade Mr. Lincoln from asking his second question, because, as Mr. Washburne and Mr. Judd urged, Mr. Douglas would reply that slavery could be excluded from a Territory under his doctrine of "popular sovereignty," and he would take the crowd with him, and would defeat Mr. Lincoln as a candidate for the United States Senatorship from Illinois, and, as nearly as we can now remember, Mr. Lincoln, after listening patiently to all Mr. Washburne and Mr. Judd had to say, replied as follows: "Well, I do not know what answer Mr. Douglas will make; but if he answers that slavery cannot be excluded from a Territory I will beat him in Illinois and be elected Senator; and if he answers as you say he will, and as I now think he will, that slavery can be excluded from a Territory, he will beat me for Senator, but he will never be elected President." Mr. Lincoln persisted in asking that question against the protest of his political friends, and Mr. Douglas did reply, as it was predicted that he would, that under his doctrine of "popular sovereignty" slavery could be excluded from a Territory, and he did defeat Mr. Lincoln for Senator; but that answer of Mr. Douglas to the question put to him at Freeport by Mr. Lincoln put Mr. Douglas directly in antagonism with the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Dred Scott case, and lost him forever the support of the Democrats of the slaveholding States, and Mr. Lincoln himself "won the place that Mr. Douglas was playing for," and became President of the United States. If Mr. Lincoln had taken the urgent advice of Joseph Medill, Norman B. Judd, and Elihu B. Washburne it is not likely that Mr. Lincoln would ever have been President. Mr. Lincoln was a statesman, and he had the courage of his convictions, and he became President by following his own judgment and rejecting the advice of his political friends.

[If Mr. Lincoln in asking this second question was thinking of his own and of Douglas' Presidential prospects rather than of the Senatorship it ought to have made no difference to him which way Douglas answered it as far as killing his Presidential chances was concerned. The answer Douglas did make alienated the South and Douglas was defeated. But if he had answered the question the other way, while Douglas would have lost the Senatorship, he would not have estranged the South and would have been the candidate of the united Democracy in 1860. He could not have been elected, however. He would have been defeated, and by Mr. Lincoln. Had the latter been sent to the Senate in 1858-'59 and had an opportunity to show his abilities there would not have been the least difficulty about his nomination in 1860. Nor could Douglas have been elected on a platform declaring that slavery could not be excluded from a Territory until after it had become a State, for on that platform he could not have carried a single Northern State, not even New Jersey. Lincoln would have carried all the States Fremont did without difficulty, and would have added to them California, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Minnesota, and Oregon. Fremont got 114 electoral votes, Buchanan 174, and Fillmore 8. The total number of electoral votes in 1860 was 303—152 being necessary to a choice. If Lincoln in addition to Fremont's 114 had gained Pennsylvania's 27, Minnesota's 4, and Indiana's 13 he would have had 158, and could have been elected without either Illinois, California, Oregon, or New Jersey. The only States which Lincoln won because of the split in the Democracy were California and Oregon. If the Democracy had been united in 1860 it would have been united on an intensely proslavery platform, and Lincoln could have beaten any candidate standing on such a platform.]

He Reconsidered.

The popular citizen had made arrangements to go into business in another town. He had sold his property, packed his household goods, and everything was in readiness for his removal.

His friends got up a farewell dinner for him. The tables groaned, etc. The viands were sumptuous. The champagne was abundant, and after it began to circulate there was a flood of oratory. The speeches were all to the effect that the loss the community was about to sustain was irreparable. The speakers dwelt upon the good qualities of their friend, his many excellent traits of character, his genial, companionable ways, and all took occasion to express their deep sense of personal bereavement on account of his contemplated removal. Then they sang:

"For he's a jolly good fellow,
Which nobody can deny."

Brimful of emotion the recipient of all this rose to reply.

"Boys," he said unsteadily, "I didn't know what I was doing when I went into any scheme to leave this town. I didn't know how sorry my friends would be to see me go. The—the frien'ship of my friends is worth more to me than the few hun'rd doll'rs I might make by movin' 'way from here, and I'll b-be ev'rlastingly dadswangled 'f I'm goin' to move! I'm goin' to stay ri' here in this town, fellers, an' don't you forget it! Whoop!"

An hour later a dejected company of men assisted a helpless comrade up a back stairway and dispersed without saying a word.

GREAT EVENT AT YALE

YOUNG NORMAN WILLIAMS WAS "STRUCK," BUT DIDN'T HIT BACK.

What Excited the Campus and Is Still Causing Talk—The Loves of Nordica—Some Great Bargains—Blue the Favorite Color in Paris—Green-Eyed Notices from Gotham on Two Chicago Books—Hawthorne's Accomplished Daughter—Gossip About European Royalties.

New York Tribune of Sunday: The Yale campus is still agitated with the excitement of one of the most exciting weeks of the college year. The event of the week, which makes it at once so trying and so important, is the giving out of elections to the famous senior societies.

The ceremony has grown more interesting and exciting with the great growth of Yale in the last few years. The number of candidates in the junior class has doubled. At 4:45 o'clock last Thursday afternoon a thousand men, young and old, were crowded about the fence in front of Durfee Hall and in the windows of the dormitories adjoining. In the heart of the thick pack were the prominent juniors, wondering and waiting.

As the chapel clock trailed its slow pointer to the hour, a rustling and craning of necks told the spectator that the ceremony had begun. If he watched the opening and closing of the crowd he saw that it was making way for a single man. This man was pale, showed no signs of recognizing any of his hundreds of friends, but stared into the faces of the great throng as he moved among them in and out. He was lost to sight in the very thick of the crowd, and a moment later a sharp slap was heard. That meant that "Tom" Dyer of Scroll and Key had found his man. A great shout followed the slap, and a clapping of hands. That meant that Norman Williams of Chicago, the man whom Dyer of "Keys" was following in silence to his room, was a very popular junior. His friends were glad that the famous society had shown its appreciation of his character. A moment later another slap, more applause, another silent pair leaving the crowd, showed that Skull and Bones had begun to offer its rewards. Anson Stokes, the Chairman of the Yale News, had been struck by Cable. An honor could not have been better deserved. A good deal of the rest of the afternoon's ceremony was not on any one person's program. About the first of these surprises the crowd was soon buzzing. If you had caught that same busy young sophomore again he would have told you the cause of the excitement somewhat after this fashion: "What's the matter? Why, didn't you see it? Trudeau refused Keys. George Adee hit him and told him to go to his room. Trudeau just shook his head. Then Adee said: 'I wish as a personal favor you'd go to your room,' and Trudeau replied: 'I'm sorry, George, but I can't.' Gee, but I never heard of a Keys refusal. Of course it's sure now he's going to Bones."

The last prediction was certain enough, and there was no time for watching that incident more. Trouble of a different kind was already on. Walter Hoyt of Stamford had always been put down as one of the surest men to receive an election to Scroll and Key. He had always said to his classmates that he wanted that honor above everything else, and his position in his class was so good that he seemed certain to get it. But while he was waiting nervously in the crowd he felt a slap and turned to look into the face of a Bones man, Buckner. That wasn't what he wanted, and he stood still. The excitement, though, was too much for the strained nerves of young Hoyt, and a moment later he actually broke into tears. That shows how intense the feeling is at such a time. Not long after, Hoyt's friends gave him one of the most enthusiastic ovations of the day as he received the high honor to which he had aspired all through his course—an election to Scroll and Key.

When One Falls in Love with Nordica—"The Time for Disappearing."

The London Mascot tells some interesting details of the love affairs of Mme. Nordica, the celebrated singer. The last to fall a victim to her charms was Sigmund Kaschoska, her singing teacher and accompanist. A few months ago, when it was reported that the fair singer was about to marry another, he brought affairs to a crisis. Mme. Nordica's husband went up in a balloon one day and was never heard of afterwards. Kaschoska had not a balloon handy, but he disappeared in a similar manner. Mme. Nordica is engaged to be married to Herr Zoltan Dohm, and frowned on the suit of her accompanist. Whereupon Kaschoska vowed that nobody would ever see him again. He was as good as his word. He disappeared utterly. His friends and relatives have never seen him since the day on which he was rejected by Nordica. An investigation of his mysterious case, instituted by his sister, Felicia Kaschoska, a prima donna, and his father, Rabbi Grutzhandler of Poland, has recently been made without success. The morgue, the insane asylums, and the photographs of the unknown dead have been inspected without finding any trace of the unfortunate musician. Kaschoska has disappeared totally. Truly Mme. Nordica is a remarkable woman. Men who love her are subject to instant annihilation. Her husband disappeared into the clouds, and for his love of her Kaschoska faded into nothingness.

Good Bargains.

Every one likes to hear of good bargains. It may be "anti-social" to enjoy buying an article at a much lower price than you are prepared to give for it, and in many cases, I think it unsportsmanlike and ungentlemanly. Thus the bibliophile Jacob, a poor man, bought the copy of "Tartuffe" which had belonged to Louis XIV. "for a song." He instantly presented it to a friend. But then came the wretched bookseller, who had found out his error, and piteously asked for his volume back, or for a fair price. The new owner of the copy (need I say that he was a rich man?) bade the vender leave the premises. That one does not call a good, but a bad, bargain for Dives. As to the bibliophile Jacob, I would scarcely condemn him. The jury of my moral feelings disagrees. He was poor, voluntarily poor, as a student is likely to be. He did not buy with the intention of selling again. It was a fair match between his knowledge and the bookseller's knowledge of the bookseller's business. The bibliophile, methinks, as he did not need the book, should have told the vender not to throw away his good fortune, for, remember the vender also had bought the play at a great bargain. No, given a poor ignorant dealer, with a valuable possession which he offers cheap, I think a gentleman should enlighten his ignorance, and do him a good turn. A kind act in the collection of memory is worth a rare book or gem.

If any moralist asks whether I collect chivalrous deeds of this kind, I can only say that I never had the chance. My only bargain was Keats' "Lamia" for fifteen shillings. It was cheap, but a bookseller in a large way of business sold it to me, and conscience does not prick me much. I daresay he bought it for fourpence. Again, probably the balance in my case is all on the side of the trade. I have been buying rubbish of all sorts dear ever since I had a shilling to spend. I don't believe in most of my twopenny treasures. I am sure that I have positively pampered the dealers. Once only my good demon stopped me from giving £35 for an enamel of Monmouth, which afterwards went for £12 or so at Christie's as a miniature of Peterborough. Thus the balance is so much against me that I can only rectify it by robbing some poor tradesman if ever I get the chance. But there is never the temptation.

One of the greatest bargains I ever heard of was this. An institution had long possessed a collection of medals. The members of this corporation knew no more of medals than I do of contango; they were golfers in the way of their pleasures. They, therefore, sold the medals for a small sum to another institution which cared for such toys. They also said, "Won't you take away the old cabinet, too? We don't want it." So the old cabinet was carried off with its contents.

Comes one day a gentleman of the Semitic race to the secretary of the new owners.

"That's a niceish bit of furniture," he says. "Would the society think of parting with it? I could go as high as £50 for a customer."

"We don't deal in old furniture," answers the secretary.

The Hebrew returns next day. He goes to £250; he springs to £500, £800, £1,000. Thereon the secretary consults his chiefs. A telegram arrives from Jacobs (a new Hebrew); he offers £1,500. Abrahams, from Vienna, reaches £2,000. There the body is, and the vultures (who knows how they scent or see the prey?) are gathered together. Moses, from Paris, reaches £2,500; Levy of Amsterdam whispers £3,000, but at £3,500 Lewis of London carries off the cabinet, and sells it to an amateur for £4,500!

This is a true tale, and one marvels how the corporation which gave away the cabinet enjoys it. I think I know (none of the others seemed to know) whence that cabinet came, and on what historical occasion.

"It was a' for our rightfu' King" that it left France; at least so I fancy.

In the case of Jeanne d'Arc one singular bargain may be noted. There are not, and never were, any portraits of the Maid, but some twenty years ago a Lyons collector possessed a small colored popular image of her, apparently contemporary. He would have sold it to a French museum for 500 francs (£20), but the money was not to be raised. After many adventures, at rapidly rising prices, it was bought by an Englishman (or a Scot), according to my French authority, a Mr. George Donalson, for about £700. Now, I have spoken in the conventional manner of Semitic purchasers, and, to correct the impression, I am glad to say that it was a Jew who prevailed, by dint of gold, on this Mr. Donalson to restore the image to France. The persons not to be congratulated are the Lyons collector and the museum which could not raise £20 for an object so interesting, if genuine. In books bargains arise when a novice or a learned institution (as does occur) sells a splendid library as waste paper. I hear of Reformation tracts, with cuts by Beham and Albert Dürer, recently sold by the pound, and piously picked up and delicately clothed in morocco by collectors; also of rare illustrated architectural works disposed of in the same fashion. But the name of the erudite institution before which these pearls were originally flung I think it decent not to mention. "It is an ill bird that fouls his own nest."—Andrew Lang in London News.

The Favorite Color in Paris.

The most fashionable color in Paris is blue. It is of every tint, but the favorite is cornflower blue, varying from the very deepest to the lightest tints. I saw a lovely garden party dress for a young girl, the skirt of a lightish cornflower blue, speckled with tiny daisies, and the bodice with elbow sleeves of mousseline de soie was a shade lighter. A band of velvet the shade of the skirt and slightly spangled was the only finish for throat and sleeves. Even on quite cold days elbow sleeves were greatly worn; very often the glove did not cover the elbow, and I must say the Parisian elbow did not strike me as a thing of beauty. It looked very strong, and seemed to have more than the usual allotment of bones, and it looked a useful elbow, but by no means a seductive one. All the blondes in Paris are brunettes this year. You must be a brunette. A faded blonde, or even a woman with mahogany-colored hair, cannot appear to advantage in ferocious blue, purple reds, and pantomime greens. We must look as Eastern and as luxurious and mysterious as possible to be in the fashion—plenty of hair to begin with, the face in a frame, then a hat with a wild riot of lace flowers and wings. Then a huge ruff of mousseline de soie, and a dress of a decided color.

Copyrighted the Tiger's Yawn.

London Truth: At first sight it must be admitted that to claim an exclusive right of ownership in the yawn of a tigress is one which very few would be found to dispute. Such a claim, however, was contested in an action tried before Mr. Justice Grantham. The plaintiff was a member of the Zoo, with a weakness for photographing wild animals in abnormal attitudes. Whilst in pursuit of this exciting occupation he discovered at the society's gardens a tigress yawning. It is true that the capricious beauty did not submit to be taken in this unbecoming position at once, but the operator had to wait for hours and hours until she woke and indulged in a yawn sufficiently comprehensive to be worth recording. The picture resulting from this praiseworthy effort of patience was duly copyrighted by the plaintiff, and, as one of the pictorial publications inserted a drawing of it without leave or license previously obtained, the plaintiff received from the jury at the trial a penalty amounting to £10, with £40 as damages. Books of reference will now be enabled to quote with accuracy the exact value of a tigress' yawn.

Unhandsome Notice of Two Chicago Books by a New York Journal.

New York Recorder: Ever since Jack Astor wrote his celebrated book, "A Journey to Other Worlds," the literary muse has been quite industrious in society. Mrs. Reginald de Koven has treated us to "A Sawdust Doll" with erotic stuffing, and now another book has lately come into the market. It is by no less a person than Mr. Hobart C. Taylor. He is world-renowned for having worn a full-dress suit when he entertained the Princess Eulalie at a noonday luncheon. Mr. Hobart C. Taylor has enhanced his reputation for peculiarity by the book which he has just published. He calls it "Two Women and a Fool," and, while there is some confusion about the two women, there is no doubt at all about the fool. Mr. Taylor's "Two Women and a Fool" was probably written before the arrest of Oscar Wilde, as it is something in the style of England's convict author. Taylor's next book will probably be different, if there should ever be a next book.

Hawthorne's Lovely and Accomplished Granddaughter.

Miss Hildegarde Hawthorne not long since published a weird sketch in a magazine, a literary effort which resembled her grandfather's style much more than does the work of either of Nathaniel Hawthorne's children. Miss Hawthorne is the eldest daughter of "that dear little boy," Julian, of whom Sophia Hawthorne wrote so lovingly to her mother. All the seven children thus "once removed" from the great novelist are very comely. Hildegarde is a remarkably pretty, fresh-faced girl, with nothing of the mystic, nor even of the literary, in her appearance, which is that of a bright, vivacious, rather athletic young woman, whose rosy cheeks are browned by much exposure to the sun, and who is an adept with the oar, the sail, or the tennis racquet. She has been a second mother to all those other children of whom her father once said that they made his home when they were little "The House of Seven Gabbles."

Princess Louise.

The Pall Mall Gazette: I hear delightful things from the Riviera about the Princess Louise. "In a simple costume, of a fashion of some years ago," writes a correspondent, "she looked quaintly neat among the Frenchwomen—Comtesse This and Marquise That—who were absolutely weighed down with chains of pearls and diamonds. She is quite humorously simple in every way. She went down to the station here when the Queen arrived, and sat on a wall, with her feet dangling, and listened to the remarks of the poor people round her, such as—well, you can imagine the popular frankness in such circumstances!—and gazed at the royalties like any ordinary spectator. She is going to the Nice battle of flowers today, in a fiacre or donkey cart, wearing two veils, vowing that her mother won't know her, and that she intends to pelt her with flowers."

Those D—d Sparrows Again.

A little boy had learned to use naughty swearwords, but his mother had not discovered the fault, and was shocked and surprised when a friend went to her and told the sad news. Freddy was accused of the fault and demanded who told on him. "O, a little bird whispered it to me," replied the mother. "Humph," said Freddy, in great disgust, "one of those d——d sparrows, I suppose."—Worcester Gazette.

French Steamer Runs on a Rock Off Cape Corrubedo and While Its Passengers and Crew Are in a Panic the Boilers Explode—The Vessel Founders Immediately, Over 100 of Those on Board Being Lost—Bulgarian Brigands Ready to Invade Macedonia.

Cadiz, May 28.—The French steamer Dom Pedro, bound for Carril, Spain, has been wrecked off Cape Corrubedo. Over 100 of those on board were drowned. The Dom Pedro was a 3,000-ton steamer and was engaged in running between Havre and the Argentine Republic, calling at Bordeaux, France, and carried freight and passengers. The latter were mostly emigrants bound for the Argentine Republic or other points in South America. On its return trips the Dom Pedro was generally loaded with frozen meat. The steamer left Havre May 20 last with a crew of forty-nine all told, and with eighty passengers. At Carril the steamer was to have embarked 200 additional passengers, but on the way to that port it ran on a rock at 6:40 p. m. off Cape Corrubedo, on the west coast of Spanish Galicia.

The boilers exploded, the vessel foundering immediately afterwards.

It is said only the Captain of the Dom Pedro and twenty-six of the crew were saved, which would seem to indicate all the passengers were either killed by the explosion or drowned when the vessel went down.

HIS BODY IS WEIGHTED WITH STONES.

Unknown Man Found Drowned at Wauwatosa, Wis., Was Murdered.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 28.—[Special.]—A Coroner's jury this afternoon decided the unknown man whose body was found in a pond of water in Schweickart Bros.' stone quarry in Wauwatosa was murdered. The post mortem showed he had probably been struck on the head with a sand bag. The man's apparel was of such quality there is no doubt he was well to do and murdered for his money. When taken from the pond his pockets were filled with stones, while around his waist was fastened a large stone weighing nearly 100 pounds. The rope with which this stone was fastened was tied under the right arm in such a way it would have been impossible for the man to tie it himself.

Frank and Mary Prieba testified they were on their way home from a dance Palm Sunday night, and when passing near the pond they saw three men near its edge. Two of them were picking up stones. The actions of the men excited their suspicions and they stopped to look at them. They were close to the men, when one of them sneaked into the shadow of some trees and watched Mr. and Mrs. Prieba until they were gone. They would hardly be able to recognize the men again, although they say they were rather tough looking. The man's pockets were rifled of everything which might lead to his identification.

NO SETTLEMENT OF STRIKE IN SIGHT.

Brickmakers Are Still Out and a Brick Famine Approaches.

The brickmakers' strike seems farther from settlement than ever. The conference of the Joint Arbitration committee yesterday amounted to nothing. After discussing the situation at considerable length it was decided to postpone action until Friday, when another meeting will be held. In the meantime the strikers are becoming restless. Non-union workmen were attacked at the yards of the Weber-La Bahn company by a number of strikers and sympathizers and twenty arrests were made. The strikers, who have been camped outside the yards for two weeks, are becoming discontented. Several union yards started up Monday, but quit again yesterday. Building all over the city is being delayed for want of brick, and thousands of workmen have been thrown out of employment. A "brick famine" is already apparent. Unless the trouble is speedily adjusted over 100,000 workmen in the building trades will be affected.

DEATH OF A JEFFERSON PARK PIONEER.

Theodore Schultz Passes Away—Arrangements for the Funeral Services.

Theodore Schultz, a resident of Jefferson Park since 1856, died yesterday at his home, No. 4191 Milwaukee avenue. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 1 o'clock and the burial will be at Rosehill.

Theodore Schultz had been a prominent figure in Jefferson Park since 1856, when he first settled there. He was Supervisor of the Town of Jefferson for six years and was also Village Treasurer for six years. He was a charter member of Masonic Providential Lodge No. 711. He was also a Knight Templar, a member of St. Bernard Commandery, and the funeral services will be under the auspices of that organization. Mr. Schultz leaves a widow and a son, Fred C. Schultz.

Obituary Notes.

The remains of Samuel Gliokauf were buried yesterday from the temple of the North Chicago Hebrew Congregation, La Salle avenue and Goethe street.

Andrew Jackson Martin, a grandson of Andrew Jackson, died last night in Memphis, Tenn. He formerly practiced law at Kansas City. He was 64 years old.

GRAND LODGE OF PYTHIANS IN SESSION.

Knights of the Order Meet to Do Business in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., May 28.—[Special.]—The twenty-sixth annual convention of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias of Ohio, opened today in Music Hall and 900 were in attendance. Acting-Mayor Norton welcomed the delegates. The following telegram from Supreme Chancellor Ritchie was read:

From a sick bed I send greetings to the greatest of all grand lodges. May your successors do as well as you and keep Ohio first in membership, first in character, first in castle halls, first in working properties, first in ritualistic work, and first in everything that should make us proud of our order. With wishes for one and all a glorious reunion.

A telegram was sent Mr. Ritchie wishing him an early recovery and the successful continuance of Pythian work. The work today consisted of the conferring of the Past Chancellors' degree and the settlement of the Goethe and Pavonia Lodge cases.

GRADUATION OF NAVAL ARCHITECTS.

The Boston Institute of Technology Turns Out Its First Batch.

Boston, Mass., May 28.—[Special.]—The graduation exercises of the Institute of Technology were held today. The class, numbering 143, was the largest that has ever been graduated. Miss Ethel Bartholomew, B. S. L., was the only woman graduate. She received the degree of bachelor of science in architecture. This is the first year that men have been graduated from the new course in naval architecture. Among Westerners who received degrees were Arthur Lake Canfield of Chicago, mechanical engineering; Walter Nathan Crafts of Columbus, mining engineering; Alfred Edward Zapp of Freeport, Ill., architecture; Richard G. B. Sheridan of Cleveland, naval architecture.

Medicine Defeats Mortality.

Chicago's Death Rate Decreased by a New Medicine.

PHYSICIANS NOT SO BUSY AS OF YORE.

What a Reporter's Investigation Revealed—Many People Saved—A Well-Known Fireman's Experience—Prominent Druggists Say Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Stand Foremost Among the Remedies of Today.

"We are living in a world of progress and better health. Instead of summoning a physician we are learning to cure ourselves. The mortality of Chicago is decreasing?"

This startling expression started a reporter's "thought mill," and he in turn started on a tour of investigation. What he learned furnished enough material to keep him thinking for the rest of his life.

He learned that incurable diseases are cured; that people are alive and well whom physicians had given up for dead. He learned that the paralyzed were walking the streets and that one and all say they owe their life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which they administered to themselves after having failed to get relief from any other source.

The first man the reporter encountered was John E. Mooney, Lieutenant of Engine Company 38, Michigan avenue and Monroe street. There are but few men in the service who have saved more lives than Lieutenant Mooney. Like most brave men he met what for two years was a living death at a little fire where the loss was less than $500 and no lives endangered. Such is the irony of fate.

One night two years and a half ago Mooney's company responded to an alarm caused by the burning of a barn. Mooney rushed into the burning building, and, in attempting to climb to the loft, fell, striking his back on the edge of a manger. Six months later the brave fireman took to his bed, paralyzed from his hips down and suffering the most awful agony. Three of the most famous physicians in Chicago pronounced it a case of locomotor ataxia, and hopeless. It took five grains of morphine daily to make the patient insensible to pain. For nine months this course of treatment was continued, when Mooney was able to leave his bed and creep about on crutches. His doctors said that he would never be any better. Hoping against hope, the brave fireman went to the Hot Springs and found no relief; it was the same at Mount Clemens. Six months ago he returned to his home, 203 Chestnut street, Chicago, shattered in health and barely able to use his crutches. His appetite and strength were gone, the courage-wrecking pains were fast dragging him to insanity.

But let Lieutenant Mooney tell his own story: "I had given up all hope," he said, "When one day I saw in a Chicago paper an account of a person who had been cured of a disease like mine by using Pink Pills. I had little faith that they would benefit me, but you know it is a fireman's business to take desperate chances. I got four boxes of pills and started to use them. In a month I was able to move about the house without the sticks; the pain had disappeared; I was growing more hungry each day and my strength was returning. The improvement has been continuous; yesterday I walked two miles down to the engine house and back without the slightest sign of fatigue. Pink Pills have saved me from a fate worse than death, and I cannot say too much in their favor. If I had only known of them when first taken ill I would have been saved two years of torture and $6,000 doctor bills."

One of the remarkable instances in the City of Chicago is that of Mr. Murphy, who regained perfect health, after having given up all hope, by using Pink Pills. He has been in a position to come in contact with people from all parts of this country, and, in fact, from all parts of the world, and to give advice to invalids, and clinches this advice by telling them of his own experience. Mr. E. J. Murphy resides at 708 West Twelfth street, Chicago, and has for years occupied the position of night clerk at Gore's European Hotel on Clark street. He enjoys the confidence and respect of the hotel people, as well as the confidence and respect of the community in which he lives. It is well known among all his friends and acquaintances that he is very conservative in all his statements, and, therefore, anything he says carries great weight with them. In speaking of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People he said: "Beyond all doubt I owe my life and health to these pills. For many years I occupied the position of night clerk at Gore's Hotel, and while thus employed some five years ago I commenced to 'run down.' I paid but little attention to this for the first four or five months, until gradually I became so emaciated that I was more like a living skeleton than anything else. While in this condition, and really not fit to attend to my duties as night clerk, dragging out a most miserable existence, I met a member of a popular opera company who happened to be stopping at the hotel during its engagement in the city. He spoke to me about my physical condition, and recommended me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I told him that I had tried everything, with no relief, that I had given up all hope, and was incredulous that anything now could be of any help to me. Upon his earnest solicitation I promised to try them, knowing they could do me no harm, and chancing any good they might possibly do me. I consequently followed my new friend's advice, although I had previously tried innumerable remedies given and recommended by physicians and others without avail. My doctors told me that my malady was general debility, resulting from nervous prostration, brought on by insomnia and over-application to work. At that time it was considered by my wife and friends only a question of a few months at most when I must die. I noticed, after taking the first box of the pills, an improvement in my condition." When asked how many boxes he had taken to restore him to the perfect health he appeared to enjoy now, he said "that five boxes of these pills had transformed him from a suffering and apparently hopeless invalid to a healthy, hearty, and robust man. This seems almost incredible," he continued, "but seeing me hale, hearty, and happy in my home, surrounded by my family, consisting of my wife and five pretty children, is indeed an evidence of the wonderful efficacy of the Pink Pills that cannot be ignored. Furthermore, Mrs. Murphy is today one of the happiest women in Chicago, and cannot too heartily express her gratitude to the benefactor who first advised me to try them."

C. H. Coatsworth is a young attorney with an office in the Bryan Block, 174 La Salle street, Chicago. For a young man Mr. Coatsworth has a large practice, which is rapidly assuming very pleasing proportions. Some time ago the young lawyer had a severe attack of fever, which nearly resulted fatally. Convalescence came slowly; in fact, it seemed for a time as though he would never fully recover. But he did, and this is how he tells of his restoration to perfect health:

"For some time cousins of mine have been in the habit of taking Pink Pills as a tonic, with the most highly beneficial results. Pink Pills have invariably toned up the system and made new beings of them. While personally I believed that patent medicine was patent medicine, and that few physicians knew anything about the science of medicine, I determined to try Pink Pills. Results were wonderful, for I at once began to gain flesh and strength; my appetite returned, night sweats stopped, and perfect health took the place of illness. Today I am in perfect health and whenever I feel the need of a tonic to counteract the effects of the Chicago climate I shall take Pink Pills. I am at all times ready to say what I know of the curative powers of Pink Pills, but I look on them as a patent medicine; while they cured me they might not have the same effect on another person.

"I also know of the case of a lady," continued Mr. Coatsworth, "who was ill for many months of a series of complications common to her sex. Physicians that she consulted were unable to afford her any relief. One day she saw in an ad. for Pink Pills where some woman suffered as she was suffering, and had been cured by their use. This sick woman whom I know bought several bottles of Pink Pills and was at once benefited by their use. She continued taking them until today she is completely cured. Her name? I can't give you that, as she has changed her mind about permitting its use as an advertisement, although, at her request, I wrote the firm making Pink Pills about her case."

T. A. Cobb is the keen, aggressive buyer for the important wholesale druggists, Morrison, Plummer & Co., 200-206 Randolph street, Chicago. Mr. Cobb has the purchasing of millions of dollars' worth of goods each year, and it is his ability to gauge the needs and wants of the public which enables his house to successfully meet the fierce competition of the jobbing drug houses of the country. In speaking of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People Mr. Cobb said: "The demand for those excellent pills is something enormous. It is like interest on a mortgage constantly growing. Our orders for Pink Pills for Pale People do not come wholly from local druggists by any means. The city trade is rapidly increasing, to be sure, but the bulk of our orders come from the section of the country that is necessarily tributary to Chicago. While it is true we have orders for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from nearly every State in the Union. In the last two months the effect of the judicious advertising done by the owners of these wonderful Pink Pills for Pale People has been very marked, the sales have increased very perceptibly. It is true that the pills cost more than the ordinary kind, yet we have all learned that the best is the cheapest. I am personally very glad that the people who make Pink Pills for Pale People have decided to let the public know what great virtues and remedies lie in them. There are so many inferior medicines on the market that the public should know exactly what to buy. It is learning, evidently, if sales and demand are any criterion. The sick evidently think that the pills are more than was claimed for them. I think their sale in our orders doubles that of any other pill, despite it is the more expensive."

George P. Martin is the proprietor of the Tremont House drug store, and caters exclusively to the best class of the trade. He says: "Naturally, my trade is largely transient, consisting, as it does, of people from all over the country. I have a large and growing demand for Pink Pills for Pale People. The people calling for them are described by the pill; they are pale, thin, sickly-looking individuals as a rule. They have had some friend recommend them, who has been benefited by their use, or they have known of a cure. There is no question about the fact that these pills do make good blood and build up wasted tissues. I have had fifty different persons tell me how much they have been improved by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Travelers tell me that they are excellent to regulate the kidneys, bowels, and liver. I have also noticed that many women buy them for complications peculiar to the sex. I have never heard anything but the most favorable mention of the Pink Pills for Pale People by those who had used them."

E. H. King owns the large retail drug store at Twenty-second and Wabash avenue, and draws his patrons from the handsome resident portions of Michigan, Indiana, and Prairie avenues. He chats thus: "I have always kept—ever since they were introduced into the market—Pink Pills for Pale People. The call for them has ever been on the increase; very much so. I don't believe I begin to handle one-half the number of other pills. Pink Pills cost more; but my trade does not appear to think of cost—what they want are results. Pink Pills for Pale People give them that. They are the standard of excellence. I never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

L. K. Waldron, owner of the fine pharmacy at 189 Randolph street, says: "You notice I'm surrounded by office buildings. The people occupying them lead sedentary lives; no exercise, no fresh air, nothing to produce good blood, health, and flesh. Among my customers I notice a tendency to take something which will remove that tired feeling and bring the flush of health back to the cheeks. It may seem singular, but Pink Pills for Pale People is the medicine for which I receive the most frequent calls from this custom. They seem to have the desired effect of toning the system and keeping it up to concert pitch. It is an excellent and good thing that will keep a Chicago business-man in trim for the awful strain he has to face. Pink Pills for Pale People appear to do it."

Dale & Sempill's drug store is located—that is the parent one—at Clark and Madison streets, the two great arteries of the South Side. Half a million persons pass their store each day, and their place is ever thronged. They threw away the door key years ago. Said the junior partner: "Chicago's climate would wreck a constitution of iron if care were not taken of it. Pulmonary troubles, rheumatism, blood disorders, liver troubles, wearing out of the nervous forces are a portion of the ills attendant upon life in Chicago. A few years ago the public had an idea that what was termed 'patent medicines' were poison. That was ignorance. Science has made such rapid progress that nowadays some of the best, most potent remedies are 'patent medicines.' Physicians are becoming honest enough to prescribe them. I have handled this in my business, and particularly with Pink Pills for Pale People. The demand for them is a source of wonder. They are more costly than any pill on the market, but the great American public is awakening to their true worth and buying them. They outsell twice over any other pill that we handle and give complete satisfaction."

At the intersection of State and Madison streets is a small drug store, small in size only, for there are few more pretentious stores in Chicago which do the vast business done by Gale & Blockie. This is but one of a chain of drug stores which girdles the heart of the city. Said Mr. Gale: "Know Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People? Well, rather. There is not a better pill of its kind or a more ready seller on the market. The demand for it is phenomenal. The claim is not made for it that it will cure every ill, but all the protestations made are carried out. I am glad to say that we handle it in large quantities, and that it is really a good thing. I've used it, or known of its use to build up a system broken down with overwork. And the Pink Pills did it, too. Of course, they won't resuscitate a corpse, but will come near it."

George H. Mayer is the owner of the pharmacy at Washington and La Salle streets, opposite the City Hall and new Stock Exchange. Mr. Mayer says that he has two calls for Pink Pills for Pale People to no call for other kinds. He says that politicians and others whose nervous systems are greatly shattered have used Pink Pills for Pale People with most gratifying results. He avers that one Alderman says that his kidney trouble disappeared after using two bottles of the remedy.

"What can I say about Pink Pills for Pale People and their sale," repeated Robert Stevenson, head of the great wholesale drug firm of Robert Stevenson & Co., 94 and 96 Lake street, Chicago. "I can say a great deal about both, young man. We sell more Pink Pills for Pale People than any other pill we handle. And we carry all kinds in stock. The sale is a general one, not only to the city trade, but to the country dealers as well. The public appreciate the fact that Pink Pills for Pale People are a standard remedy. I should imagine from our sales that it was a medicine that was being adopted as a household remedy. You see that these pills have only been known in this section for a few years. I should not care to say that there was a boom growth in the demand for them, but what is infinitely better than that, the steady demand which comes from commanding public confidence. Personally, I know Pink Pills for Pale People to be an excellent remedy, and that the pills do all and more than is claimed for them. We have no hesitancy in recommending them to the people. The consumers must be satisfied, for we have yet to hear our first complaint."

It is a fact well recognized now among physicians and the laity that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness, either male or female.

Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50)—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100, by addressing

SAY IT MEANS RUIN.

GRAND BOULEVARD RESIDENTS OPPOSED TO BRIDLE PATHS.

Property-Owners on the Street Consulting with Each Other and Deciding on Steps to Take to Prevent the Proposed Action of the South Park Commissioners—They Do Not Want the Large Trees Sacrificed That Are Now in the Center of the Beautiful Grass Plats.

Residents of Grand boulevard are opposed to the proposition to create bridle paths on that street, and in so doing to sacrifice the larger trees which beautify it. Since the action of the South Park Commissioners in promising representatives of equestrians that the paths would be built this fall, property-owners on the street have occupied much time consulting with each other and deciding on steps to stop what they term the ruin of the boulevard. Yesterday a number of them were in consultation, and it was practically agreed upon to first protest against the work, and if the protest was unavailing to follow it up with legal proceedings.

The boulevard from Thirty-fifth street to Fifty-first street is improved by some of the finest residences in Chicago. There are not half a dozen flat buildings on the street, and the structures which are being erected at present are, in many cases, handsomer and more costly than those which have preceded them. Property is quoted from $300 to $400 a foot with an advancing tendency, and real estate men say it is getting into the hands of people who, when they improve it, will stick to the examples of architecture which have already been furnished.

The houses look out on a mass of foliage, and the highest trees are those in the center of the two grass plats. They were planted years ago and are beautiful specimens of tree culture. Residents understand the intention of the Commissioners to be to chop those trees down to make room for the dirt paths. They, it is said, look upon the proposed action as an attack on the value of their property and as somehting which will transform the street.

Will Protest to the Board.

Attorney J. R. Custer, one of the residents on the boulevard, is prominent in the residents' movement. He was in consultation yesterday with a number of other large property-owners, and said it was decided to make a formal protest to the South Park Commissioners. A paper embodying the objections of the property-owners was drawn up. It will be presented to the Commissioners at an early date, and on that occasion it will be supported by argument. If the board does not rescind its promise it is given out that the property-owners will immediately subscribe to a fund to take the matter into the courts. The law creating the South Park Board and the boulevard system accords extensive powers to the Commissioners. It was at first thought there was some question as to the possibility of the property-owners restraining them in any improvement or change which they intend to make on the property in their charge. But it is now said the property-owners have been advised that the Commissioners' powers are limited, and that it is a question which only the courts can determine, whether they have the right to destroy trees which have cost the taxpayers a large sum of money, and in addition to that to so alter the character of the boulevard, as it is alleged will be done, as to depreciate the value of the property abutting on it. Acting on this advice, it is said authoritatively that the residents will certainly carry the matter into the courts and take it to the highest court before they will submit. Within a few days a meeting of the residents and property-owners will probably be held, but there is no doubt the action aforesaid, which has already been discussed by many of them, will be supported by the rest.

Mr. Custer yesterday said:

I gathered from Mr. Donnersberger that the plan of the bridle paths contemplates the tearing out of the big trees in the center of both grass plots. That is sufficient for any one who has ever been on the boulevard to understand what a change would be made in the appearance of that street. It is altogether the most outrageous proposition I ever heard of. Mr. Donnersberger, I do not think, is in favor of it, but some of the other Commissioners are, I understand, and probably a sufficient number of them to pass it, unless property-owners can prevent it. That I will say here most emphatically they propose to do if they can. The so-called improvement will reduce the value of the property 25 per cent, and turn one of the finest streets in the world into a laughing stock to people who come here and who are made to understand that trees which were set out twenty years ago, watered and cared for all these years until they reached their present height, were ripped down to oblige a bare handful of equestrians. I have seen a large number of the property-owners, both residents and people who do not live on the boulevard, and they are unanimous in the view that the change is one they will not submit to, if they can help it. We shall file a protest first, and if need be take other steps, and it may be taken for granted that the trees will not be despoiled and the boulevard ruined, unless it is done at the end of a long struggle.

Finerty Makes a Strong Protest.

The following letter has been received from John F. Finerty respecting the proposal to remove the trees on Grand boulevard:

Chicago, May 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I observed in Monday's TRIBUNE a statement to the effect that a number of amateur horsemen, among them Judge Hanecy, Judge Tuley, T. S. Quincy, and Leo Rothschild, have importuned the Board of South Park Commissioners to remove the beautiful elm trees from the grass plats on Grand boulevard between the driveways in order to prevent the gentlemen aforesaid and some others from being jarred by their horses' gait. While I hate to see excellent citizens reduced to this hardship I must, as a resident of Grand boulevard, protest against the conversion of that fine thoroughfare into a riding-made-easy school for timid equestrians. The people who own the property on Grand boulevard and who paid heavy special assessments for its improvement ought to have something to say on the subject. The trees which the non-resident "cavalry" so coolly propose to have torn up were planted at heavy expense, and constitute one of the chief charms of the noblest of the city's thoroughfares. I am astonished that the Board of South Park Commissioners should have weakly consented to displace them for the satisfaction of unpicturesque men on horseback, in flat caps and tight knee breeches—the latter sometimes displaying shanks that might be improved by flowing drapery or trunk hose.

Mr. Quincy kindly suggests that as the property-owners on Grand boulevard would surely "rise in arms" if the Commissioners proceed to uproot the fine elm trees, the sod between them should be turned, and cinders put down, so as to make a bridle path for the luxurious inhabitants of Michigan boulevard, who have no property interests on Grand.

It seems to me that if the delicate abdominal tissue of Mr. Quincy and his friends can stand the jarring of Michigan boulevard's macadam, it can also survive that of the sister thoroughfare. But if Grand boulevard must be butchered to make a Michigan avenue holiday, why not equalize the sacrifice? Let a "dirt road" be also constructed in front of the Hanecy, Rothschild, et al. places on the latter street.

I would like to know the butcher shops at which these gentlemen get their meat, they have grown so great. They will find, however, that, although not Cæsers on horse back, the residents of Grand boulevard know how to defend their rights when they are arrogantly invaded.

The Board of South Park Commissioners will raise a veritable hornet's nest about its ears if it persists in its absurd design of destroying the beauty of the finest boulevard in America in order to please a few selfish non-residents.

JOHN F. FINERTY.

TO PREACH THE GOSPEL IN TENTS.

Salvation Army Ready to Engage in Unique Summer Tours.

The Salvation Army is now holding its annual convention in Princess Rink, West Madison street. A novel campaign has been decided upon for the summer months. Three tents have been secured and will be utilized by different divisions, who will go on a tour through Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin. The largest tent seats over 2,000 people and the smaller ones 1,500 each. Each division will be under charge of a Captain and his staff. Each will have a brass band, a woman warriors' brigade, men's musical group, and some special speakers. Staff Captain Gifford will have charge of the Michigan division, Staff Captain Winchell of Wisconsin, and Staff Captain Brown of Indiana. Each detachment of troops will comprise about fifty people. Heretofore during these State tours the meetings have been held in churches and halls. But these have often proven insufficient and hard to get. Small towns will be visited mainly. Those where attractions or shows of any kind seldom are seen will be chosen. At the convention now being held at Princess Rink the officers of the different regiments will receive their commissions and instructions from Brigadier Fielding, commander of the Army of the Northwest.

One thousand five hundred soldiers participated in the parade in West Madison street last night. The torches, the bands of music, accompanied by the tinkle of tambourines, all made a novel sight and attracted a big crowd. The divisional brass band in new uniforms presented a fine appearance and was lustily cheered. After the procession a musical program was rendered at the rink, presided over by Brigadier Fielding.

Business meetings are held during the day. Tonight the inauguration or commissioning of the brigades will take place. Addresses will be made by Brigadier and Mrs. Fielding and a general union service will be held.

Thursday, the final day of the convention, the session will be held at Evanston under the big tent. Special Decoration day exercises will be given, beginning with a holiness meeting in the morning. A children's meeting will take place at 1:30 o'clock. A musical festival with united bands will occur at 3 o'clock, a Swedish meeting at 5 o'clock, with a farewell salvation meeting in the evening. From there the several sections will separate and start out on their summer tour.

CASEY COULD NOT STAND THE JAIL.

He Is Released by Judge Seaman Because of Its Unsanitary Condition.

Another prisoner in the Cook County Jail has been set at liberty on account of the unsanitary condition of the place. He is Juror John Casey, committed for thirty days by Judge Seaman of the United States Court for contempt last Friday. Representations were made to Judge Seaman yesterday afternoon by relatives and friends of Mr. Casey of the bad condition of the jail. Judge Seaman said it was not the first time he had heard such reports, and he was satisfied that the place was all that had been represented, and he issued an order for the release of Casey. During the present term of the Criminal Court there has hardly been a prisoner brought over to the Marshal's office awaiting his trial but who has complained bitterly of the conditions surrounding him, the character of the food, the treatment of the guards, and the filth and dirt that incumber the premises. Marshal Arnold has been powerless to afford any relief. Had not Judge Grosscup been taken ill while in California there is no doubt but that long ago the United States prisoners would have been removed to another jail. Complaint has been made to him and he expressed his intention of making a personal investigation and of taking some action in the matter. He is expected to return home next week, when his attention will be called to the complaints and the Marshal expects that he will take some action before he leaves the city for the summer.

SAD STORY UNDERLIES HER DEATH.

Woman Found in the Lake Believed to Have an Unknown History.

The woman found in the lake at the foot of Bryn Mawr avenue is still unidentified. She wore but one stocking and no shoes. She was attired in a cream-colored challie dress, which was trimmed with pink stuff and ornamented with a woven flower. The woman was a blonde, about 24 years old. Her teeth were regular and good, and her eyes a light blue.

Near the body on the beach was found a morocco covered Bible, lettered in gilt. On the fly leaf of this is the inscription: "To Annita, from Sister Sarah, Christmas, 1881." A slip of newspaper marked the seventh chapter of Genesis, the first three verses of which are as follows:

First—And it came to pass when men began to multiply on the face of the earth and daughters were born unto them,

Second—That sons of God saw the daughters of men, that they were fair; and they took them wives of all which they chose.

Third—And the Lord said my spirit shall not always strive with man, for that he also is flesh; yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years.

It was the belief of Deputy Coroner Buckley and others yesterday that a sad romance underlies the death of the unknown woman. Her remains will be kept at Eisfeldt's morgue for a few days in the hope that some one may be able to identify the woman.

COTTAGE GROVE GRIP KILLS A BOY.

Falls in Front of a Train and Is Run Over—Accidents of a Day.

Arthur Beatty, aged 11 years, was run over and killed yesterday near Thirty-ninth street by a Cottage Grove avenue cable train. He fell directly in front of the grip. The boy lived with his grandfather who is a flagman in the employ of the Chicago City railway company, No. 404 East Forty-second street.

A runaway team dashed into a street sprinkler attached to a Halsted street car yesterday morning at Archer avenue and not only demolished the sprinkler but bruised John Shaw who was in charge of it. One of the horses was also injured and had to be shot. Shaw was removed to his home.

J. W. Riddell, Fifteenth street and Campbell avenue, who was employed by the Knickerbocker Ice company, was struck and fatally injured by a Northern Pacific train at Western avenue last evening at 6:30 o'clock. He died at 9 o'clock at the County Hospital. His skull was fractured in two places.

Murderer O'Mara Is Arrested.

Michael O'Mara, who killed his wife Monday night at their residence, No. 3807 Armour avenue, is locked up at the Stanton Avenue Police Station. He appeared at the house yesterday afternoon while the inquest over the body of the dead woman was in progress and was placed under arrest. The verdict of the Coroner's jury was that he be held without bail. He refused to answer any questions. "Never mind," he said, "I'll have something to say when the proper time comes, but not now. All I can say is that that woman should have been dead ten years ago." Two weeks ago, neighbors say, the couple had a fight, and after O'Mara had choked the woman he seized her by the hair and dragged her out of the house.

Strange Kidnaping of a Boy.

While 9-year-old Fred Webster was playing in front of his home at No. 4738 Evans avenue yesterday afternoon a strange man alighted from a buggy and, putting the boy inside, drove rapidly north on Evans avenue. The Police Department at Hyde Park was notified of the success ful kidnaping, and Sergt. Mullen, accompanied by a half dozen officers, started out in search of the missing boy. No trace of him was discovered by the police. At 6 o'clock the missing boy returned to his home. He said that after driving to the corner of Twenty-second street and Michigan boulevard his captor put him on the sidewalk, instructing him to walk home.

Bigamist Sent Up for Three Years.

John Schimanski, alias John A. Lane, was convicted of bigamy in Judge Stein's court yesterday and given three years in the penitentiary.

Local Snap Shots.

Justice Robbins imposed a fine of $5 each on fourteen tramps who were brought before him at South Chicago yesterday morning.

The sixth annual banquet of the Alumni Association of the Chicago College of Law will be held at the Auditorium this evening at 7 o'clock.

An important collection of the works of Eduard Manet, the first and most important of the French impressionists, will be placed on exhibition at the Art Institute today.

Evidence was heard yesterday afternoon before the Police Trial Board in the case of Officer Thomas Meehan of the Hyde Park Station, who was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer, and, it was said yesterday, his discharge from the force will be recommended. The cases of Sergt. Martin O'Malley and Officer Peter O'Malley of the West Chicago Avenue Station, charged with fighting in the station, were not taken up.

Through a mistake on the part of Officer P. J. Hickey of the Armory Alfred Brunt, arrested for being under the influence of liquor, was detained in the station twenty-four hours longer than was intended. The officer mistook Henry Smith, arrested for a similar offense, for his prisoner and on his testimony Smith was discharged, while the officer thought he was testifying against Brunt. This was Monday morning, and as a result Brunt was compelled to wait until yesterday for a hearing. He was discharged.

An extended opinion was rendered by Corporation Counsel Beale yesterday morning in the question of granting Fred Klein, No. 5014 Cottage Grove avenue, a saloon license. Under the terms of annexation the old Hyde Park ordinances, he says, still hold good, and it therefore lies within the power of the Mayor to grant or refuse licenses to saloons according as he may consider such places not essential to the welfare of the neighborhood. It is thought probable that Mayor Swift will not grant the license sought by Klein, as vigorous protests have already come in from Hyde Park against any more saloons.

TO DINE WITH DEPEW

TWENTY-FOUR NOTABLES TO BE HIS GUESTS AT A FEAST.

Two of Them, McKinley and Reed, Are Avowed Candidates for the Presidency—Harrison to Be One of the Two Dozen—Roosevelt Not Sorry That Byrnes Is Gone—Religious Paper Barred from the Mails for Conducting a Lottery—General News of New York.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Chauncey M. Depew will have a notable number of gentlemen at dinner tomorrow evening. They will total twenty-four, and among them will be: Gov. Levi P. Morton of New York; Gov. McKinley of Ohio; Benjamin Harrison of Indiana; Thomas C. Platt of New York; Warner Miller, who wants to be Senator again from New York; Frank Hiscock, ditto, ditto; Mayor William L. Strong, who is for McKinley; William Brookfield, who is against Platt twenty-fours hours each day and is for Harrison; Gen. Samuel Thomas, who is against Platt and for the Union League; Gen. Horace Porter, Gen. Wager Swayne, and Col. Joel Berthold, ditto, ditto; Theodore Roosevelt, with his belt loaded with police scalps; Gen. James S. Clarkson of Iowa, representing Senator Allison; Senator Thomas Carter, Senator Stephen B. Elkins, Cornelius N. Bliss, Elihu Root, against Platt. The names of the other invited guests could not be obtained, but they are supposed to include Gen. Collis and a number of others. Of his guests there are two avowed candidates for the Republican nomination for President—Gov. McKinley and ex-Speaker Reed. Both are expected to be in New York tomorrow morning.

Gov. McKinley has run away from his State convention, which is being held at this early date to nominate candidates for important offices. This convention also is expected to take action regarding its candidate for Predident next year, and when Gov. McKinley enters "Col." Depew's house tomorrow night he will be probably the first Presidential candidate who formally has been put before the people by a State convention. Mr. Reed has been in and around the city for some time and his friends have been keeping a close watch on the movements of ex-President Harrison and Gov. Morton.

"Col." Depew says his dinner will be a private one and that there will be no speeches, except such as are inspired by the coffee and cigars. He also says that he will not feel the ends of the dinner knives nor remove the forks after the second or third course. He does not think that this will be at all necessary. He expects there will be nothing but harmony and consequently happiness.

Gov. McKinley has engaged apartments at the Windsor Hotel, where he stays when in New York.

Gen. Harrison will return to New York tomorrow from his trip to West Point. Gov. Morton will leave Albany tomorrow morning and reach his hotel, the Renaissance, in the afternoon. The Governor is not bothering himself over the Presidency.

Ex-Speaker Reed does not go to a hotel, and no one will know of his presence in town until he walks up the steps at Col. Depew's home. The Governor may not finally be at Mr. Depew's dinner, but he is expected. With ex-President Harrison, Gov. McKinley, and other leading men he will review the parade.

"Col." Depew promises there will be nothing but happiness at his dinner, and he says that no physicians or ambulances have been engaged. Few imagine that Depew himself has abandoned all hope that the Presidential lightning may yet strike him. Yet without a blush Mr. Depew said today:

"I am a peacemaker and I night and day carry an olive branch in my hand. I always demand harmony even if I have to fight for it, and I have invariably discovered that the banquet board is the best place to bury animosity."

NOT SORRY THAT BYRNE IS GONE.

Roosevelt Thinks the New York Police Will Be Benefited.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Mulberry street is finding its feet today. It is adjusting itself to the new idea that it can get along without Inspector Brynes. The surprise of some of the old men to find things running as heretofore was sometimes amusing. They still insisted the crooks would come back in shoals when they heard the news, and took a gloomy sort of satisfaction in reading the newspaper accounts of the mysterious murder in Fifty-sixth street, and in pointing out that it occurred at the precise moment when Byrnes was retired. Someone had said that Byrnes' retirement had disorganized the force. "Disorganized," said President Roosevelt; "nonsense! Say for me that instead of disorganized, the police force is now reorganized. There was never a time when the foes of order had reason to fear the police as they have today. Say it from me!" and Mr. Roosevelt shut his teeth with a snap. "Half the work is done," said he. "You tear down the old house before you put up the new. As to the men we detailed to the high offices yesterday and as to those to be appointed hereafter they will know that their staying in them will depend upon themselves. They are there to prove their fitness. If they can prove it they stay; otherwise not." And Mr. Roosevelt turned to his mail without one word of Byrnes.

Slowly the question of the coming man is forcing itself to the surface. In the maelstrom that engulfed Byrnes no other face is clearly visible. There is considerable talk today of Capt. Moses Cortright. Neither the Captains detailed to Inspectorships nor the Acting Chief of today were appointed by the Commissioners. They were simply detailed. They are on probation to prove their fitness in the sense, President Roosevelt said, but they were not officially appointed on probation. The new head of the detective office has not yet been chosen. Detective Sergeant McClosky remains in charge for the present.

President Roosevelt said the board would go right ahead with its work of reforming and reorganizing the department. Not withstanding the defeat in the Legislature of the reorganization bill it begins to look as though the Commissioners will accomplish nearly as much without the powers that would have been conferred upon them if the bill had become a law. With Byrnes, Williams, and McAvoy out of the way they will now, it is said, try to get rid of a certain number of Captains who are under charges. They are determined that Inspector McLaughlin must go, but nothing can be done in his case pending his trial.

The story was current yesterday that ex-Supt. Byrnes of the New York police force had been offered a salary of $10,000 a year by W. A. Pinkerton to come to Chicago and accept a position with the Pinkerton agency. W. A. Pinkerton is in Omaha and Supt. Murray is away on sick leave. The man in charge of the Pinkerton agency yesterday said that while he might not know if such an offer had been made Mr. Byrnes he did not believe that there was any truth in the story.

SHOCK GIVEN TO RELIGIOUS PEOPLE.

Their Paper Barred from the Mails for Conducting a Lottery.

New York, May 28.—The Church Union, a religious paper published by Miss Elizabeth Grannis, and which has for associate editors the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, Bishop J. P. Newman, Miss Frances E. Willard, the Rev. C. C. Salter, Dr. Joseph R. Wilson, and others, was today excluded from the mails on the ground that it contained a lottery advertisement, and that the paper was in fact conducting a lottery business. The last number of the paper contained a full page advertisement offering a total of about $2,900 in prizes to aid in securing subscribers for the paper. The plan for distributing the prizes is somewhat unique. All letters received containing subscriptions will be numbered as received, commencing with number one. The person sending the letter on which the number 100 falls will receive a fine gold watch valued at $50; number 300 will receive a bicycle worth $100; number 1,500 will receive a fine clock worth $400; number 3,000 gets a trip to Europe at the cost of $500; number 4,500 gets a tour of the Orient at $700, and number 6,000 a grand piano worth $825.

FROM AFFLUENCE TO DIRE POVERTY

Sad Fate of a Former Alderman Who Speculated in Wall Street.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Not long ago Elisha B. Morrell was a Brooklyn Alderman worth more than a third of a million dollars. Saturday the authorities sent the poor-wagon to take him to the almshouse. He had become poor and his friends, all but one or two, were gone. The driver of the poor-wagon knocked at the door of his little furnished room at No. 137 Spencer street, and, getting no reply, opened the door and went in. He found Morrell dead. Morrell was 76 years old. For the last few years he had lived alone in the little room in Spencer street. A clergyman who had known him years ago had been for some months almost his only caller. Lately the clergyman had defrayed Morrell's few expenses. Morrell lost his fortune in Wall street.

PROFESSIONAL SWINDLER IS DEAD.

H. Granville Gray, Well Known in All the Large Cities of the Country.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—H. Granville Gray, the professional swindler, is dead in Philadelphia. Swindler Gray was well known in this city as also in Chicago and other large cities. He was so accomplished a swindler as to insure him the respect of the police wherever he went. He was over six feet tall, weighed 200 pounds, and was so distinguished looking that without difficulty he could impersonate army officers, secret service men, Philadelphia editors, and capitalists. He was arrested for bigamy in Chicago in 1894, but was released upon an agreement to live with wife No. 2.

DISGUSTED BEAR'S CAUSTIC COMMENT.

With These Conditions Prevailing What Else Can He Expect?

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—A disgusted St. Louis bear wires his broker here as follows:

"With hot winds in Kansas, frost in Dakota, great heat in South Dakota, drought in Illinois, bugs in Missouri, flies in Ohio, snow in Wisconsin, freezing in Michigan, too much rain in Kentucky, oat louse in Tennessee, King in Toledo, Robinson at Washington, and Modern Miller at Kansas City, how in thunder can we raise a crop of anything but bulls?"

CHANGES IN AVAILABLE STOCKS.

Corresponding increases are 39,000 bu at Kingston, Ont., and 28,000 bu at Milwaukee private elevators.

NEWS NOTES OF THE METROPOLIS.

Alleged Bigamist and Swindler Likely to Don Stripes.

New York, May 28.—Detective Bagnarello left Detroit tonight for New York with W. J. White, the alleged bigamist and swindler, who is wanted for abstracting some $11,000 belonging to Mrs. Mary Tomlinson from a safety deposit vault in that city. Mrs. Tomlinson had procured White's arrest at Buchanan, Mich., on the charge of bigamy, White having been married to her and various other women. It was shown today that no direct proofs of his bigamy could be secured at present and he was turned over to the New York detectives, who had already secured extradition papers.

Gotham Brevities.

M. D. C. Borden has authorized the Chief of Police to offer a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the murderers of Ferdinand Harris yesterday at the residence of Mr. Borden.

The United States Leather company today declared a special dividend of 1 per cent on its preferred stock. The regular quarterly dividend will be declared shortly and will probably be 2 per cent.

A petition for an order to show cause why the Western Nevada Mining company should not be voluntarily dissolved was presented to Chief Judge Daly in the special term of the Superior Court today. Nicholas P. Todd, Benjamin L. Curtis, and James M. Ball, trustees of the corporation, are the petitioners. The company was formed with a capital of $250,000 to purchase, work, and develop certain mining claims in Esmeralda County, Nev.

DECORATION DAY, MAY 30.

Extra Train Service of the Illinois Central to Oakwoods Cemetery, 67th Street Station.

TENNIS GAMES BEGIN.

INTER-COLLEGIATE MATCHES AT THE KENWOOD CLUB.

First Annual Tournament of the Newly Organized Association to Be Held on the Splendid Courts at Forty-eighth Street and Drexel Boulevard—Prizes of Handsome Cups for the Winners in Both Singles and Doubles—Many Entries Promise to Make the Contest Close.

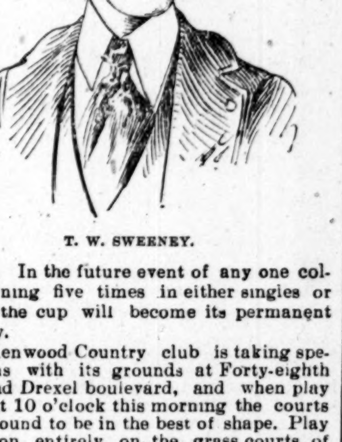

Today on the grounds of the Kenwood Country club the Western Inter-Collegiate Tennis Association will hold its first annual tournament. The association, which was formed at a meeting held in Snell Hall of the Chicago University last evening, consists of the following universities and colleges: Chicago, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Beloit, Knox, Lake Forest, Minnesota, and Albion. There will be one entry each in singles and doubles from each of these institutions.

The prizes consist of handsome cups for the first in both singles and doubles. The second prizes consist of tennis supplies donated by manufacturers. The most important trophy is a handsomely embossed cup which is to be held by the college whose team wins the tournament. In the future event of any one college winning five times in either singles or doubles the cup will become its permanent property.

The Kenwood Country club is taking special pains with its grounds at Forty-eighth street and Drexel boulevard, and when play begins at 10 o'clock this morning the courts will be found to be in the best of shape. Play will go on entirely on the grass courts, of which there are eleven ready for the tournament. In spite of the large entry list the tournament is expected to finish by Thursday evening, owing to the large number of matches that can be played at once.

Carr B. Neel, the representative in singles from the University of Chicago and the present Northwestern champion, is considered to have practically a certainty of winning the first prize in singles. In doubles Mr. Neel and his partner, William Bond, are looked upon as favorites, but several other teams, notably G. B. Street and T. W. Sweeney from Northwestern, are expected to make a good showing. J. W. Brooks Jr., President of the Kenwood Country club, will be referee.

Representatives of the Western Intercollegiate Association met last night in Lecture Hall, University of Chicago, and elected the following officers: President, Joseph E. Raycroft, University of Chicago; Vice-President, H. H. Manson, University of Wisconsin; Secretary, E. M. Weeks, Knox College; Treasurer, J. G. Coulter, Lake Forest University. These officers, together with L. H. Paine of Albion College and McCaskey of Northwestern University, constitute the Executive committee.

A constitution was adopted providing that $20 shall be levied upon each member of the association for the purchase of a championship trophy to be competed for at the annual tournament. Further, that this trophy shall become the property for the ensuing year of that association which shall have won the first place in singles at the annual tournament and shall come into final possession of that association which shall first have won five first prizes at the annual tournament. In case of a tie second prizes shall decide.

Today's play will begin at 10 o'clock this morning. The drawings:

Preliminaries—H. H. Manson, Wis., bye; W. S. Bond [Chicago] vs. T. A. Thornton [L. F. U.]; Cushing [Knox] vs. —— [Minn.]; Maywood [Albion] vs. G. B. Street [N. W. U.]. First round—J. Weeks [Knox] vs. W. L. G. Burt [N. W. U.]; L. H. Paine [Albion] vs. J. G. Coulter [L. F. U.]; W. H. Hughitt [Wis.] vs. C. B. Neel [Chicago]; Minnesota, bye.

In doubles the drawings for the preliminaries are: Chicago vs. Knox, Minnesota vs. Wisconsin, Northwestern vs. Lake Forest, Albion College bye.

No representative from Minnesota arrived last night. The colleges thus far represented are: University of Minnesota, University of Wisconsin, Lake Forest, Northwestern, Knox College, Albion College, and the University of Chicago. The University of Michigan did not send a representative as expected. The entries are:

Wisconsin—Singles, H. H. Manson; doubles, H. H. Manson, W. H. Hughitt.

Lake Forest—Singles, T. A. Thornton, J. G. Coulter; doubles, J. G. Coulter, C. A. Coolidge.

TIE GAMES AT NORTHWESTERN.

W. G. Burt and G. B. Street Play Until Stopped by Darkness.

Some of the best tennis ever seen at Northwestern was played yesterday afternoon at Evanston in the finals and singles between W. G. Burt and G. B. Street. Play did not begin till 5 o'clock and the match was finally stopped by darkness with the score a tie. Street won the first and third sets 6–4, 6–4; and Burt won the second and fourth 7–5, 8–6.

It was generally conceded before the match that Street would have the best of the argument, although his opponent had won the championship the year previous. A large audience was present, and although a high wind prevailed it did not seem to interfere with the play, and both won continual applause by their fine plays. Street's side line shots and his smashes were very effective. Burt used the Lawford stroke continually, but he did not have it under very good control, driving the ball frequently into the net or beyond the back line. Both men played erratic tennis, winning several games in succession and then losing as many. In the second set the score stood 5 to 1 in favor of Burt, and he led in the next game 40-love. Street then rallied and not only won that game but took the next three, and for a time it seemed as if he would get the set.

The match will not be played off till after the intercollegiate meet, both men taking part in that contest.

FOR NEW ENGLAND CHAMPIONSHIP.

Yesterday's Play at Tennis in the Tenth Annual Tournament.

New Haven, Conn., May 28.—[Special.]—Fine weather and the courts in excellent condition greeted the tennis players, who began the tenth annual tournament for the New England championship here today. The attendance was fair. The best work of the morning was the Paret-Dwight match. In the afternoon two good matches were played. The struggle between Neely and Howland was sharp, but all the honors went to Howland. Budlong and Newman Smyth of Yale played a closely contested match, Budlong proving the winner as expected. Howland won his match on his strong pace, his sure back hand stroke, and his improved net work. Budlong is not in his usual form yet, but was steady at critical moments and scored when necessary to win the decisive point from Smyth. The summary:

Preliminary round—J. E. Paret, New York, beat W. E. Dwight, Yale, 6–0, 1–6, and 6–1. J. C. Neely, New York, beat A. M. Moody, Yale, 6–3, 6–0. Clarence R. Budlong, Providence, beat Guy Heaton, Yale, 6–1, 6–4. W. A. Larned, New York, beat J. Terry, Yale, 2–6, 6–1, and 6–3. Clarence Budlong beat Newman Smyth Jr., Yale, 6–1, 6–3. J. Mundy, Yale, beat R. Griffith, Yale, 6–4, 7–5. W. L. Phelps, Yale, beat Henry Clews, Yale, 6–1, 6–4. C. P. Kellogg, Yale, beat H. C. Holcomb, Yale, 6–4, 6–2. Newman Smyth Jr., Yale, beat H. A. Loomis, Yale, 6–3, 7–5.

First round—John Howland, New York, beat J. C. Neely, 6–3, 6–1. Clarence Budlong, Providence, beat N. Smyth, Yale, 6–1, 6–3.

Tomorrow the singles and doubles will be continued. Foote and Chace of Yale are looked on as the favorite pair.

TO CLEAR LAKE-FRONT

BYRON L. SMITH BRINGS ACTION AGAINST ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

He Files a Bill for a Restraining Order in Which It Is Alleged the Railroad Company Has Usurped the Rights Given It by the City Council on the Lake-Front Between Madison and Randolph Streets—He Wants the Fences and Buildings Removed.

Suit has been begun in the Circuit Court by Byron L. Smith against the Illinois Central railroad company. The object of it is to cause the removal of the fences erected by the company between its tracks and the Lake-Front Park and of the storehouses of the company between Madison and Randolph streets. The bill demands that the company be restrained from using its right of way between the above points for other than the purpose of transportation. It refers to the action of the company in reclaiming submerged lands, and states that the city ordinances relating to rights of the railway did not grant authority to construct buildings, station its cars, build fences, or in any way place obstacles in the way of the free passage of the public to and from the beach.

It is charged, however, that the railroad company, regardless of the dedication of the strip of land to public uses, has been and is now occupying its right of way between Randolph and Madison streets for other purposes than the passage of trains. It is using the right of way for the storage of cars. It has also, it is averred, placed trains of cars in front of the complainant's premises so that his view of the lake is obstructed and the passage of persons to the water cut off. The company has also built an iron fence, which it is charged is an absolute trespass upon the complainant's rights.

Mr. Smith is the owner of Lot 1 of Laflin's subdivision, which is situated at the corner of Washington street and Michigan avenue, and is valued by him at $40,000.

When the Town of Chicago was platted by the U. S. Government, it is related, the space between Madison street and Randolph street was reserved as a public ground forever. Because of this reservation, this vacant space is vested in the City of Chicago for public use as a common park to the water of the lake.

The complainant avers he has become entitled to enforce such dedication and to prevent the open tract from being diverted from the public use and to be kept clear of any obstructions and he is entitled to pass over it to the lake. The complainant then sets up the old ordinance under which the city allowed the Illinois Central road to place its tracks along the lake front, and says that the ordinance provided that the company should not erect any buildings between Randolph street and the south line of Lake Park or use the land except for the passage of trains. The bill also declares the platform for passengers to be in violation of the public rights.

Ald. Campbell, the Chairman of the Committee on Wharves and Public Grounds, announced yesterday that the conference between the committee and various business men, railroad officials, and the Drainage Trustees in reference to filling the basin of the lake opposite the Lake-Front Park had been postponed until Monday. He stated that he had conferred with some of those interested and it was concluded that it would be better to delay the conference until next week. It is intimated by some that there has already been too much delay and that the thing to do is to go to work on the filling. The plan of the park after the basin has been filled can be prepared at any time and it is held the committee should at once take the necessary steps in the direction of an arrangement with the drainage contractors for doing the work.

LAKE SHIPPING NEWS.

Cargo of Glucose Shipped.

The steamer Kate Buttironi yesterday loaded a full cargo of glucose, shipped to New York via the lakes and Erie Canal. It will be reloaded at Buffalo. The shippers are the Chicago Sugar Refining company, and the cargo is the first of its kind on record. It is largely in the nature of an experiment, but if it is proved practicable there will be much glucose to go by this route during the season. Previous to this the glucose going East has been shipped in large quantities through the regular line steamers. This spring the maintenance of freight rates to the seaboard by the railroad-steamer pool caused shippers to seek the advantage of the low lake rate and the unprecedently low carrying charges on the Erie Canal. It is estimated that the freight to New York on the Buttironi's cargo, including insurance, will be but little over half what would have been charged on line steamers to Buffalo and thence by railroad to the seaboard.

Steamer Alva in Bad Shape.

GLEN HAVEN, Mich., May 28.—The wrecker Favorite, which was sent to the assistance of the steamer Alva, ashore on North Manitou Island, is here today on account of heavy weather. The wind is blowing a gale from the southeast, rendering work impossible. The Alva is in bad shape and will cause much work before it is off. The boat will have to be lifted off by hydraulic jacks, as it is without cargo and rests so hard on the bottom that tugs could not pull it off. It is on amidships, and the starboard compartments of its waterbottom are full of water, which runs in so fast that pumps cannot keep it out. The boat lies among the rocks, and as the jacks cannot be used except in still weather the work will probably last a long time.

Freights and Charters.

CHICAGO—Grain freights were strong on account of the advance in Escanaba ore, and it is likely that the present rates will be advanced before the week is out. Charters—To Buffalo: Majestic, Schlesinger, Gratwick [wood], corn, at 1¼ cents; to Port Huron: Gifford, oats, at 1 cent.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Coal charters: Doty, Jeanette, Macy, Wilson, George King, Rawson, Milwaukee, 35 cents; Oscoda, Corning, King, Portage, 30 cents; Webb, Young, Manitowoc, 35 cents; Uganda, Superior, private terms; Hoag, McDougall, Saginaw; Donaldson, Bay City; Stanley, Owen Sound, owners' account.

CLEVELAND, O.—The Marquette and Escanaba ore rates were advanced 5 cents today, quite a few boats being placed to load at Escanaba at 50 cents, and although no Marquette ore charters were reported a few boats were placed at 70 cents. The rate from the head of Lake Superior is firm at 80 cents. Coal freights are very quiet. The steamer Pasadena takes wheat from Buffalo to Midland or Owen Sound at 2¼ cents. Charters—Ore: Hesper, Presley, Redington, Georger, Forbes, McLachlan, Inter-Ocean, Winslow, Helena, Samuel Mitchell, Escanaba to Ohio ports, 50 cents; Samuel Mitchell, Ashland to South Chicago, 80 cents.

DETROIT, Mich.—Chartered: Barkalow, Maumee Valley, wheat, Cleveland, 1 cent, free elevation.

Around the Lakes.

GREEN BAY, Wis.—A sailor named James Murphy, employed on the steamer Russia, last night fell into an open hatchway and was instantly killed.

PORT HURON, Mich.—The tug Kittie Haight, belonging to Canadian people, was fined $140 today by the Collector of Customs for violating customs regulations in towing between American ports. This tug has had many years' freedom at this port, and if it was fined at this rate for each offense it would owe the government twenty times its value.

COLTS AN EASY MARK.

ANSON'S AGGREGATION FALL BEFORE THE BROOKLYNS.

Stratton Starts to Pitch but Is Soon Pounded Out of the Box, While Hutchison, Who Takes His Place, Fares but Little Better—Dahlen Makes Three Costly Errors, and None of the Men Succeed in Hitting Kennedy's Curves.

COLTS WERE NEVER IN THE GAME.

Brooklyns Have an Easy Time with Anson's Great Aggregation.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Uncle Anson's aggregation made their initial appearance of the season at Eastern Park, Brooklyn, this afternoon, and it is very likely that they will not forget their little experience for some time. The Brooklyns played horse with the Chicago club to the delight of the "rooters." It was one of those old-time baseball slaughters. The Colts were never in the hunt, as they were entirely at the mercy of Kennedy's deceptive curves. Stratton was chosen by Anson to mow down the Brooklyns, but he proved to be the easiest kind of a mark for the Grooms. They lit onto his curves in the second inning, and it fairly rained base hits for a time. After the home players had touched up his curves to the tune of a three-bagger, three doubles, and a single Anson called a halt and Stratton was relegated to the bench, and Hutchison was trotted out. The latter also was hit freely. The Brooklyn team this afternoon was made up of the same players as defeated New York at the Polo Grounds the opening day, and if their playing in this game be taken as a criterion there will be no need of changes on the team. The team to a man played in magnificent form; this was shown in their base running. Dahlen's playing was of a very small caliber, he contributing no less than three errors, all of which proved costly. Corcoran and Daly carried off the honors for the home team. Tredway and Kennedy hit the ball for keeps, the latter getting in a three-bagger that would easily have been a home run had he not stumbled turning third base. McDoughall, a new pitcher from Amsterdam, N. Y., will report to Manager Foutz tomorrow. The score:

College Ball Team Breaks Up.

New Haven, Conn., May 28.—[Special.]—The Georgetown baseball nine has been obliged to give up its northern trip and has canceled all its games. The match with Yale today was not played, and the contests with Holy Cross, Trinity, Wesleyan, Harvard, and Brown are all off.

Quits Northwestern's Nine.

Frank W. Griffith, for three years pitcher of the Northwestern University baseball team, has quit the team and says he will not play there again. The trouble came to a head when Griffith was not allowed to pitch in the games with the University of Michigan or the University of Illinois. He was asked to stay in the game and play in the outfield, but refused to do this. He is now at Ann Arbor, where he is supposed to be training with the Michigan team and getting into condition for his season with the Cleveland league team which begins June 15.

NEW RIVAL FOR CRUM.

D. A. Stuart Will Contest the 100 and 220 Yard Dashes Saturday.

There will be a new factor in the intercollegiate 100 and 220 yards runs at C. A. A. field Saturday. An entry has been received from D. A. Stuart of St. Alban's Military Academy. Though arriving late, he will undoubtedly be allowed to compete, as affidavits will be furnished to the Executive committee that the entry was mailed on time. Young Stuart is the runner who did 9 4-5 seconds in an exhibition with W. H. Coppie, his trainer, two weeks ago. He is reported to have all the speed claimed for him, and can surely give Crum a race if this is true. With Boothman, Buchman, Rayburn, Crum, and Stuart in the 100 and 220 will be exciting. About twelve entries were received yesterday from Wheaton College, but they will be thrown out.

General Sporting Notes.

J. B. Brashearst—April 24 the Chicagos played an errorless game at Louisville.

Frank G. Barnett of the Monarch Racing Team lowered the two-mile flying unpaced world's record of 4:54 4-5 at Louisville, Ky. He made the distance in the remarkable time of 4:42 2-5.

Muncie, Ind., May 28.—[Special.]—The Anderson team, strengthened by two new players, defeated the Page Giants of Adrian, Mich., today. Gogan outpitched Vandyke, but did not have as good support.

Muncie, Ind., May 28.—[Special.]—The lightweight prizefight between Kid McCarty and Tommy Kelley, the Galveston spider, was pulled off early this morning near Hartford City and was won easily by McCarty.

The Ravenswood Driving Association will give a matinee at their track Decoration day, commencing at 2 p. m. The best horses at the track are entered in the three races on the program and some close finishes can be looked for.

Madison, Wis., May 28.—[Special.]—Northwestern and Wisconsin Universities will play football at the Wisconsin State Fair in Milwaukee Sept. 20 or 21. Arrangements have just been completed by Secretary Fleming of the State Fair Association.

UNFAVORABLE WEEK FOR THE CROPS.

Rain Is Greatly Needed in Many States—Condition of Grain Crops.

The weather crop bulletin issued by the Chicago branch of the United States Weather Bureau for the last week says:

Upon the whole the weather conditions of the week have been unfavorable. Farm work has been retarded in the Gulf, Middle, and South Atlantic States from excessive rains, while crops generally need rain from the Ohio Valley westward. Complaints as to the effect of the unseasonably low temperature upon crops are general throughout the middle and southern portions of the country; also the central. Cotton has suffered seriously, especially on sandy soil, and is reported as dying in portions of the Carolinas, Georgia, Mississippi, Arkansas, and complaints of injury from lice are reported from Louisiana and Mississippi. Florida reports cotton late but healthy. Replanting of corn has been general throughout the week. Owing to damaging effects of frost in Indiana most of the crop had to be replanted. Kansas reports corn doing well, and in Nebraska the early planted is in good condition, but rain is needed to bring up that recently planted. In the Southern States the general condition of corn is good and in some sections cultivation is finished. Tobacco planting is progressing rapidly in Kentucky and has begun in Maryland, where plants are abundant. Ohio reports tobacco plants in poor condition. Winter wheat is reported as in good condition in Northern Illinois, but in poor condition in central and southern portions of the State. The condition of wheat has declined rapidly in Missouri owing to drought and insects. In Indiana some wheat has been plowed and planted in corn, and the crop has sustained further injury from frosts in Ohio.

GOES TO APPLEGATE.

HE TAKES THE GREAT AMERICAN STAKES EASILY.

Handspring Is Off in Front to a Good Start, Followed Closely by Hazlet and Applegate—The Latter Wins Handily—The Butterflies Takes the Gazelle Stakes, with California Second and Roundelay Third—Ramapo, a Heavy Odds-on-Favorite, Wins Opening Event.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Six favorites won the races at Gravesend today and the bookmakers are wearing worried looks. The attendance was kept down to moderate figures by the uncertain weather during the morning, in spite of the fact that the Great American Stakes for 2-year-olds, valued at $16,650 to the winner, was run off. The flag fell to a good start for the big race and as soon as the youngsters were settled into their strides Handspring took the lead, followed closely by Hazlet and Applegate. When they turned into the stretch McCafferty, who was on Applegate, began to move up and soon had Handspring beaten, while Hazlet hung on until the last furlong, when Applegate came away like a flash and won handily. The fractional time was :12½, :24¼, :37, 49¼, 1:02. It was a true run race and stamped the McCafferty colt as the best of the year in the minds of about all the trainers at the track.

It was a pity The Butterflies did not have Owlet in the race for the Gazelle Stakes. The Daly mare was not as good as most people supposed. Though she won today by a good length she was all out and was sore when she walked back to the stable.

Derfargilla would have been beaten had she much further to go. She outran her field handily, but Doggett had to "punch" pretty hard to stand off Chiswick's challenge in the last furlong. Adelbert also needs another race or two before he is himself. Pont Lear was well played to win this race, but she was never dangerous at any stage of the game.

Sister Mary only had her backers in doubt in the early part of the last race. On the back stretch she galloped over her horses and won as she pleased. The summary:

First race, 1 1-16 miles—Ramapo, 126 pounds [Griffin], 1 to 5, won; Connoisseur, 106 [Penn], 5 to 1, second; Ingoldsby, 91 [Sheedy], 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:51¾. Tinge and Manchester also ran.

Second race, 5 furlongs, selling—Merry Prince, 108 pounds [Griffin], 7 to 5, won; Lorrania, 111 [Doggett], 6 to 1, second; Teko, 98 [McGinn], 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:04. Nantucket, Ratt Goundy, Imperial, Anna Lyle, M. D. R., Carp, and Himyara also ran.

Third race, Great American Stakes, 5 furlongs—Applegate, 118 pounds [McCafferty], 2 to 1, won; Hazlett, 118 [Griffin], 2 to 1, second; Handspring, 118 [J. Lamley], 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:02. Jefferson, Barytone II., Al Rum, Montezuma, Mormon, Refugee, and Gold Crest also ran.

Fourth race, Gazelle Stakes, 1¼ miles—The Butterflies, 117 pounds [Griffin], 1 to 2, won; California, 117 [Doggett], 5 to 2, second; Roundelay, 118 [Taral], 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:59½. Second Attempt also ran.

Fifth race, ¾ mile, selling—Derfargilla, 109 pounds [Doggett], 7 to 5, won; Chiswick, 104 [Penn], 12 to 1, second; Adelbert, 116 [Taral], 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:15¾. Canterbury, Shelley Tuttle, Factotum, Hailstone, Will Fonso, Milton T., and Pont Lear also ran.

Sixth race, 1 1-16 miles—Sister Mary, 115 pounds [Doggett], 6 to 5, won; Aurelian, 87 [Simonds], 20 to 1, second; Kennel, 100 [J. Lamley], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:50¼. Equity, Sandowne, Capt. T., and Redskin also ran.

LOSSES RECOUPED BY THE TALENT.

Four of Six Favorites at Alexander Win on a Dry Track.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—A dry track at Alexander this afternoon gave the talent a chance to recoup its recent losses. Four of the six favorites got home first and a fifth in Ontario would have won had he not fallen on the second turn. The summary:

First race, 3-year-olds, selling, 4½ furlongs—Rosita, 97 pounds [Donnelly], 6 to 5, won easily by two lengths; Annie T., 97 [Duffy], 4 to 1, second by a length; Flash, 104 [Washburn], 8 to 1, third. Time, :53½. Thackeray, Dama, Lady Like, Dr. Parkhurst, Northford, and Delia M. ran unplaced.

Second race, 3-year-olds and upward, 6¼ furlongs—Ataman, 116 pounds [Ham], 9 to 10, won easily by a length; Belisarius, 110 [Corbley], 2 to 1, second by a length; Eddie M., 112 [A. Moore], 100 to 1, third. Time, 1:22½. Salisbury, Adventuress, imp. Holyport, and Welcome finished as named.

Third race, maiden 2-year-olds, ½ mile—Torello, 103 pounds [Washburn], 1 to 2, won by a length and a half; Monolith, 109 [Coleman], 15 to 1, second by two lengths; La Shade, 103 [Murphy], 10 to 1, third. Time, :52. Perverse, Mit Jones, and Sea Flower also ran.

Fourth race, 3-year-olds and upward, selling, 1 1-16 miles—Torraine, 109 pounds [Coleman], 18 to 5, won cleverly by a length; C. O. D., 103 [Parsons], 5 to 1, second by half a length; Prince Klamath, 104 [Washburn], 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:53. Pirate Chief, Thiers L., Kirkover, and King Bird finished as named.

Fifth race, 4-year-olds, selling, 5 furlongs—Grampian, 107 pounds [R. King], 2 to 1, won by two lengths; Moderate, 107 [Washburn], 3 to 1, second by half a length; Headlight, 110 [Neary], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:03½. Andrew D., Criterion, and Reynard also ran.

Sixth race, 3-year-olds and upward, selling, 6½ furlongs—Home Run, 106 pounds [Congdon], 8 to 1, won by a length; Clansman, 101 [Duffy], 16 to 5, second by two lengths; Tim Flynn, 106 [Baxter], 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:26. Needmore and Archbishop also ran. Ontario fell.

St. Asaph entries for Wednesday are:

First race, maidens, all ages, 5 furlongs—Belden, 105 pounds; Trojan, 105; George F., 105; Captain Bab, 102; Parthian, 102; Cody, 102; Chillie, 102; Chink, 102; Kenneth, 102; Ambrose, 102; MacHunt, 102; Pomona Belle, 100.

Second race, 3-year-olds and upward, selling, 6½ furlongs—Andrew D., 104 pounds; Carracas, 101; Selah, 101; Dashing Charlie, 101; Kenyon, 101; Leporello, 92; The Snake, 90; Cashmere, 90.

Third race, 3-year-olds, selling, 7 furlongs—Caroven, 113 pounds; Tralee, 113; Annie T., 111; White Cockade, 110; Siberia, 105; Levina, 105; imp. Velvet Rose, 105.

Fourth race, 4-year-olds and upward, selling, 4½ furlongs—Oporto, 100 pounds; Postal, 100; Needmore, 100; Home Run, 100; Bonneville, 97; Jubal, 97; Sentinel, 97; Governor Fifer, 97; Repetition, 97.

Fifth race, 3-year olds and upward, selling, 6½ furlongs—Traitor, 112 pounds; Jersey, 109; Eolic, 109; West Park, 107; Camden, 106; Flushing, 104; Foxglove, 104.

Sixth race, 4-year-olds and upward, selling, 4½ furlongs—Beckton, 100 pounds; Devisee, 100; Simaron, 100; Minnesota, 100; Electric Light, 97; Craftsman, 97; Bobby Coleman, 97; May K., 97; Anna Belle, 97.

VOLADORA BREAKS HER BACK.

Death of the Kentucky Oaks Winner—Cattaraugus Laid Up.

Cincinnati, O., May 28.—[Special.]—Voladora, winner of the Kentucky Oaks at Louisville and a prominent candidate for the Latonia Oaks, got out of her stall and ran into an iron post near the club-house. In the fall she broke her back and was shot. She was a bay filly, 3 years old, by Volante, out of imp. Maori, and the property of the Pastime Stable, owned by Nick Finzer, the Louisville tobacco man. Cattaraugus, while taking a morning spin, sustained a badly sprained ankle and will be laid up for a month.

The attendance at Latonia today was 5,500. The track was fairly fast. Jockey Newcom, who won the first three races, was thrown in the fifth race, and the greater part of the field went over him, but he was not dangerously hurt. The summary:

First race, ¾ mile—Porthos, 105 pounds [Newcom], 12 to 1, won; Han Ban, 102 [Foster], 15 to 1, second; Elsket, 100 [J. Perkins], 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:16¾. FARADAY HAS AN EASY THING OF IT.

He Has Only Linda to Beat—Worked the Club Members' Handicap Distance.

St. Louis, Mo., May 28.—[Special.]—Faraday had an easy thing of it in the mile race at the fair grounds. He had only Linda to beat, and he did it with his head swinging in 1:42¼. He was then worked out the extra quarter for the Club Members' Handicap next Saturday. The move was something of a surprise. Several watches caught the time, but it varied from 2:08¾ to 2:12. The latter is nearer correct, as the last eighth was run in 14 seconds. He won his race in impressive style, but the work-out was not so pleasing. With Clifford, Libertine, Lamplighter, Henry Young, and Dorian as certain starters, he will have his work cut for him to win the rich prize. Bill McGuiggan cut loose a good thing in the last race, a 5-furlong dash for 2-year-olds. Pearson was a 6 to 5 favorite, but Star Beam smothered him in the stretch and won in a gallop by three lengths. William Mulkey's Couronne d'Or, a half sister to the famous old Virge d'Or, had only a gallop to win the first. Philleta, favorite in the second race, off badly, was pocketed, got through in the stretch, and won cleverly by a neck from Leaseman. A. B. Spreckels' California crack Gallant disposed of Magnet and Trenton in the easiest possible style in a ¾-dash in 1:14, the track record. The performance was a notable one, and this son of Fellow Charm and Jennie Belshaw looks able to give the best 3-year-olds in the country an argument. In receipt of seven pounds he beat Lissak on the coast. The summary:

First race, 7¼ furlongs—Couronne d'Or, 107 pounds [Garner], 6 to 5, won; Miss Norma, 95 [Schorr], 9 to 5, second; Shining Belle, 107 [Ross], 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:38. La Pavan and Nancy Gary also ran.

Second race, 5 furlongs, selling—Philetta, 102 pounds [Turner], 8 to 5, won; Leaseman, 106 [C. Slaughter], 30 to 1, second; Lon Jones, 104 [C. Hueston], 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:03. William Duke Jr., Betty Hill, Little Bramble, Bombard, All Right, Peanuts, and Willmah G. also ran.

Third race, 1⅜ miles, selling—Royal Prince, 107 pounds [Turner], 4 to 1, won; King Mac, 111 [F. Carr], 4 to 5, second; My Partner, 111 [C. Sloan], 30 to 1, third. Time, 2:26½. Princess Rose, Williston, Excelsior, Little George, and Rapidan also ran.

Fourth race, ¾ mile—Gallant, 110 pounds [F. Carr], 6 to 1, won; Magnet, 112 [Bunn], 4 to 1, second; Trenton, 110 [C. Sloan], 6 to 5, third. Time, 1:14. Metropolis, Ashland, and Miniver also ran. Dony left at the post.

Fifth race, 1 mile—Faraday, 116 pounds [Turner], 2 to 5, won in a gallop; Linda, 107 [Garner], 2 to 1, second; Miss Clark, 104 [Scherer], 200 to 1, third. Time, 1:42¼. Nellie K., Aunt Susie, Fairmont, Blue and White, and Politax also ran.

Sixth race, 5 furlongs, selling—Starbeam, 97 pounds [Macklin], 10 to 1, won; Pearson, 108 [F. Carr], 6 to 5, second; Topsy, 105 [J. Reagan], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:03½. Mrs. S., Lucille L., Peep o' Day, Virgo, Tom D., Aspasa, and A. B. C. also ran.

St. Louis entries for Wednesday are:

First race, ¾ mile—Geraldine, 105 pounds; Imilda, 105; Semele, 105; Sewing Girl, 105; Josie D., 105; Lottie Mills, 110; Mrs. Bradshaw, 105; Mollie P., 115; Lizetta, 105; Safe Home, 105.

RACING RUINED IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Anti-Gambling Law Makes the Belmont Meeting Uninteresting.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 28.—[Special.]—The anti-betting law recently passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature has ruined the racing industry at Philadelphia. The Belmont Park spring trotting meeting opened here today, and the truth of this statement was verified. A small crowd of people, most of them members, was in attendance, presumably out of curiosity, and every one of them went away disgusted. The new law was rigidly observed, there being no device of any kind set up for gambling purposes, and the whole afternoon's entertainment was absolutely without life. Sometimes the horses made a close finish, but nobody cheered. There were only two events on the program, and large fields started in both of them. Falkland outclassed his competitors in speed in the 2:24 class and won handily. Maggie Campbell managed to get on even terms with him in the homestretch of the second heat, and Falkland showed himself a poor fighter. The 2:32 trot went to King Albert, who won such a good race at Baltimore two weeks ago. The summary:

2:24 class, trotting, purse $500:

Among the awards were the following: Class 29, horses in harness, double teams, first prize, The Judge and the Laird, owned by John Bratton, Englewood, Ill.

Croker to Have a Racing Stud in Ireland.

London, May 28.—Richard Croker visits Ireland next week to complete negotiations for the lease of an estate in County Limerick. It is his purpose to establish one of the largest racing studs in Ireland.

THREE IN CUSTODY.

CONDON, M'INERNEY, AND BLUMENTHAL ARRESTED.

They Are Taken to Hobart, Ind., Where the Trial Was in Progress at Midnight—Charged with Gambling as Bookmakers—Detectives Arrested for Purchasing Tickets—Devereaux of the Mooney & Boland Agency Is One Who Is Taken—Yesterday's Races.

Three warrants were served at Roby yesterday, the defendants were taken to Hobart, Ind., and as fast as one detective swore he had purchased a ticket he was placed under arrest as a party to the gambling transaction. At midnight the trials were in full progress and complications were constantly appearing.

Those against whom the warrants were directed were John Condon, Mike McInerney, and Max Blumenthal. They were quietly arrested at Roby yesterday by Officers Eugene E. Lawson, F. Marr, James O'Donnell, an ex-detective, and Nicholas Devereaux of the Mooney & Boland Detective Agency. The prisoners were taken to Hobart, Ind., which place was reached a 7 p. m., and before Justice B. J. Kelly. The State was represented by Attorney D. E. Kelly of Valparaiso and Assistant Prosecutor Conroy, while Attorney A. F. Knott appeared for the defendants. Eugene Lawson of Indianapolis is chief complainant in the case.

The defendants asked for a change of venue to Justice John Matthews, which was granted. The Justice then ascertained that no witnesses had been summoned and dismissed those under arrest. More affidavits were prepared and the men rearrested. They were again discharged, when the prosecution filed still further affidavits and for the third time the three defendants were placed in custody.

The hearing was then proceeded with. Detective Devereaux swore that he had purchased a ticket of Blumenthal on Fuller at 10 to 1. At this Attorney Knott swore out a warrant for Devereaux, as the Indiana law holds both buyer and seller guilty. The report also came in that Devereaux first swore he lived in Valparaiso and later that his home was on the North Side in Chicago. As fast as a witness swore he had purchased a bookmaker's ticket he was arrested, and at midnight the trial was still in progress, with a prospect of lasting until morning.

How Yesterday's Races Were Run.

Four winners out of the five were favorites. Glenoid in the first race, with a field of fifteen, came under the wire first with the favorite, Teeta May, scoring eleventh place. Nine horses started in the second race with Barguard leading. At the half Dominico, the favorite, was in the lead with Barguard a length behind. Dominico maintained the lead to the wire, and Barguard finished second one length in the rear, with Little Billy two lengths behind. In the third race the horses got a fair start, and the favorite, Mede, won in a canter, Weaverman coming second and Kingsclere third. The fourth race was a handicap and a good field came to the post. Mordotte got away ahead of the field and led until the three-quarter post was reached, but was overtaken by Kimberly, who led into the stretch, but was unable to hold his lead, Florence P. coming to the front and beating him by a head. In the last race ten horses came to the post. They got a good start and Ceasar led the bunch to the stretch, where the favorite, Spendoline, came to the front, closely flanked by Mopsy, and finished first.

ROBY CASE ADVANCED TO JUNE 7.

Indiana Supreme Court Grants the Request of Gov. Matthews.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—[Special.]—On petition of Gov. Matthews and application of Attorney-General Ketcham the Supreme Court today named June 7 as the day on which oral argument in the appealed Roby case can be heard. This will make it possible for a decision next month by the Supreme Court. There is no intimation as to which side will gain by this move. It simply means that all doubt of the right to hold continuous races at Roby will be decided sooner. At the Governor's office there is no information concerning the movement to have Roby raided by deputies tomorrow. A local detective agency, however, sent a carload of special officers to Roby tonight to assist the officers there.

First race, 6½ furlongs, selling—Prince Devine, 86 pounds [Jones], 9 to 5, won; Minnie Beech, 107 [Hennessy], 10 to 1, second; Edna M., 89 [Shepard], 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:24¼. Prince Idle, Connaught, Red Wing, and Queen of Scots also ran.

Second race, 7½ furlongs, selling—Fly, 103 pounds [Jones], 4 to 1, won; Soledad, 108 [Weber], 20 to 1, second; Grand Lady, 103 [Peters], 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:08¾. Vulcan, Carmel, Red Will, Venus, Tom Clark, Tobey, and Linville also ran.

Third race, about ¾ mile, selling—Heartsease, 85 pounds [Jones], 5 to 2, won; Gypsette gelding, 81 [Ward], 6 to 1, second; Nellie G., 119 [Weber], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:14½. McFarlane, Mamie Scott, and Eventide also ran.

Fourth race, ¾ mile, selling—Myron, 92 pounds [Jones], 3 to 1, won; Joe Cotton, 103 [Piggott], 5 to 1, second; Banjo, 106 [Glover], 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:16. Garcia, Comrade, Trixie, Roadrunner, and Duchess of Milpitas also ran.

Fifth race, 1 mile, selling—Commission, 95 pounds [Piggott], 9 to 10, won; Hy Dy, 99 [Riley], 12 to 1, second; Centurion, 95 [Burns], 25 to 1, third. Time, 1:42. Bernardo and Miss Buckley also ran.

War on the Potomac Tracks.

Richmond, Va., May 28.—[Special.]—A committee from the Washington Board of Trade had a conference with Gov. O'Ferrall this evening with reference to gambling and other acts of lawlessness on the Virginia side of the Potomac. A plan was agreed to whereby the Virginia and District of Columbia authorities will work together in breaking up the gambling. The plan is believed to be that the District people shall aid in securing evidence against the gamblers and arrest them wherever they can be caught in the District and Gov. O'Ferrall will extradite them and see to it that they are properly prosecuted.

CORNELL'S CREW OFF FOR ENGLAND.

Thirteen Men, Including Substitutes, Will Make the Trip.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 28.—[Special.]—The Cornell Henley crew, thirteen men, including the substitutes, left Ithaca this noon on a special train via the Lehigh Valley railroad for the American Line steamship City of Paris. The city authorities vied with the students in doing honor to the departing oarsmen. An escort composed of police, artillery, a battalion of infantry, the entire Fire Department of the city, and about 1,400 students accompanied the crew to their train. The Mayor of the city was one of the marshals.

Following is a sketch of the men:

The Captain, R. L. Shape, comes from Milwaukee. He is a senior in architecture, and has rowed for the university and for his class each year since entering.

Ralph B. Hamilton, '96, of Ithaca has been stroking the crew at practice for several weeks. He rowed on his class crew in '93 and last year on the 'varsity.

Tom Hall, a post-graduate in engineering, comes from Washington, Ont. He holds a university fellowship as well as a brilliant athletic record. For the last three years he has been in the 'varsity boat and in 1891 he stroked the freshmen crew that beat Yale. He also played tackle on the football team for two years.

F. M. Matthews of Buffalo is no new hand with the oar. He is one of the editors of this year's Cornellian and is studying law.

E. C. Hager, also of Buffalo, is an old crew man and also an old football player. He is a senior this year in electrical engineering.

George P. Dyer of football fame, who has just won the Woodford prize in oratory, is a resident of Washington, D. C. Like the others, he has rowed ever since he entered Cornell.

T. W. Fennell of Elmira is a law school junior. He has a powerful frame and rows well. His playing at center on last year's football team was considered the best ever seen at Cornell.

E. Spillman is a sophomore, and one of the strongest men on his class crew last year. He comes from Tonawanda.

F. W. Freeborn is another sophomore and a football player. He lives in Ithaca.

M. W. Roe is a junior in electrical engineering, and is from Chester, N. Y. He has rowed ever since he entered the university.

C. A. Lewis is from Brooklyn and is a sophomore in mechanical engineering.

W. Bentley is a freshman of great prominence in rowing.

The statistics of these twelve men are as follows:

	Height.	Age.	Weight.
R. B. Hamilton	5.08¼	20	155
C. A. Louis	5.11	20	161
T. Hall	5.10	25	183
T. W. Fennell	6.00	19	171
F. W. Freeborn	5.11	19	171
E. C. Hager	5.10½	24	170
E. Spillman	5.10	20	161
F. M. Matthews	5.09¾	21	160
R. L. Shape	6.00	23	160
G. P. Dyer	5.11	19	166
M. W. Roe	5.10½	22	167
W. Bentley	5.10¼	18	148
Average	5.10½	20 5-6	164 5-12
F. D. Colson [cox.]	5.06	19	100

Here is Cornell's naval record. Crews were entered at:

Cayuga Lake regatta, June, 1894—Cornell first, Dauntless crew of New York second.

New London regatta, July, 1894—Cornell freshmen first, Columbia second.

MAY EXPECT THUNDER STORMS TODAY.

Various Kinds of Weather in Different Parts of the Country.

It was 88° above zero in the coolest shade that could be found in Chicago yesterday. One hot day this month the mercury reached 90°, and that was the hottest day for twenty-one years. Yesterday was as hot as any day in the same period with the sole exception named. The wind which had no refreshing touch in its breath came hot from the plains of Kansas and Nebraska, where the mercury soared to 98° in the shade. With these conditions prevailing there, up in Northern Montana there was a snow-storm and the thermometer stood at 34°. Just over the line, in the British Possessions, water froze. A little rain fell at Sioux City. Kansas and Nebraska were the hottest places in the country. To the far South fairly cool weather was the rule. The wind in Chicago reached a gait of forty-two miles an hour.

It will be hot today also, with a slight decrease in the force of the wind. The conditions are good for local thunder-storms, and if they will gather and break there will be relief. In another day or two some coolness may be got out of the Northwest, but it is not by any means a certainty.

Lincoln, Neb., May 28.—[Special.]—Nebraska has been swept for the last two days by terrific hot winds from the south. The ground is parching, completing the loss of small grain begun by the frosts. Fruit is blown from the trees and will not net half a crop. Corn is said to be all right yet in the State. The wind is raging with increased fury tonight, reaching forty to forty-five miles an hour.

St. Joseph, Mo., May 28.—[Special.]—Hot winds have been blowing here at a terrific rate for two days and as a result crops have been badly damaged and in some places entirely destroyed. The thermometer registered 95°. Reports at railway offices from Kansas and Nebraska indicate great damage to all crops in those States. In many places crops are destroyed.

Topeka, Kas., May 28.—[Special.]—For two days a strong wind has been blowing over Kansas, at times having the speed almost of a hurricane. Today the thermometer registered 94°. In the western and southern parts of the State the hot wind is doing great damage to crops. Fruit is being blown from the trees.

Bloomington, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—A scorching wind has been blowing from the south all day, amounting at times almost to a gale, and carrying with it blinding clouds of dust. The pastures are drying up fast, and, unless rain comes soon, will not furnish sufficient food for stock. The frost killed nearly the entire crop of growing wheat in this vicinity. Thousands of acres are already plowed up and replanted this time in corn.

Marshalltown, Ia., May 28.—A fierce south wind, dry and hot, has prevailed in this section forty hours, increasing in intensity today.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 28.—[Special.]—The mercury touched 95° this afternoon, making it the hottest day of the year here.

THE STORY OF THE LIVER.

This is one of the most interesting articles in Harper's Monthly Magazine for May, written by Dr. Andrew Wilson. The wonder is that such an interesting article could be written upon a subject considered by most people dull and uninteresting. But the fact that such an article is published in Harper's Magazine is sufficient guarantee to the reader that it is worth reading. And why not? There can be nothing more vital to correct living than an intimate knowledge of the functions of the liver, and how its actions govern the health and condition of the whole body. As one reads this "Story of the Liver" one wonders that people do not go down to the root of the matter and learn that all ailments of the body are to be attributed directly to a torpid or diseased condition of the liver. When the people wake up to a knowledge of this fact, and give attention to the liver, then we shall see a more healthy and rugged race. The bane of many a life today is the constant suffering with either Biliousness, Sick Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and kindred trouble, all the result of a torpid or diseased condition of the liver. So destructive are these conditions that life becomes a burden, the nervous system is rasped, and life is a constant misery, when one may well ask, "Is life worth living?" The answer usually is "No." But we would say "Yes," if you take

THE KING of LIVER MEDICINES
SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

For more than sixty years this medicine has been the household remedy for millions of people from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, and in other countries. It is purely vegetable, absolutely without Quinine or Calomel, and is Better than Pills. We cite a few friends who have tried Simmons' Liver Regulator. Read what they say:

A High Compliment.

Bolton, Conn.—"I am very much pleased with the effect of your Simmons Liver Regulator, and have recommended it to a good many friends."—E. A. ROSE.

A Happy Husband.

Delaware, Ohio.—"After four months' use of Simmons' Liver Regulator my wife is almost entirely relieved of Chronic Constipation and Bleeding Piles."—W. R. LEEPER.

A Good Recommendation.

Lafayette, Ind.—"A Mrs. Jas. Fay, living near this city, has been cured by the use of Simmons' Liver Regulator after five or six of the best physicians had pronounced the case hopeless."—ALBERT A. WELLS.

Work Well Done.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"I have suffered with Dyspepsia and Disordered Liver, and would frequently throw up bile. I procured a bottle of Simmons' Liver Regulator, and after using half of it was completely cured. One of my lady customers told me the other day that Simmons' Liver Regulator completely cured her of sick headache."—D. OLDS.

Thursday Until 1.

Memorial Day, Thursday, May 30, we will close out 250 Men's Suits, worth $10, $12, and $15, at about one-fourth their actual value:

$3.00 for Choice of Suits.

It is easy to save dollars if you only know when and where and how. If you do not need a ten, twelve, or fifteen dollar suit for $3.00, you have friends who would be grateful for the information. Tell it to them. This is a timely tip and a good thing. Push it along. The suits are fashionably made up. Large variety of patterns, sizes 34 to 44. There are black cheviots among them, brown pin check shamrock cheviots, Canadian homespuns, blue-gray striped cassimeres, double-breasted fancy Scotch cheviots, and every suit is positively all wool. Not more than two suits will be sold to one person at this price.

This sale will be an eye-opener. Nothing equal to it has ever before been known in the clothing trade in Chicago. At 1 o'clock sharp the store closes, and all latecomers will be locked out. It is Memorial Day and we close for the afternoon. All suits in the lot remaining unsold at 1 o'clock Thursday will be sent as a donation to the Marine Hospital, and you cannot get them after that hour at any price.

THEY GIVE FOUL MEAT

CONTRACTORS FURNISHING THE COUNTY TAINTED STUFF.

Out of 3,100 Pounds Delivered Yesterday 759 Is Waste and the Whole Unfit to Eat—President Healy Proposes an Even Division of Patronage—Clerk Davis of the Health Board Said to Have Sold Scavenger Permits—News of City and County Offices.

Tainted, gristly meat is what the County Hospital and Dunning institutions have been receiving lately. Not only has the meat been such that it could not be eaten, but many pounds of waste has been furnished to these institutions by the contractors, and the county has paid for it.

Yesterday morning the meat sent out to the County Hospital for the sick patients and for the inmates at the Poor-House and Insane Asylum was more than the Superintendent and Wardea could endure. Out of the regular allowance of 3,100 pounds of meat 759 was wasted and utterly useless, not even fit for soup, and the whole was so tainted that the odor permeated the entire lower floor of the building. The inspector was sent for and but a glance was needed for him to declare it unfit for use, and the contractor was immediately ordered to remove it as condemned.

The inspector then notified President Healy of the County Board of the meat that had been sent out for the use of the county, and the Superintendent of Public Service immediately wrote letters to the two meat contractors, William Keck and Bernard Honig, informing them that the specifications regarding meat were not being carried out. The following letter was addressed to Contractor Keck:

Dear Sir: I am informed that the meat you deliver does not come up to the specifications in several particulars. When carcass beef is ordered you are expected to deliver fore and hind quarters from the same beef, and deliver as many hind quarters as you do fore quarters. If there are any more irregularities in your deliveries I shall recommend the cancellation of your contract and make purchases in the open market, looking to you and your bondsmen for any loss to the county. Yours respectfully

T. N. JAMIESON,
Superintendent of Public Service.

A similar letter was also sent to Honig, by whom the meat was furnished that had contained the 759 pounds of waste.

President Healy was not content with these letters and addressed one to the butcher at Dunning, giving that official to understand that unless he made the contractors furnish meat up to the specifications he would be removed instantly. President Healy has also been informed that between the time the meat is weighed in the store-room and the time it is weighed again by the butcher there is a shortage. What becomes of it he has failed to discover, but, he says, he will before he has finished with it.

TO DIVIDE THE COUNTY PATRONAGE.

Each Commissioner to Be Allotted the Sum of $1,400 a Month.

President Healy of the County Board yesterday at the meeting of the Public Service committee presented each Commissioner with a list of the amount of patronage charged to the member. President Healy has discovered that each Commissioner is entitled to $1,400 a month as his share of the patronage. The list handed the Commissioners shows that several receive far in excess of this. Among those who have an overdraft are Commissioners Burmeister, Cunning, Jones, Kunstman McNichols, and the President, who is $71 in excess. The others range several hundred a month over that allowed by the equal division. Commissioner McNichols, according to the list, has $1,955 a month, $555 more than the limit. Commissioner Kunstman has $1,857, while Commissioners Burmeister, Cunning, and Jones each have $1,777, $1,734, and $1,718. The others have, from Unold with $615 a month up to Commissioner Linn with $1,190. There is charged to the Warden of the hospital $855 worth of employés, and to the Superintendent of the Dunning institution $1,582. President Healy has informed the members of the board that they are immediately to select from the list patronage to the amount of $1,400. Those who have more than this amount must name the employés whom they reject, which names will be placed in a hat. Along with these rejected names will be placed those of the employés charged to the Warden and Superintendent, and the Commissioners who are under the allowed amount will be permitted to draw a name from the hat.

DAVIS SAID TO HAVE SOLD PERMITS.

Chief Clerk of Health Department May Have to Walk the Plank.

Evidence of a documentary nature was brought to the attention of the Mayor yesterday that Clerk Davis of the Health Department has been selling permits to scavengers to remove night soil. It is alleged that Davis charged 10 cents for each permit, and the Mayor said yesterday that one man had turned up who purchased 100 at one clip. It has been suspected for some time that some such practice had been carried on by some clerk in the department. It is said that some one connected with the department made it a practice to notify residents in certain sections of the city that they must have their vaults cleaned. An hour or two later a man would follow the inspector over the route and say he represented a city scavenger and would make contracts for the work. The men then divided with the scavenger, and it is alleged men connected with the Health Office have made a large amount of money in this way. Mayor Swift offered Davis' position to another man, but singularly enough he had refused it. The Mayor said it was not probable that Mr. Davis would long be retained in the employ of the city.

MAYOR SWIFT IS NOT PREJUDICED.

Has No Opinion Regarding Calumet and Blue Island Ordinance.

Mayor Swift said yesterday, in speaking of the Calumet and Blue Island railroad company's ordinance now pending in the Council, that he was in no way prejudiced regarding the matter, and that he had not formed an opinion as to whether the measure should or should not become a law. He said:

The valid objection to the ordinance seems to me to be the question of riparian rights that is apparently involved. The amendment of Ald. Judah to limit the life of the measure to twenty years, I think, was also a good point, but we all know what a twenty-year franchise means. Practically at the end of that time a renewal will be granted. I had arranged with Commissioner of Public Works Kent and Corporation Counsel Beale in the event that the ordinance was passed last night to go to South Chicago today and look over the ground and territory that it is proposed to give to the railway company. The entire matter seems to hinge on the question of giving away the lake-front at that point beyond a possible redemption of the same land for park purposes, together with the riparian rights.

Women Desire Representation.

The terms of six members of the Board of Education will expire July 1 and the selection of their successors has already been brought to the attention of the Mayor. The Mayor yesterday received a delegation from the Woman's club, composed as follows: Miss Ada Sweet, Mrs. R. M. Willmarth, Mrs. William Penn Nixon, Mrs. R. W. McMahon, Mrs. R. C. McClaughry, Mrs. James R. Mann, and Mrs. J. R. Putnam. The President, Miss Ada Sweet, said the club desired specially that their sex be given representation on the Board of Education and submitted the names of four women and three men whom the club had indorsed. The candidates thus presented were taken under advisement by the Mayor.

Will Investigate South Side Cribs.

This morning a party of city officials will investigate the South Side water cribs, with particular attention to the two-mile crib at Sixty-eighth street, which it is proposed to protect by a new breakwater. The party will include Mayor Swift, Commissioner of Public Works Kent, City Engineer Artingstall, the members of the Finance committee, and members of the Council. The first stop will be made at the four-mile crib, after which the party will proceed to the Sixty-eighth street crib, it being the desire of Commissioner Kent to show the difference in the present condition of the two structures.

Expert Witnesses Get Big Pay.

Commissioner of Public Works Kent, who is looking into special assessment matters with the view of seeing what can be done to reduce the expense to the property-owner, has discovered that last year $15,902 was paid to expert witnesses. The witnesses were employed in spreading assessments, and were paid for opinions as to the extent the property was benefited. James H. Daly during the year received fees amounting to $3,140, and Carl Miller $3,105. The Commissioner also held a conference with Judge Carter and Col. John D. Adair, attorney for the special assessment bureau, yesterday in an effort to expedite the court matters pertaining to the work of the special assessment bureau and to allow some of the public works to proceed. Judge Carter agreed to do all in his power to hurry the matter along.

Municipal Briefs.

Judge Tuley did not yesterday hear the injunction proceedings commenced by the Chicago General Street railway company against the Chicago City railway company. He agreed to hear the case fully and finally June 18.

The Marcus Poiasky elevated railway ordinance for the North Side, which has been referred to Corporation Counsel Beale for an opinion, may be approved by that official. It makes the City of Chicago full partner with the private corporation proposing to build the road and provides for the ultimate ownership of the road by the city.

Ald. Martin and Stuckart, with a delegation of property-owners from the neighborhood of Thirty-first street and Pitney avenue, called on Commissioner of Public Works Kent yesterday to protest against the erection of a gas plant at a point between Pitney avenue and the south branch of the river in the middle of Thirty-first street by the Universal Gas company. The delegation was heard by Commissioner Kent, who took the matter under advisement.

PRAISE FOR WOMEN JOURNALISTS.

Chicago Editors Address the Press League —Words of Encouragement and Advice.

The final function of the Chicago Press League for the season was a luncheon given yesterday at the Auditorium, with Chicago editors as guests. Fully seventy-five journalists were present. The newly elected President, Mrs. Martha Howe Davidson, presided over the toasts, first introducing Joseph Medill, who referred to the United States as the only nation in the world to give woman a fair chance to develop her abilities.

"Other countries," he said, "have marked out a narrow environment, bound by the four walls of the domicile. When woman is found outside these limits she is, to use a slang phrase, 'off her reservation.'"

After reference to the increased educational advantages of woman Mr. Medill, in conclusion, gave encouragement to the newspaper woman, whose work, to be acceptable, must be as good or better than that of her competitors of the opposite sex.

After regrets were read from Dr. Frank Gunsaulus, Eugene Field, William Penn Nixon, and H. W. Seymour, a toast was given by W. K. Sullivan in which he paid tribute to Mr. Medill. To his mind the newspapers of this city are the best to be found. The speech ended with his first amusing experience with a young girl, a beginner in newspaper work, whose first assignment was a wedding. The report was a detailed description of the bridegroom, with but slight allusion to the usual features.

Harry G. Selfridge told how the Committee on Street Cleaning proposed to fulfill its plans, ending with an interesting after dinner story. Mrs. Marion Foster Washburne followed with clever reference to the modern newspaper. She thinks the newspaper of the day is a sure cure for vanity, particularly when it prints one's picture. In the newspaper she saw an opportunity to become famous, for if one would only recommend the pills of some so-called doctor he would be sure to have his photograph and accompanying testimonial scattered broadcast.

A characteristic darky story by Opie Read was followed by the opinion of William H. Busbey on the newspaper woman. The new beginner, Mr. Busbey maintained, had a great deal of sentiment and expected a sort of deference from newspaper men. She did not understand the exigencies of the profession. The fact is, woman must almost forget she is a woman when she enters the sanctum. In her entrée, however, was added a new force. Until that time something was lacking in journalism.

Dr. Jan Da Ram of India, Secretary of the London Society for the Education of Hindoo Women, told of the oppression suffered by the women of his country, declaring "man's cause to be woman's cause." The last toast was given by Miss Mary Hannah Krout, who paid a tribute to Horace Greeley as the greet representative of the newspaper of yesterday. In concusion Miss Krout bore testimony to the kindness, courage, and faithfulness of newspaper women in Chicago. The final feature was the singing of the national air.

Among those present were H. H. Kohlsaat, Dr. Pratt of Boston, Mrs. Harriet Monroe of Philadelphia, Miss Ada C. Sweet, Mrs. Agnes Barker, Miss Adelaide Ide, Mrs. Canute R. Matson, Mrs. George Huddleston, Miss Mary Urquhart Lee, Mrs. Marion Martin, Mrs. Teresa Dean Tallman, Miss Eve Brodlique, and Mrs. Isabel O'Keefe.

Interest attaches to an organization of young girls known as the Armour Drill Corps, connected with the Armour Mission. From time to time during the winter months they give an exhibition drill to secure the wherewithal for a summer outing in the woods of Wisconsin. Last summer a week was spent at Lake Beulah, and an effort is being made to extend the outing to two weeks this year, inasmuch as this bit of camp life is the only opportunity many of them, whose homes are in the poorer districts surrounding the Armour Mission, have to enjoy the country. To this end a musicale and exhibition drill will be given at Armour Mission the evenings of June 6 and 7 for the benefit of this annual encampment fund. The assisting musicians include Mrs. Genevra Johnstone Bishop, Miss Caroline E. Baenziger, Mr. Goodwal Dickerman, and the Armour Orchestra.

California Women Who Want to Vote.

San Francisco, Cal., May 28.—The California Suffrage Constitutional Amendment Association was formed today. Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper was elected President. The object of the association is to secure an amendment to the Constitution of the State permitting women to vote.

Of Interest to Women.

The Woman's Guild of St. Luke's Church will hold an all-day session today.

The Cook County Equal Suffrage Association indulged in its annual picnic at Edgewater yesterday.

The final settlement of the color question in the Chicago Woman's club will be made today at the third section of the annual meeting.

The National Household Economic Association will hold its regular monthly meeting May 29, 1895, 10 a. m., at Athenæum Hall, 26 Van Buren street.

The annual meeting of the Federal Suffrage Association of the United States, of which M. B. Castle of Sandwich, Ill., is President, will be held at the Sherman House today.

Mrs. J. N. Crouse of this city, as President of the Woman's Baptist Home Missionary Society, delivered the annual address at the eighteenth convention held yesterday in New York.

Debs Ready to Go Back to Jail.

Eugene V. Debs called on United States Marshal Arnold to deliver himself into custody yesterday. The Marshal told him he did not expect the mandate from Washington for a week or more. Mr. Debs gave the Marshal his itinerary through Minnesota and North Dakota for the next ten days. "I have written to the others who are out of the city," said Mr. Debs. "It is our purpose to come in a body to surrender and go back to the Woodstock jail."

DABBLING IN WORDS.

SCIENTISTS USE TERMS THAT ARE NOT TAKEN LITERALLY.

Delegates Are Thrilled at the Papers Read and Applaud Wildly While Other Persons Can Attach No Meaning Whatever to the Expressions That Are Handled—One Man Uses Queer Arguments to Prove There Is No Matter, but Only Mind—Cyclones Produced in a New Way.

The International Congress of Scientists at the First Methodist Church seems to be composed of persons who have an ungovernable passion for metaphysical and abstract reasoning. Hardly a word they use can be taken in a literal sense, and though the delegates are often thrilled, and break out into applause when the papers are read, other people can attach no meaning whatever to what has been said. It is all about "the objective," "the subjective," "the harmony,"

C. L. CRAMER, CHAIRMAN.

"the inharmony," "the unity," and everything that is mental, imaginary, and intangible.

"Are you faith-healers?" one asks, and they answer "No." "Are you idealists?" and again they answer "No." "Are you pantheists?" "O, my, no." "Are you stoics?" "Not at all." "Are you spiritualists?" "Heavens! No." But an unsophisticated person who listens to their papers is likely to reach the conclusion they are all of these. They all teach that the physical world is entirely controlled by people's states of mind, and some of them account for this by saying there is no matter, but only mind. The best illustrations of this are furnished by some of the short speeches of Dr. D. S. Sullivan of St. Louis.

Flowers Live and Die.

Dr. Sullivan said his wife had an immense flower garden, and once when she went away and left it to him the flowers all died. He told her it was because he "never loved a tree or flower, but 'twas the first to fade and die." She went away again, and though he made an extra effort to save the flowers they all died. He then discovered that they died because of the despondent attitude of his mind. He then made up his mind to love the flowers, and since then they never die when he tends them. Not long since he was called to attend a woman who had swallowed poison, and he found she was dying, simply because she expected to die. So he suppressed all signs of mourning and told her Christ had promised that she should swallow poison and not be hurt. The result was the woman recovered; and it was only "swallowing her own wrong thoughts" that was killing her anyway. Finally, after Miss Carrie C. Darling's paper on "Cyclones from a Mental Standpoint" had been read and was being discussed, Dr. Sullivan explained that cyclones were entirely due to the "inharmonious thoughts" of the people when they occurred.

Miss Darling's paper was the first one read yesterday morning, and after it came R. C. Douglas' paper on "The Great Demonstration" Mrs. Fannie M. Harley's on "The Gospel of Cheerfulness," and Mrs. Addie Melette's on "O, the Gladness of It."

The Papers Read.

The proceedings of the afternoon were called a "Mothers' Session of Practical Suggestion." The papers in the evening were as follows: "Unity," by Mrs. Scott Saxton of Denver; "The Soul," by Miss Emma Soloman, Battle Creek, Mich.; "What Is Man?" by Henry Wood of Roxbury, Mass.; and "How Shall We Make the Best of Ourselves?" by Mrs. Ursula N. Gestefeld of New York.

The program of papers for today is as follows:

Morning session—10 a. m.—"Individuality," Mary E. Butters, St. Peters, Minn.; "Job," the Rev. D. L. Sullivan, St. Louis; "Love," Mary E. Ash, Terre Haute, Ind.; "Prayer," Esther Marion, Chicago.

Afternoon session—2:30 p. m.—"Ægis of Liberty," Mrs. J. Barton, Kansas City, Mo.; "Association, the Fulfilling of the Law," C. L. Cramer, San Francisco; "The Science of Life," Frank E. Mason, Brooklyn, N. Y.; "Christian Science Health Building," Clara Elizabeth Choate, Boston.

Evening session—7:30 p. m.—"From Chaldea to Calvary," Mrs. Amanda Kerr Lewis, Denver; "Das Wort," H. H. Schroeder, St. Louis; "Overcoming," Estella Nichols, Waterloo, Ia.; "God in the Flesh as Seen Through the Collateral Science of Medicine," Dr. James Porter Mills, Chicago.
